"Once in the flight of ages past,
There lived a man ; and who was he ?
Mortal ! howe'er thy lot be cast
That man resembled thee.

He suffered—but his pangs are o'er ;
Enjoyed—but his delights are fled ;
Had friends—his friends are now no more ;
And foes—his foes are dead.

He saw whatever thou hast seen ;
Encountered all that troubles thee ;
He was—whatever thou hast been ;
He is—what thou shalt be.

The annals of the human race,
Their ruins since the world began,
Of him afford no other trace
Than this—there lived a man !"

EXPLANATION.

The usual contractions, such as b. for born, d. for died, m. for married and r. for resides, residence or resided, have been used in this work. Where the * follows a prime number the name follows in the family numbers. This system makes it very easy to trace a line either forward or backward without reference to the index.

PREFACE.

To The Kindred:

The desire for some knowledge of those who have gone before us is almost universal among civilized people.

A certain amount of veneration of ancestors exists even among savage tribes.

The record of a line of honorable and upright ancestry is the best gift we can leave to posterity.

To many thinking people a work of this kind is far more satisfactory as a memorial of those who have gone before us than many costly shafts of granite or marble to mark the last resting place of the bodies of the dear departed ones.

The task of collecting and arranging a family memorial is a work of love. It is an arduous task if faithfully performed and one for which there is no hope of financial reward. The work of collecting and arranging the material for this volume was performed under almost unsurmountable difficulties, and under very discouraging circumstances, in the midst of a busy life and covering a period of more than ten years. During this entire period it has been necessary for the compiler to attend to other duties during business hours to maintain his family, and but for the assistance of others who felt equally interested the work would never have been published.

The compiler does not claim perfection. He is aware there are errors in his work. He has striven to make it as accurate as possible and trusts that the kindred will be charitable in their judgment of his faults.

Those who have had no experience in work of this kind can hardly realize the difficulties that have to be overcome or the trials and vexations that must be endured. Much of the present volume was written some years ago while the writer was but a novice at work of this kind, and circumstances were such that it could not be re-written or even thoroughly revised.

In the midst of publication the death angel entered his household and the work was completed in the shadow of a great sorrow.

Hoping and trusting that this volume may prove a source of satisfaction and joy to the kindred, and thanking those who have so kindly rendered assistance, I am

Very Sincerely Yours,

F. S. HAMMOND.

THE NAME AND ITS ORIGIN

AS FOUND IN ANCIENT HISTORY AND MYTHOLOGY

This name, in its many variations, is often met with in ancient history long before surnames were in use, and its possible derivation and meaning may be of interest to some of those who bear it in its more modern form.

It is found written Aman, Amann, Amon, Ammon, Haman, Hamant, Hamont, Hammon, Hammons, Hamond, Hamonde, Hayman, Haymond, and later almost universally as Hammond, although there are still some Amans of French or Norman descent and a few Hamants, Hammons and Haymans of English and Irish origin.

It appears among the very earliest surnames found in England, where it was introduced as a family cognomen at the time of the Conquest by some officers of the invading army.

"Ammon or Hammon—A name given to Jupiter, worshiped in Libya. When Bacchus was conquering Africa, he is said to have come with his army to a spot called, from the vast quantity of sand lying around, by the name of Hammodes. Here his forces were in great danger of perishing from want of water, when a ram appeared on a sudden and guided them to a verdant spot, or oasis, in the midst of the desert. When they reached this place the ram disappeared and they found an abundant supply of water. Bacchus therefore, out of gratitude, erected on the spot a temple to Jupiter, giving him at the same time the surname Ammon, or Hammon, from the Greek sand in allusion to the circumstances connected with his appearance, and the statue of the deity had the head and horns of a ram. The oasis referred to is the Oasis of Ammon, and the fountain is the famous Fons Solis.

The temple of Ammon, like that of Delphi, was famous for its treasures, the varied offerings of the pious. Plutarch says that the name of Ammon is the Egyptian name for Jupiter. This god was particularly worshipped at Thebes, called in the sacred books Hammono, "the possession of Hammon," and in the Septuagint (Ezek. C. 21), the City of Ammon. Jablonski derives the word Ammon from Am-oein —shining. According, however, to Champollion the younger, the term in question (Amon), denoted in the Egyptian language "secret, concealed," or "he who reveals his secret powers." The Greek etymology of the name Ammon is fanciful and visionary, and only affords another proof of the constant habit in which that nation indulged, of referring so many things to themselves with which they had not, in truth, the slightest connection."*

Many other significations are found for the name in ancient history: Amon—faithful, true; Haman—noise, turmoil. Hamon–Gog—the multitude of Gog, &c.

At a later date we find the Roman General, who was among the invaders of Britain and from whom the Port of Southampton derives its name. His feat of valor adds no particular lustre to the name, however.

In the settlement of the estate of Thomas Button, Bishop of Exeter, in the year 1310, is mentioned a lot of "loculi-ponchi and Hamondes," six in number, which were sold. The word is used here in its Saxon, meaning "something which protects and keeps safe."†

The name Hammond as a family name appears in England from the date of the Conquest (1066). It is found with a large variation of spelling, often exhibiting three or more different forms in the same document. The name appears to have been generally spelled Hamond or Hamonde prior to 1700, but is often found written Hamon, Hamont or Hamant in the text of a document, when the signature is Hamond or Hamonde. The same individual does not seem to have always spelled his name in the same fashion, and it is not until some years after the emigration to America that we find anything like uniformity of spelling, even in the same family. After the emigration the large majority of the families of the name adopted the uniform spelling of Hammond, but there are a few who still adhere to the names Hamant, Hamond and Hammon.

"Hammond. Among the many of his own kin who accompanied the Duke of Normandy on his invasion of England were two brothers, sons or grandsons of Hamon Dentatus: Robert Fitz-Hamon, the renowned conqueror of Glamorganshire, and Haimon, called "Dapifer," from his having received the office of Lord Steward for the King. The latter died issueless, and the former left four daughters only, three of whom devoted themselves to conventual lives, and the fourth, Mabel, married Robert Fitzroy, Earl of Gloucester. Hamon Dentatus appears to have had at least two other sons, Richard, of Granville, and Corbeil, ancestor of the Granville family, illustrious in the ranks of the peers and landed proprietors; and Creuquer, as he is styled in the Battle Abbey Roll, who inherited the Barony of Chatham from Robert Fitz-Hamon and many of the Kentish estates of Hamon Dapifer. Creuquer, or Crevecoeur, had his manors erected into a lordship, called by way of distinction, "Baronia-de-Creviquer," and from Chatham being its head, his descendants generally wrote themselves "Domini de Cetham." We find these honors in the reign of Richard I. in possession of Haimon de Crevequer, who died in 1203, leaving Robert Haimon his heir. Haimon joined the confederacy of the Barons under Simon de Montfort against Henry III, and was among those who in consequence lost their estates. From him lineally descended Ralph Heyman, or Hayman, of Sellinge, County Kent, ancestor of the Heymans of Somerfield, extinct Baronets, and Roger Hayman, who, to avoid religious persecution in Queen Mary's reign, fled into Devonshire, where he established a line represented now both in Somersetshire and in Ireland. The present chief of the Irish portion of the family is Matthew Hayman, Esq., of South Abbey, Goughal, a magistrate of Cork."*

"Grenville, Richard, surnamed de Grenville, from one of his lordships, was a younger brother of the renowned conqueror of Glamorganshire, Robert Fitz-Hamon, and derived in direct descent from Rollo the Dane.

"Accompanying his royal kinsmen to England, he fought at Hastings and participated in the spoils of victory. He inherited also the Norman honors of his house, and was Earl of Corbeil and Baron of Thorigny and Granville."†

In the annals of the Conquest no name is more frequently met with than Hamon. The sons of the renowned Norman Lord, Hamon Dentatus, who rebelled against William and overthrew King Henry at Vales-dunes. It may not be out of place to quote briefly from some of the accounts of this, our illustrious Norman ancestor. "In the same company was Hamon, Lord of Thorigny, Lord, too, of the Steep of Crenilly, where a vast fabric of later times has displaced his ancient 'donjon,' and where the adjoining church bears witness to the splendors and bounty of the generation immediately following his own.[2] Some personal peculiarity entitled him to bear, in the language of our Latin chroniclers, one of the most glorious cognomenia of old Rome, and Hamon Dentatus became the forefather of men famous in British as well as in Norman history.[3] One royal chronicler in his zeal speaks of

"William of Malmesbury introduces him, Vol. II, 320, as "Haimo the rebel by the strange name of Antichrist;[4] but as in the case of Thurstan of Falaise, the stain was wiped out in the next generation. His son, Robert Fitz-Hamon, was destined to set the seal to the work of Offa and of Harold, to press down the yoke forever upon the Southern Cymry, and to surround his princely fortress of Cardiff with the lowlier castles of his twelve homagers of the land of Morgannog."

"The expression is very strange, but it is so taken by M. Le Comte (See Appendix O.), and I see not what else it can mean."*

Many pages of Freeman's History of the Norman Conquest are devoted to the exploits of Hamon.

Robert Fitz-Hamon seems to have taken a very active part in proclaiming William King, and the large estates given him were but a fitting reward from his sovereign. In describing the battle which decided the conquest Freeman says, "William now sprang on his horse's back, and now ready for battle, he paused for a moment at the head of his host. His gallant equipment and bearing called forth the admiration of all around him, and a spokesman for their thoughts was found in Hamon, the Viscount of the distant Thowars. He spoke, no doubt, the words of all when he said that never had such a knight been seen under heaven, and that the noble Count would become a noble King."†

In speaking of the Council which proclaimed William King, he says: "The military council was strongly in favor of William's acceptance of the crown, but the decisive answer was given, not by any of William's native subjects, but by one of the most eminent of the foreign volunteers, Hamon, Viscount of Thowars, a man, we are told, as ready of speech as he was valient in fight, had on the height of Telham, been the first to hail the Duke as a future King."‡

Green's Conquest of England also devotes much space to the Hamons. Katherine S. Macquoid, in her "Through Normandy," p. 407, describes the ancient fortress or castle of Hamon in Creully, which is still in existence. She also gives a very entertaining account of the early Lord and his sons.

The name is also found in the far north. In the "Story of the Volsungs," edited by H. H. Sparling, which is translated from the Icelandic, is mentioned in the mythology of the north ; "Hamund," son of Sigmund, son of Volsung, son of Resis, son of Sigi, son of Odin or Wodin.

HAMMONDS IN ENGLAND.

The tracing of early family history and geneology in England is attended with many serious difficulties, owing chiefly to the vandalism of our Puritan ancestors, who in their misguided zeal for the cause of Protestantism destroyed churches, burned records, and sent whole ship loads of valuable papers and documents to the Netherlands to be used in paper making. The few remnants which escaped their fury are mostly collected in the British Museum, and while the amount deposited there seems large to the casual observer, it is but a tithe of what existed throughout England prior to the time of Queen Elizabeth. It is when the family historian and geneologist attempts to follow the line of his ancestry back beyond this period that he begins to realize the great dearth of records, unless his ancestors have been numbered among the nobility, when some records of them may be found in the Herald's College. Even if such be the case, he may still find great difficulty in making all of the connections, and finally be obliged to give up the attempt, or frame a record from patchwork, supported by small items of circumstantial evidence, and such records of wills, administrations and court records as may be found. The oldest parish registers, with few exceptions, now in existence, do not date back beyond the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and but few of the records to be found in any of the parishes or manors of England are of an earlier date. Comparatively little worthy of attention prior to this time is found outside of the British Museum. With this situation confronting the would-be family historian and geneologist, he must needs gather from the fragments such stray items as he can find, and arrange them in as orderly a manner as possible for those who shall come after him. But a disconnected and fragmentary record of the Hammonds can be found from the time of the Conquest down to the time of Henry VIII. There were a few notables in the family who have left some trace behind them, but it would be the work of an ordinary lifetime to collect and arrange the little that remains. The earliest known seat of the family seems to have been in the County of Norfolk, and from there they seem to have spread over Suffolk, Essex, Yorkshire and other counties. Hamon de Cleme was lord of a manor in Norfolk, which was invaded by a band of men, who seized the corn and threshed it, and cut down timber and carried it away in the year 1270.*

The earliest record of the name of Hammond which is known to exist in Suffolk is the following indenture given on p. 296 of the History of Long Melford, by the late Sir Wm. Parker, Bart.

"4. Ed. III.

" We, Alexander le Turner, of Melford, and Johane, his wife, have granted to Adam Grencleve all rights and possession of half an acre of arable (land) in Melford, lying between the land of John Cole and Adam Scoyle, one head abutting on land of John de Melford, and the other on the " way " leading to the house of John Hog, and the aforesaid half acre of arable lies between pasture formerly of John Fairhead and the land of the Rector of Melford."

(Oct. 9, 1331.)

For the next three centuries the Hammonds continued to increase and spread all over this section of Suffolkshire, until there were many hundreds of the name living within a radius of ten miles around Melford.

Thomas Hammond was Lord of the Manor of Cresseners, County Suffolk, from 1561 to 1586. His wife was Anne, daughter of John Cawston, Esq., of Hawkedon. (In his will Feb. 8, 1560, he spells the name Caustone.) He died in 1586, and was succeeded by his son, Thomas Hammond.

He was the Thomas Hamonde who was witness to the will of Christopher Browne, of Hawkedon, in 1568. (Bond's Hist. Watertown, p. x 120.)

John Hammond, of Ubbeston, County Suffolk, was Lord of the Manors of Nevills in Ellingham, and of Dunston, County Norfolk, and also owner of the manors of Ubbeston and Walpole, County Suffolk, from 1541 to 1588. He was succeeded by his son, John Hammond.

John Hammond, L. L. D., of Bury St. Edmunds, died in 1590. His wife was Agnes Nowell, sister of Alexander Nowell, Dean of St. Paul's. His widow married Arthur Jenney, Esq., and his eldest son and heir married Ursula Jenney, daughter of Arthur Jenney, Esq., by his first wife. This son, William Hammond, "died a soldier beyond the seas in 1622."

Thomas Hammond, L. L. D., of Bury St. Edmunds, brother of Dr. John Hammond, married Anne Ward, daughter of Edward Ward, Esq., of Mendham, County Suffolk. He was under collector of tithes and subsidies. He died March 11, 1599, leaving an only son, Thomas Hammond, aged 7 years at the time of his father's death. This son entered Cambridge University, but seems to have left without taking a degree. He is mentioned as Esquire in his grandfather

Ward's will in 1632. From his uncle, Sir William Ward, are descended the Wards, Earls Dudley. Another brother of Dr. John Hammond's was Henry Hammond, a wealthy clothier of Bury St. Edmunds. Still another brother was Edward Hammond, of All Hallows on the Wall, London, who with his brother Thomas purchased St. Paul's Hospital, Canterbury, in 1597. He died in London in 1630. Still another brother was Matthew Hammond, the ancestor of the Hammonds of Ufford, County Suffolk. Thomas Hammond, of Wetherden, County Suffolk, who died in 1601, had two daughters, Diana, who married John Deynes, Esq., chief constable of Coddenham, County Suffolk, and Susanna, who married John Winterflood, Esq., of Alveley Hall, Assington, County Suffolk. His only son, Thomas Hammond, died unmarried.

The Hammonds of Lawshall were nearly all agriculturists, some of them, however, quite wealthy for the period in which they lived. Some appear to have been landed gentry, but nearly all of these left a family of younger sons, who held lands as tenants under the Lord of the Manor. Of this family was Major General Sir Thomas Hammond, Lord of the Manor of Whepstead, County Suffolk, who died leaving a widow and one daughter, both of whom died soon after.

"The manor of Whepstead was held by Bury Abbey, by gift of Theodred, Bishop of London, and was granted to Sir William Drury in the 31st year of Henry VIII. It afterward passed through various families to the late Major General Hammond, who repaired and modernized Plumpton Hall, a large mansion, which is now occupied by a farmer, and has been recently sold by the trustees of the late Sir Thomas Hammond." It is now owned by Wm. Robert Beven, Esq., a London banker.

Sir Andrew Snape Hammond, of the ship Roebuck, who was active in the war against the colonies in the Revolution, and mention of whom is often found in American Archives, was of the Suffolk branch of the Hammond family.

"Hamond of Holley Grove, Berks, Dec. 10. 1783. Sir Andrew Snape Hamond created a Baronet

"His father, Samuel Hamond of Blackheath, in Kent, died 1715; married ——— Meadows, had son Robert, who died 1775, aged 70 years. He married Susannah, daughter of Robert Snape, and had three daughters."

"Arms—Argent, a chevron sable, charged with two escollops; argent, between two pellets, each charged with a martlet; argent in chiel and a rose, a wreath of oak leaves all over, within a bordure engrailed vert. Crest—Out of a naval crown, an eagle's head and neck, sable."

(Gazateer and Directory of Suffolk County, 1855.)

DR. JOHN HAMMOND.

Perhaps the most noted English family, with the possible exception of the family at St. Albans, County Kent, is that of Dr. John Hammond, court physician to King James I., and Henry, Prince of Wales, Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge. He was eminent in his profession, and was the ancestor of many men eminent in English history. His eldest son, John Hammond, the author of "Leah and Rachel," published in London in 1656, came to Virginia in 1634, remaining there nineteen years, then removed to Maryland, where he remained two years before his return to England. His work, "Leah and Rachel, the Fruitful Sisters," was a description of the colonies of Maryland and Virginia. Another son of Dr. John Hammond was Major General Thomas Hammond, of Cromwell's army, the father of Col. Robert Hammond, Governor of the Isle of Wight, to whom King Charles I. surrendered.

Col. Robert Hammond was one of Cromwell's most trusted officers, and after Cromwell had secured control of the government, he appointed him Governor of the Isle of Wight, and he took up his residence at Carrisbrook Castle, where the King went with his attendants to surrender to him, probably having decided upon that course owing to the fact that Col. Robert Hammond was a nephew of his favorite chaplain, Rev. Henry Hammond, D. D.

(See Palfrey's Hist. of New England, Vol. 2, p. 107.)

A collection of letters between Col. Hammond and the Committee of Lords, &c., published in London in 1764, and which contains some characteristic letters from Cromwell to Col. Hammond, is full of interest.

Another son of Dr. John Hammond was Rev. Henry Hammond, D. D., one of the most noted English divines, born Aug. 18, 1605. At the age of 13 years he was sent to Cambridge, where he was educated at Eton and Oxford, and became a Fellow of the University in 1625. His father died about 1616, and left him without the advantage of his advice and great influence, but by great perseverance and by means of his great natural talent, he rose rapidly and soon secured Court favor. In 1633 he was presented with the Rectory of Penhurst, in Kent, and in 1643 became Arch-deacon of Chichester. He soon became the favorite Court chaplain of King Charies I, who proclaimed him the most natural orator he had ever heard. He followed the King to the Isle of Wight and remained with him during his confinement in Carrisbrook Castle. In 1648 he retired to Westwood, the country seat of Sir John Packwood, where he spent the remainder of his life in literary labor. His most celebrated work was "Annotations and Paraphrasis on the New Testament," published in 1653; another work was "Whole Duty of Man." His collected works were published in four volumes, and a volume of his sermons was published some years later. He died in 1660, and was buried in the Church at Hampton, where Humphrey, Bishop of Sarum, caused to be erected a fine monument of white marble bearing the name, "Henricus Hammondus," and a long inscription in Latin. He was noted for his piety, great charity and liberality. He never married.

Rev. Mark Noble, the eminent English author, says in one of his works: "This ancient and knightly family were greatly divided in their religious and political opinions."

In England there were "Cavaliers" and "Round Heads," Catholics and dissenters. Many of the "Cavaliers" came to Virginia and Maryland, while the Hammonds of New England, so far as is known, all derive from Puritan or "Round Head" ancestry.

Probably the most noted and widely known family bearing the name in England has been that of St. Albans Court, Nonington, Co. Kent. So far as is known but one of this family has ever made his home in America. This was Edward Hammond, who came to Virginia in 1635 and introduced the culture of silk worms. Some of his letters are still extant with the family at St. Albans Court.

This family, which was probably of Suffolk, or Norfolk origin, traces its ancestry back to John Hamon, a tenant to the Abbot of St. Albans temp. under Henry VIII, who begun the purchase of the Manor of St. Albans.

His son, Sir Thomas Hammond, completed the purchase in 1551. Sir Thomas, knighted in 1548, married Katherine, daughter of John Skelly, Esq., of Patersham, in Sussex, and had six sons and two daughters.

The eldest son, Sir William Hammond, knighted in 1608, married Elizabeth, daughter of Anthony Anchor, Esq., of Bishopsbourne, by Margaret, his wife, daughther of Edward Sandys, Archbishop of York. He had three sons and five daughters. His sons were Anthony, Edward and William.

Sir William died in 1615 and was succeeded by his son, Anthony Hammond, Esq., of St. Albans Court, who married Anne, daughter of Sir Dudley Diggs, of Chilham Castle, Master of the Rolls under King Charles I.

He had four sons and some daughters. His sons were first—William, his successor; second, Dudley; three—Anthony Hammond, of Somersham Place, Member of Parliament and Commissioner of the Navy during the reign of Queen Anne, and known as Silver Tongued Hammond. He married Jane, daughter of Sir Walter Claryes, Bart., and had issue, first—Thomas Hammond, Esq., of Somersham Place, who married Elizabeth Adams, and died in 1758. Second—James Hammond, the elegaic poet, M. P. from Truro, born in 1710, died in 1742. Third—Edward Hammond, of the Royal Navy, who died at sea.

William Hammond, Esq., eldest son of Anthony Hammond, Esq., who succeeded him at St. Albans Court, was born in July, 1752; married in December, 1785, Elizabeth, eldest daughter and co-heiress of Osmond Beauvier, D. D., of Canterbury. He was succeeded by his son, William Osmond Hammond, Esq., born in April, 1790; married in Juiy, 1815, Mary Graham, eldest daughter of Sir Henry Oxendon, Bart., of Broome Park, by whom he had three sons and three daughters. He was J. P. and D. L. and High Sheriff in 1846.

William Osmond Hammond, Esq., was succeeded by his eldest son, William Oxendon Hammond, Esq., the present occupant of St. Albans Court.

The Arms were issued to Sir Thomas Hammond in 1548, by Barker, Garter King at Arms, under King Edward VI, and are as follows:

"Argent, on a chevron sable, between three pellets, each charged with a martlet of the field, as many escallops, or, within a bordure engrailed, vert.

Crest—A hawks head, collared gules, rays issuing, or. The motto is, "Pro Rege et Patria." (For King and Country.)

This Coat of Arms, with the exception of the Crest, is very similar to the arms of the Hammonds of Suffolk and Norfolk, and may be taken to indicate a close family connection with those families.

This is the Coat of Arms used by some of the Hammonds in America, but it is not that to which, if any, many of them can lay any claim whatever by right of descent.

A Coat of Arms and Crest exhibited by an American citizen, descended from Revolutionary ancestry, is at best but a harmless diversion attended with more or less bad taste, but the Arms, if any, to which the families mentioned in the following pages can lay any shadow of a claim are either the very ancient ones described below, or those of some one of the Suffolk families of more recent date.

These ancient Arms are the earliest recorded to the name in the Herald's College.

The shield is Norman, or heart shaped. Argent, a cheveron sable, charged with three escallops, argent; between three pellets, sable, charged with a martlet, argent, within a bordure engrailed. Gu.

Crest—On a helmet and wreath of three colors, a lions head, erased. Gu.

The motto is "Tentanda Via Est," meaning, A way must be tried.

The Arms of Hammond of counties Suffolk and Norfolk, as furnished by H. G. Somerby, Esq., in 1852, are as follows:

"Or, on a cheveron sable, three Cornish claughs, argent.

"Crest—An elephants head, argent, ducally gorged and eared. Or."

The following named are found in the "Royal Kallender and Annual Register" for 1778:

Court of Exchequer.—Appraiser, Richard Hammond, Esq. Navy Office.—Chatham Yard, Master Attendance, N. Hammond. Captain, R. N., commissioned Dec. 7, 1770, Andrew Snape Hammond. Lieutenant, R. N., commissioned April 27, 1747, W. Hammond. Paymaster to Out Pensioners, Thomas Hammond.

Copies and abstracts have been secured of about two hundred early Hammond wills in Suffolk and Norfolk, many of which are extremely interesting, but space has not allowed of the admission of but few of these in this work. Court and other early records of Suffolk have been thoroughly searched for Hammond evidences, which must be excluded for the same reason.

The Parish Registers of Lavenham and surrounding parishes have also had careful attention and the gleanings from a few of these are given below. In most cases these records have been examined for many years after our ancestors had settled on American soil, and some of these are very interesting in showing families and descendants of those who remained in England. The similiarity of family names in the few generations after the emigration will also be noticed, particularly so in the family at Great Waldingfield, not over two miles south of Lavenham.

WILLS OF SUFFOLK COUNTY HAMMONDS.

A few copies of wills and abstracts, selected from more than one hundred and fifty which have been collected, on account of proximity to Lavenham, or some known, or supposed, connection between these families and the families in Lavenham and Melford, are given below.

Many of these show connection with other families that were early represented in New England and some are very interesting documents in themselves, particularly so that of William Hammond, of Neyland, with its varied orthography and quaint phrases.

(I) JOHN HAMMOND, OF MELFORD.

The earliest ancestor with whom it has been possible to connect William Hammond, of Watertown, Mass., and his cousin, Thomas Hammond, of Hingham and Newton, is John Hamonde, of Melford, who was undoubtedly of the Lawshall family of Hammonds, although his parentage cannot be definitely proven. There is little doubt that he was John Hamonde, "the fuller" and cloth manufacturer, who is mentioned in the Melford records and who was named as executor in the will of John Hamond, the elder, of Melford, dated Aug. 4, 1517; proved April 22, 1528. He may have been the son of this John, although he is not mentioned as a son in the will. If this could be proven he could be connected with the family in Lawshall and the record could be carried back to 1400. In any event he was undoubtedly a near relative and without doubt a descendant of the John Hamond, of Lawshall, whose will was proved Dec. 19, 1440, and who was born before 1400. The will of John Hamond, the elder, is on record at Bury St. Edmunds, (Brydon, Folio 278) and is as follows :

WILL OF JOHNE HAMOND.

The will of widow Johne Hamond, of Melford, (Coleman, Folio 19) dated Sept. 22, 1542 ; proved Oct. 16, 1642, names John Hamond, the fuller, and William King, as her attorneys.

There appears to be little else known about him except the mention of his "house in Melford" in the will of his son, John Hamonde, of Lavenham, which follows.

So far as known he had but the one son, but there appear to have been others of the name in Melford, who may have been his sons.

(II) JOHN HAMMOND, OF LAVENHAM.

John Hamonde, the clothier, of Lavenham, County of Suffolk, England, born about 1500, son of John Hamonde, of Melford, appears to have been the first of the name to live in Lavenham. He undoubtedly settled there in connection with the cloth industry, of which Lavenham was at that time the center. So many of the early families of Watertown and vicinity came from Lavenham and the surrounding country, and as many of them were connected by ties of marriage with the Hammonds, either before the emigration to America or after the settlement here, it is deemed advisable to give a brief sketch of the town and its history in this connection. As seen to-day it is a very interesting old town, with quaint old streets with houses on both sides having overhanging gables. The ancient Market Cross, the curious structure known to-day as the "Old Workhouse," the ancient parish church which has been pronounced the most excellent example of late perpendicular work to be found in all England; all of these, together with the delightful location and naturally picturesque scenery, go to make up a picture not easily equalled in all East Anglia. The beautiful old church stands in a commanding situation, well calculated to show its massive tower at its very best. The great square tower is over 140 feet in height, and looks as if it had never been completed, for the twenty-four coats of arms of Thomas Spring, "the rich clothier of Lavenham," who was one of its builders, reach exactly to the top of the tower, suggesting that a few feet more, at least, were meant to be added. The tradition is that the architect was killed by falling from this tower when it had reached its present height, and that this was considered a warning from on high to discontinue the work upon it. The principal part of the church, as it stands to-day, was built by the DeVeres, Earls of Oxford, who had a mansion not far away, and a park which took up more than half of the Parish, and by Thomas Spring, between the years 1480 and 1525. The vestry and the east end of the chancel are parts of an earlier church. The interior dimensions of the church are 68x156 feet. The arms of the DeVeres, who bore on their shields a star, are to be seen in many places. Over the south porch are six shields, which represent the connection of the DeVeres with the Howards and other great families. The carving and sculpture are fine and the arms look as fresh as if they were just fashioned by the carver's chisel. The interior carvings and decorations are beautiful, and the church is well considered one of the finest old churches in all England.

Of the ancient town itself, it is well known how the great and wise King Edward III. impressed with the fact that England was sending her wool to Flanders to be made into cloth, induced the Flemings to come to England and settle and thus encouraged the manufacture of cloth at home. Lavenham was one of the towns in which they first settled and it became the center of the cloth trade. The town became rich with giant strides, and the "clothiers," as the cloth manufacturers were called, became proud and opulent, some of their sons and grandsons becoming country gentry, and Lords of the Manor were raised to knighthood, while others took orders in the church or became men of letters. Notable among these were the Springs and Copingers, of Lavenham, both of which families were early represented in New England. John Hammond must have been still a young man at the time of his death, as his children appear to have been quite young and his widow survived him 26 years, but the exact period of his birth cannot be learned.

The dates of birth of his children cannot be found, but

William was probably the eldest son, although there is no positive evidence to prove that he was the eldest child. He is mentioned first in his father's will, and is named with his mother as executor of the will, which would indicate that he was older than his brother, Thomas; but to Thomas is left the house in Melford, while William appears to have received only £5.

The fact that William was named with his father in the deed of trust, given below, would seem to establish the fact of his being the eldest son.

The following abstract of John's will was furnished by Major Henry C. Malden, a brother-in-law of Rev. Canon Thomas Scott, Rector of Lavenham, in 1897, and is dated Dec. 22, 1550:

"I John Hamond, of Lavenham, Clothier, &c."

Item, I give and bequeathe to Agnes my weif £30.

Item, I give and bequeathe to Wil^{m} Hamond my sonne £5, to be paide hym at the age of 21 yeres.

Item, I give and bequeathe to Elizabeth, Margaret and Johane, my daughters, to every one of them £6. 8s 4d, to be paide them at the age of 21 yeres.

Item, I give and bequeathe to Thomas Hamond, my sonne my house elford, late John Hamonde my ffathers, holdyn by coype of Courte e now of my Lady Mary's grace, to enter at the age of 21 yeres.

Item, I give and bequeathe to my said sonne Thomas £4.

I appoint my wyfe Agnes and my sonne Will^{m} executors of this my Will. Proved at Lambeth, June 5, 1551.

(III) THOMAS HAMMOND.

Thomas Hammond, of Lavenham, son of John and Agnes (——) Hamonde, was probably born about 1545. The earliest existing records in Lavenham date from about 1560 and no record of his birth can be found. He was evidently an agriculturalist and the possessor of some lands in the parish. He gave up the house left him by his father in Melford and remained in Lavenham, while his brother William appears to have gone to Melford, where he reared a family of eight children, of whom Thomas came to America and settled in Hingham, removing to Cambridge Village (now Newton) a few years later.

The Court Rolls of the Manor of Melford contain a few references to these brothers, among which are the following:

1577. "At a Court Barow, held 19th Elizabeth, Thomas Hamonde surrenders a house and lands in Hall St."

1587. "At a Court Barow, held 29th Elizabeth, J. Clitters and Will^{m} Hamonde were chosen Supervisors for the following year and took the oaths."

* See Thomas Hammond, of Newton, Mass., vol. II of this work.

† See will of Thomas Hammond, of Lavenham, which follows.

Both the Hammonds and Warrens lived on Hall St., in Melford, and there was considerable intimacy between the families prior to the emigration to America. This intimacy appears to have continued for many years after the emigration. Thomas Hammond married in Lavenham, May 14, 1573, Rose Trippe, whose parentage has not been ascertained. She had a brother, William Trippe, who was a witness to Thomas Hammond's will in 1589. Thomas died November 24, 1589, while still a young man, leaving his widow Rose and a family of small children.

She married again April 30, 1590, Robert Stuard, (Stewart) of Lavenham, and continued in possession of the estate left by Thomas Hammond until 1647 or after. In the Parish Register, of Lavenham, there is recorded the birth of a daughter Anne, but no daughter Susan, while his will mentions his daughter Susann. It is evident that the name should be Susanna, as this name occurs frequently in later generations in America.

HAMMOND GENEOLOGY.

PART I.

(I) WILLIAM HAMMOND,

OF WATERTOWN, MASS.

William Hammond, the emigrant ancestor of this branch of the family in America, was born in Lavenham, County of Suffolk, England, where he was baptized October 30, 1575. He was the only surviving son of Thomas and Rose (Trippe) Hammond, his younger brother, Thomas, having died in infancy. He was left an orphan by the death of his father in 1589 and very little can be learned about his early life. He married there June 9, 1605, Elizabeth Paine, and their children were all born in Lavenham. It is uncertain just when he came to America, as no record has been found, but there are records in Boston of a William Hammond, as early as 1632, and this may have been the same man. This, however, is very uncertain, as it may have been the William Hammond who settled in Lynn, in 1636, and who is supposed to have been the eldest son of William of Watertown, born in Lavenham in 1607. The first positive records of this William Hammond are to be found in Scituate, Mass., prior to 1636, the name being found there as "Hamans." Deane's History of Scituate, p. 277, says "he soon deceased or removed" from there and it was undoubtedly at about this time (1636) that he became a settler in Watertown, as no record of an earlier date has been found of him there. He probably located in Watertown at about the same time as did his brothers-in-aw, William Paine and Dr. Simon Eire, all of whom seem to have followed their brother-in-law, John Page, who was one of the first settlers. No record of the date of arrival in America of his elder children has been found and it is supposed that they came with him, two or more years prior to the arrival of his wife and younger children, who came in the ship "Francis," from Ipswich, England, in April, 1634. It is possible that he came with his elder children, in company with his brother-in-law, John Page, prior to, or about 1630, but it hardly seems reasonable to suppose that he was here so long before the arrival of his wife and younger children. It is probable that he was in Scituate some time before removing to Watertown. The statement that his daughter, Anne, married Rev. John Lothrop is not proven, and though there is some evidence to show such connection it seems improbable. Dr. Roland Hammond, in his Hammond Geneology, published in 1894, uses the quotation from Rev. Mr. Lothrop's Journal to establish a connection in his own line, and the family of William Hammond, of Watertown, is supposed to have been connected with his line in some way. In a note on page 9 of his work he says, "Rev. John Lothrop established a church at Scituate Harbor, Mass., and afterwards at Barnstable, Mass. He is said to have married for his second wife, Anne, widow, daughter of William Hammond, of Watertown, Mass., and had Barnabas, Abigail, Bathshua and John. But the evidence that the widow, Anne, was the daughter of William Hammond is far from convincing."

The marriage of William's daughter, Elizabeth, to Samuel House, of Scituate, which must have taken place soon after her arrival in this country, however, establishes a connecting link between Scituate and Watertown. Deane's History of Scituage, p. 289, says, "Samuel House had lands assigned, by the committee for laying out lands, in 1634, south-east of Colman's hill, between the lots of Rev. Mr. Lothrop and Richard Foxwell. He probably was one of Mr. Lothrop's Church, who came with him from London." The Pastoral Journal of the Rev. John Lothrop, reprinted in the N. E. Hist. Gen. Register (Vol. IX, pp. 279-87; Vol. X. pp. 37-43) contains the following entry: "Elizabeth Hammond, my sister, having a dismission from the church in Watertown, was joined April 16, 1638," which shows relationship between the families. If Elizabeth was the mother of the elder children of Samuel House she must have been his wife prior to this time, as the records show that he had a daughter Elizabeth baptized in 1636. It seems probable, however, that she was his second wife and not the mother of this child. No record of her marriage has been found and she was a widow at the time of her father's death in 1662, House having died in 1661. It is probable that William Hammond's other children were in Scituate with their married sister a part of the time, at least, as the youngest son, John, is recorded as able to bear arms there in 1643. William Hammond was admitted freeman in Watertown, May 25, 1636, and was grantee of seven lots and purchaser of three lots before 1644. His homestead of 40 acres was situated on the west of Common Street. It was bounded on the east and north by lands of his brother-in-law, Dr. Simon Eire, on the west by John Simson, Isaac Sterne and John Warren, and on the south by Thomas Boyden. Bond's Hist. of Watertown (p. 1088) says, "It is probable that William Hammond settled first on the Cambridge Road, very near the Cambridge line. Whether this was a grant to him the records do not show. He sold it early and settled on his 40-acre homestall, situated east of Pequusset meadow. He also owned three small lots in Pequusset meadow, one of these granted to him and the other two purchased. This homestall passed to his son (grandson) Thomas." March 10, 1642, in the division of lands, he was granted lot No. 76, in the 4th Division, containing 165 acres, and this, with his other holdings, made him one of the largest land owners in the town. The records do not show that he was often an office holder in the town and this may have been due to his independence in religious matters, which may have made him unpopular with his more puritanical neighbors, although he does not appear to have been so unpopular as some of his most intimate friends. His near neighbor and most intimate friend appears to have been John Warren, who came from the same locality in Suffolk County, England, and between whose family and his own there appears to have been considerable intimacy for several generations prior to the settlement in America. Mr. Warren seems to have had even less regard for the rigid puritanical regulations of the time than his friend, Hammond, and to have become rather more unpopular thereby. In Oct. 1651, Warren was fined 20 shillings "for an offense against the laws concerning baptism," and April 4, 1654, "for neglect of publick worship" 14 Sabbaths at 5 shillings each. March 14, 1658, he was ordered to be "warned for not attending publick worship," but "old Warren was not to be found in town." May 27, 1661, the houses of "old Warren and Goodman Hammond" were ordered to be searched for Quakers, for whom they were known to have considerable sympathy.

Considerable independence in religious matters, great love of liberty and sympathy for all who are persecuted for conscience sake seem to have been inherent family traits for generations past. It is probable that William Hammond and his intimate friend, Warren, were both inclined toward the religious teaching of Roger Williams, but were too conservative to subject themselves to the persecution which his more radical followers were compelled to endure. This view is supported by the fact that many of their descendants were rigid adherents of the Baptist Church. The tendency, however, in this family has been toward great liberty of thought in religious matters and many of the descendants have been connected with the Unitarian and Universalist denominations, while many in the later generations have held membership in no church.

There is not, so far as is known, a clergyman of the name among the descendants of William Hammond, but on the other hand no criminal records have been found. The research has been very thorough and complete and the freedom from any taint of crime or known immorality must prove very gratifying to the descendants. The standard of intelligence and general education has been very high, but it is to be deeply regretted that there have been so few college men in the family, even where the wealth and position have been such that a college education could have been obtained without any great difficulty. All, so far as known, have been great readers, studious and thoughtful people, honorable, upright and law-abiding, but rather too modest and retiring by nature and not given to pushing forward in public matters. The inventory of the estate of "Mr. Nathaniel Sparrowhawke," of Cambridge, Mass., who died June 27, 1647, mentions among the assets sums owing from "Old Warren" and "Old Hammond," of Watertown. (See N. E. Hist., Gen. Register, Vol. VII).

The will of William Hammond is on file at East Cambridge, Mass., (Middlesex Probate No. 7167), dated July 1, 1662; proved Dec. 16, 1672. He leaves to wife Elizabeth, his whole estate during her life. To son, John, all lands, &c. after her death.

To Thomas Hamond, "sonne of my sonne, Thomas Hamond, deceased," £40 at the age of 21 years. "If said Thomas, or any for him, oppose this will," then he is not to have the £40.

"Unto daughter Barnes, £30, the same to remain unto her children." "In case she again become a widow" she is to have wood from his lands during her widowhood. To four children of my daughter, Elizabeth House, deceased, various sums of money. "To Adam Smith, son of daughter, Sarah, if he behave obediently to my wife after my decease, one mare colt and £20." To daughter, Sarah Smith, £5.

Appoints widow, Elizabeth and John executors.

Inventory by Hugh Mason and Thomas Hastings, Dec. 16, 1662; £457–16–9. Contains the following list of real estate:

"25 acres of fallow land,
15 acres of broken land,
15 acres of meadow,
60 acres of meadow, &c.,
16 acres of land in low of ye town right,
40 acres in great dividend,
160 acres in a farm.
Total, 331 acres.

He had given lands to his son, Thomas, prior to his death in 1655, and on Dec. 12, 1647, he had given Thomas a letter of attorney to obtain possession of lands in Lavenham, England, which were then possessed by his (William's) mother, Mrs. Rose Stewart. (See Pope's Pioneers of N. E., p. 210.)

His son, William, died in 1636, and it seems improbable that he left heirs as no mention is found of them. William became surety for a debt in England owed by his son at the time of his death. (Letter of Robert Ryece to Gov. Winthrop.)

His wife, Elizabeth, aged 47 years, with children Elizabeth, aged 15, Sarah, aged 10 and John, aged 7 years, embarked at Ipswich, England, in the ship, "Francis," John Cutting, Master, in April, 1634, and joined her husband in New England. She was born in Nowton Parish, near Bury St. Edmunds, County of Suffolk, England, in 1587, and was the daughter of William Paine.* Anthony Paine, living in Nowton Parish, had a son, William, bapt. Dec. 2, 1565. William Paine had five children baptized in Nowton Parish, all of whom came to America, and were for a time at least residents of Watertown, viz. Phebe, Elizabeth, Dorothy, William and Robert. Her brother, William Paine, came to America in 1635, and settled in Watertown, where he was one of the largest proprietors in 1636–7, but he soon removed to Ipswich and settled there with his brother, Robert. He was a merchant and large landowner, a public-spirited man and very popular in the affairs of the Colony. About 1652 he removed to Boston where he died in 1660. In his will he left the sum of £5 to each of the children of his sister, Elizabeth Hammond. Her sister, Dorothy Paine, married Dr. Simon Eire, who was one of the early settlers in Watertown, where he took a very prominent part in the affairs of the town until his removal to Boston about 1645. She was the mother of all of his children except two by his second wife, Martha, whom he married in Boston after the death of wife Dorothy. Phebe Paine married John Page, who came to America from Dedham, County of Essex, England, in 1630. He was one of the first settlers in Watertown and was the first Constable, having been appointed by the Court in Sept., 1630. He died in Watertown Dec. 18, 1676, aged about 90 years. She died Sept. 25, 1677, aged 87 years.

* See Paine Fam. of Ipswich, by Albert W. Paine.

In a suit in 1652, Hammond vs. Bridge, it appears that Thomas Hammond had an uncle, Page. In testimony in Court in 1678 concerning the estate of John Page, Lieut. John Hammond is a witness when Page is called his uncle. (See Bond's Hist. of Watertown, pp. 270, 865.) The evidence given above, and other similar evidence, proves conclusively the parentage of Elizabeth (Paine) Hammond and were it not for such existing evidence the proof of her parentage would have been impossible as there was another Elizabeth Paine who was of almost exactly the same age and who was born in Lavenham. This family was as follows: Joane Paine, a widow, died in Lavenham in 1594. She had sons, Thomas and William. William Paine m. in 1584 Agnes Lyle, having children Elizabeth, bapt. 1586; Judith, bapt. 1589; Susan, bapt. 1592; Richard and William, bapt. 1597, and Francis, bapt. 1600; d. infant. It will be observed that this Elizabeth had also a brother, William, who might have been the William of Watertown and Ipswich and were it not for the known connection with the family of John Page it might have been impossible to identify her. The ancestry of Mrs. Elizabeth (Paine) Hammond will be found very fully set forth in "Paine Family of Ipswich, Mass.," by Albert W. Paine, of Bangor, Me. She died in Watertown, Mass., Sept. 14, 1670, "aged about 90" the record says, but really at the age of 83 years.

An explanation of the connection between the families of William Hammond and Timothy Hawkins has been found. That the relationship was close there seemed to be little doubt. Timothy Hawkins was a proprietor in Watertown in 1636–7, and died in 1651. His widow, Hannah, adm. his estate and m. 2d Ellis Barron, Sr. She must have been the daughter "Anne Barnes" mentioned in the will of William Hammond, as the name Barron was often written "Barnes" and Anne was often written for Hannah. Her children were Hannah, Timothy and Mehitable. After the death of Timothy Hawkins his son, Timothy, chose Thomas Hammond as his guardian and his daughter, Mehitable, chose John Hammond. This connection seems so well established that it has been adopted in this work, leaving to future genealogists the problem of establishing the connection with Rev. John Lothrop.

There is some evidence to show that the family of William Hammond had lived in Dedham, Essex, England, for a period at least, before their emigration to America. The evidence in the suit of Edmund Shearman, of Dedham, Essex, against Thomas Hammond, in April, 1648 (see Bond's Watertown, p. 778), and the subsequent proceedings, in which "Bazal" Angier and Nath. Baxter are witnesses, and also the marriage of John Hammond to Abigail Salter, of Dedham (see will of Elizabeth Salter, in which Bazaleel Angier is named as a witness in 1660), all show a connection with that town in England. It is possible that William removed there from Lavenham some years prior to the emigration to America.

He d. in Watertown, Mass., Oct. 8, 1662, and his widow, Elizabeth, d. Sept. 14, 1670.

Children :

2* 1. William, bapt. Sept. 20, 1607.

(II) William Hammond, (William[1]) bapt. Sept. 20, 1607. Supposed to have m. Elizabeth ——, and to have d. in Lynn, Mass., in 1637. Land was granted to the widow, Elizabeth Hammond, in Lynn in 1638. There were, no doubt, several children, but no records exist. Elizabeth was granted 60 acres of land and this would indicate quite a family of children. There were Hammonds in Lynn a few years later. A William Hammond appears there in 1662 as witness in an action for debt. Joseph Fiske married there Elizabeth Hammond, and he, with William Hammond, was admitted inhabitant in Rehoboth, Mass., in 1687. Probably nearly all of the Rhode Island Hammonds are descendants of this family.

Further evidence of the connection with the Hammonds of Watertown, exists in the entries of births of William Hammond's children, born at Rehoboth, on page 23, of the Watertown records. This William of Rehoboth, may have been a grandson of William Hammond, of Watertown.

(II) Anne Hammond, (William[1]) bapt. Lavenham, Eng., July 14, 1616; d. Watertown, Mass., Sept. 1, 1685; m. 1st., —— Timothy Hawkins, who was a proprietor in Watertown in 1636-7. He d. about 1650 or '51, and she married (2) Ellis Barron, another early settler. She was his second wife and had no children by the second marriage.

Timothy Hawkins was a grantee of seven lots in Watertown. His homestead of 10 acres was bounded on the east by Common Street, west by William Hammond, north by the highway and south by John Lawrence. In his will he left the sum of £40 to his widow, who is called "Hannah," £40 to his eldest son Timothy, £20 each to his two daughters and the balance of his estate for the education of his youngest daughter. So far as is now known he had but one son and two daughters. Her second husband Ellis Barron was admitted freeman in Watertown, June 2, 1641. He was Constable in 1658 and Selectman in 1668 and 1673. By his first wife, Grace, he had seven or eight children. His eldest son, Ellis Barron, Jr., had been married to her eldest daughter, Hannah or Anna Hawkins, some years before the union of their surviving parents. He died in December, 1676.

There is no doubt whatever that she was the daughter Anne "Barnes," mentioned in the will of William Hammond, as Barnes was frequently written for Barron and her daughter appears to have been known both as Anna and Hannah. Her will, dated Aug. 18, 1683, proved Oct. 6, 1685, mentions son Timothy Hawkins, daughter Hannah Barron's children; Mary, daughter of Timothy Hawkins, and grandchildren Benjamin and Benoni Garfield.

Children:

10* 1. Hannah, (Hawkins) b. June 10, 1637.
11* 2. Timothy, (Hawkins) b. Dec. 30, 1639.
12* 3. Mehitable, (Hawkins) b. about 1648-50.

(II) Thomas Hammond, (William[1]) bapt. Lavenham, Eng., Sept. 17. 1618; d. Watertown, Mass., Dec. 10, 1655; m. about 1654, Hannah Cross, b. Ipswich, Mass., April, 1636; (bapt. in Hampton, Oct. 9, 1638), d. Mar. 24, 1656–7, dau. of John and Hannah (——) Cross.

John Cross, aged 50, and wife, Hannah, aged 38, embarked at Ipswich, Eng., for New England in April, 1634. He settled in Ipswich, Mass., where he appears to have taken a very active part in the affairs of the town. He probably was in Hampton two or three years before locating permanently in Ipswich, as his only child was baptized there. He was admitted freeman in Ipswich, in 1639; was Representative in 1640. (See Bond's Watertown, p. 189.)

In December, 1660, he placed a lien for the payment of "ten shillings yearly toward a free school" on his farm near the Rowley line, and in his will made about the same time he bequeathed the same to his daughter, Hannah, with other property and the sum of £100, to be paid her after the decease of his wife, to which bequest he added the proviso: "But in case my said daughter doth depart this life without issue leaving behind her, then my will is to give the said hundred pounds to the town of Ipswich, to remain toward the maintenance of a free school forever. The which is to be ordered and disposed of by the Church of Ipswich for the said work." This contingency, however, did not occur as his daughter left one only child, Thomas Hammond, who afterwards entered into possession of the estate as sole heir of his mother. (See Hammatt Papers, p. 67, and also Ipswich Antiquarian Papers, by Cadwell and Dow).

"At a meeting among ye Selectmen of Ipswich, held 21: 2: 1705–6, Whereas Mr. Thomas Hammond, of this town is come to reside upon ye farme, yt his late grandfather, John Cross, gave to his daughter, ye sd Hammond's mother, s^d Hammond being y^e only surviving heir y^t we know of to P (possess) land and other lands of his late father Hammond dyed seized of." (See Ipswich Town Records.) John Cross died in Ipswich in 1662, and his widow in Watertown in 1669.

Thomas Hammond seems to have been an active, enterprising man during his short career. In the Court files of April 14, 1648, is found a paper of which the following is an abstract: "I Edmund Shearman, of Dedham, Clothier; do adventure by sea, two broadcloths, by Thomas Hammond, of New England, planter. Signed Thomas Hammond; Edmund Shearman." By this it would appear that Thomas had visited England in 1648 and brought over with him some cloth for sale in the Colony. There appears to have never been any settlement for the same prior to the death of Thomas, which occurred a few years later, for April 8, 1660, Edmund Shearman and Henry Wright, of Dedham, County of Essex, give a power of Attorney to Rev. John Sherman, and in 1663 be brought suit against the estate for the recovery of the price of the same. This power of attorney is witnessed by "Bazal" Angier and Nath. Backster. There appears to have been some controversy over the will of Thomas Hammond, as on June 21, 1659 "William Waynes and John Parker, indifferent persons, were appointed by the Court to determine the controversies among the heirs of Thomas Hammond." (See Bond's Watertown, pp. 778-9.) How these controversies could have arisen under the will which follows is not now known. There was but one heir, his widow being dead, and that heir a minor child and the controversy must have arisen over the guardianship of his son and the custody of his property during his minority. April 4, 1654, his nephew, Timothy Hawkins, Jr., chose him as his guardian.

His widow, Hannah (Cross) Hammond, survived him but a little over a year. She died March 24, 1657. She made her will March 19, 1657, five days prior to her decease, probably then knowing that her end was near and wishing to make every arrangement possible for her infant son, who was so soon to be doubly orphaned.

In this will she gave to her mother one-half of the rent of the Cross farm in Ipswich. To John Sherman and each of his children £5; to John Livermore £4. 12; the remainder of her estate to her mother and John Sherman, in trust for her son, who was committed to their care. The inventory of Thomas Hammond's estate by Edward Garfield, John Coolidge, Joseph Tainter and Anthony White, dated Dec. 22, 1655. House, barn and upland bought of John Stowers, £120. Cross farm in Ipswich, with seven cows and two oxen, £200. Housing and land in England, at Lavenham, renting at £14 per year, £120. Elizabeth Barrett, debt to be paid in two years, £25; and also some personal estate. In his will which follows he makes John Sherman one of his executors. This must have been Capt. John Sherman as Rev. John Sherman appears to have been the attorney in the suit before mentioned, against his estate.

(II) Elizabeth Hammond, (William[1]) b. Lavenham, Eng., 1619; d. ——; m. about 1636, Samuel House, of Scituate, Mass.

He had lands assigned to him by the committee for laying out lands in 1634, southeast of Colman's hills, between the lots of Rev. Mr. Lothrop and Richard Foxwell. He probably was one of Rev. Mr. Lothrop's church, who came with him from London in that year. He died in Scituate in 1661. His son, Samuel, and daughter, Elizabeth, administered the estate. His wife was admitted to the church in Scituate in 1638, on her dismission from the church in Watertown. (See Pastoral Journal of Rev. John Lothrop, in N. E. Hist. and Gen. Register, Vol. IX, pp. 279-87; Vol. X, pp. 37-43.

Children:

14. 1. Elizabeth, (House) bapt. Oct. 23, 1636.
15* 2. Samuel, (House) b. about 1638.
16. 3. Sarah, (House) bapt. Aug. 1, 1641.
17. 4. John, (House) b. Dec. 6, 1642; probably d. soon after birth.
18. 5. John, (House) bapt. May 28, 1645.

(II) Sarah Hammond, (William[1]) b. Lavenham, Eng., Oct. 21, 1623; d. ——; m. —— Smith.

Very little has been learned about her except that she did not live happily with her husband, and separated from him. In Mass. Archives is found a letter from her uncle, Wm. Paine, to Gov. Shirley, in which he asks to be notified when the Governor is to hear the case as he wished to be present.

Children:

19. 1. Adam, (Smith) b. ——; mentioned in the will of his grandfather, William Hammond, in 1662, when he was still under age.

(II) Lieut. John Hammond, (William[1]) b. Lavenham, England, about 1624; bapt. July 2, 1626. His age was given as 7 years at the time he came to America with his mother, which practically agrees with the latter date, but his tombstone gives his age at his death in 1709 as 85 years and 4 months, which places his birth in July, 1624.

He m. (1) about 1652, Abigail Salter, b. at Rattlesden, Co. Suffolk, England, (bapt.) Nov. 9, 1623, daughter of George and Elizabeth (Munning) Salter, who were married at Rattlesden, Oct. 29, 1617. She d. about 1663, and he m. (2) in 1664, Sarah Nichols, of Charlestown, Mass., who d. Jan. 14, 1688, aged 45 years.

He m. (3) in 1689, widow Prudence (Wade) Cotton, dau. of Jonathan Wade, of Ipswich, Mass., and widow of Rev. Seaborn Cotton, of Hampton. He was her third husband as she married (1) Dec. 28, 1659, Dr. Anthony Crosby, of Rowley, Mass., son of widow, Constance Crosby, by whom she had children who survived her and inherited her property. Lieut. John's first wife, Abigail Salter, was a sister of Theophilus Salter, an early resident of Ipswich, Mass. She also had a sister, Hannah Salter, who married Nicholas Phillips, of Boston, Jan. 4, 1652. Her mother, Elizabeth (Munning) Salter, whose will is given below, was the daughter of Rev. Humphrey Munning, Rector of Brettenham, Co. Suffolk, England, and Elizabeth Winthrop, his wife. Elizabeth Winthrop, who married Rev. Humphrey Munning, was a niece of Adam Winthrop, of Groton, whose diary records the marriage of George Salter and Elizabeth Munning.

WILL OF ELIZABETH SALTER,

COUNTIES OF LOND., ESSEX AND HERTS.

Book 1662-4, Fol. 136.

"The first day of Dec^{r}., 1660.

Elizabeth Salter, of Dedham, Co. Essex; widow, aged and weakly. To Thomas Salter, my sonne, £10, and £30 more to be divided between his child^{n}, John, Elizabeth and Hannah, by his first wife, when 21 years of age. Said first wife was Phillippa Rouse. To Theophilus Salter, my sonne, £5 Unto Abigail Hammond, my daughter, of New England, £10. If she die before said sum be due said money to be paid to her children when they are 21 years of age. Unto my daughter Hannah Phillips, of New England, £5, besides £5 that she have of mine allready. If she be dead said sum to her children when 21. Unto Robert Astlye, pastor of ye church in Stradford, 20^{s}. I give 20^{s} to bee paid into ye hands of ye Deacon, or his hands that supply ye place of Deacon in that church. Lastly I bequeathe unto Samuel Salter, my sonne, the residue of my goods, whom I make and ordayne to be my sole executor. Sealed, &c., in the presence of us, Bazaleel Angeir and Stephen How, the Eler. Probatum fuit apud Colc^{r} 15 die mensis June, 1662. Juramto Extor, &c."

Little can now be learned about his military career as so few records exist prior to 1700.

His tombstone in the old burying ground at Watertown, Mass., contains the following inscription:

"Memento Mori Fugit Hora."

"Here lyes ye body of Lieutenant, John Hammond, aged 85 years & 4 m^{o}. Who dec'd Nov^{mbr} 22nd, 1709."

"Blessed are the dead that die in ye Lord."

The tombstone of his widow bears the inscription:

"Mrs. Prudence Hammond, wife of Lieut. John Hammond, Died Sep^{mbr} 1st, 1711, in ye 74th year of her age."

He was a soldier in King Philip's war in 1675 and 1676, in the garrison at Wrentham. (Soldiers in King Philip's War, pp, 366-7.)

In 1665 he was appointed guardian of his kinswoman, Mehitable Hawkins, dau. of Timothy and Hannah Hawkins. He was selectman in Watertown, in 1664, 1670, 1692, 1698 and 1701. In 1690 his assessment was the largest in Watertown.

His will, (Middlesex Probate, No. 7151) dated Nov. 18, 1709, proved Dec. 9, 1709, mentions wife Prudence, son John, daughters Elizabeth Mason, Abigail Hastings, Hannah Poulter and Hepzibah Shattuck, and also sons-in-law John Mason, John Hastings, John Poulter and William Shattuck.

His inventory, dated Nov. 29, 1709, amounted to £961-8. Through an error the account of the settlement of his estate Jan. 26, 1712-13, is filed at East Cambridge with the papers relating to the estate of John Hammond, of Newton, (No. 7152) who died in 1762. Account of John Hammond, John Mason and John Hastings, executors of will of Lt. John Hammond, Jan. 26, 1712-13.

There is a long list of sums paid. Among those named are the following relatives: Henry Phillips, of Charlestown; Experience Page, ——— Smith, of Roxbury, Timothy Barron, of Watertown; Hopestil Mead, of Cambridge; Joseph and Samuel Hastings, of Watertown, and others who may have been connected by marriage or otherwise.

There is also an account of legacies paid to Sergeant Chadwick, Justice Bond and Sarah Barnard.

"Deceased's funeral charges £38–12–11."

"Lampson, for gravestones for dec'd and his widow, 13^s–0."

"For maintaining widow £10."

For wearing apparel £40-0-0.

Total payments £188-3-7.

Real estate to son John, £773-4-5.

(III) Mehitabel Hawkins, b. Watertown, Mass., ———, ———; d. Watertown, Mass., Dec. 9, 1675 ; m. 1673, Capt. Benjamin Garfield, b. 1643, son of Edward and Rebecca Garfield, of Watertown, Mass.

He was Representative from Watertown many times and a very prominent man in civil and military affairs of the town. After her death he m. (2) Elizabeth Bridge, by whom he had six children. After her father's death she chose her uncle, Lieut. John Hammond, as her guardian. April 1, 1673, Capt. Garfield received of Ellis Barron, step-father of his first wife, the sum of £20, the share of his wife in the estate of her father.

Children :

43. 1. Benjamin, (Garfield) b. May 8, 1674.
44* 2. Benoni, (Garfield) b. Dec. 4, 1675.

(III) Lieut. Thomas Hammond,^{3}(Thomas^{2}) b. July 11, 1656, in Watertown, Mass.; d. Feb. 26, 1724-25, in Ipswich, Mass., buried in Rowley; m. (1) Aug. 21, 1677, Elizabeth Noyes; b. —— —, ——; d. April 4, 1679, without issue; m. (2) Dec. 6, 1679, Sarah Pickard; b. Jan. 31, 1656-57; d. Jan. 16, 1712-13; dau. of John and Jane Pickard, of Rowley, Mass.; m. (3) Oct. 17, 1713, wid. Hannah (Platt) Lancaster, bapt. Feb. 23, 1678-79; dau. of Ensign Abel, and Lydia Platt, (Platts) of Rowley, Mass., and widow of Samuel Lancaster, who was drowned in Rowley River, Sept. 19, 1710.

He was left an orphan when but a few months of age. His grandfather, William Hammond, died when he was but four years of age and his grandmother, Cross, surviving but a few years, it is probable that his uncle, Lieut. John Hammond, of Watertown, took charge of his bringing up and education. He appears to have been much better educated than the average man of his time. He was a fine penman as is shown by specimens of his handwriting which are still in existence. It seems that he had some military training in his younger days, probably owing to the influence of his uncle, Lieut. John, and he is credited with service in King Philip's war, in the Companies of Capt. Joseph Syll, in 1675, and Capt. Joseph Cutter, in 1676. It is probable that he took an active part in the military affairs later in life as he is mentioned as "Lieut." in the records at Ipswich. Growing up as he did without parental restraint he early learned self-reliance and became one of the most active, enterprising men of the locality in which he lived. The following account found on page 143, of the Essex County Geneological Register, shows the characteristics of the man:

> "Thomas Hammond if living now would be one of our liberal men. Paul Jewett, who was contemporary with him, reports him through his son Dea. Joshua Jewett, that Hammond had no particular reverance for Sunday, parson or church; that he was a hustler in business and paid little regard to time or place albeit he might coin an honest dollar. He was born too early; the stiff orthodoxy of his day condemned him, and the 'faithful' said the Devil held him. It became the whispered secret that 'Tom Hammond had sold himself to the Devil.' Time passed, 'Tom' kept business in a whirl and made money. He owed several of his townsmen, as would be natural with a man who drove his business. Gossip was rife and 'Tom' resolved to test it—in modern phase he suspended. Then calling in his creditors, who were also his accusers, he said : 'Gentlemen, there are two piles of money ; the larger pile is ample to pay you all, but I got it through Satanic influence, and you must take the responsibility of its spell upon you. The other pile will pay you only a small dividend, but it is free. I hoarded it before I made a league with the Devil. Take which you will and sign a release.' They took the smaller pile. Few people now-a-days play a shrewder game."

Thomas Hammond and his wife rest in the Rowley Cemetery, on the left near the entrance. Their headstones are beautifully engraved in the fashion of that time, and read as follows :

HERE LIES YE BODY OF
MR. THOMAS HAMMOND,
DECST. FEBRUARY YE [*]6, 1724,
IN YE 69TH YEAR OF HIS AGE.

HERE LYETH BURIED YE BODY OF
MRS. SARAH HAMMOND,
WIFE OF
MR. THOMAS HAMMOND,
WHO DIED JANUARY YE 16, 1712-13,
AGED 57 YEARS.

He appears to have lived in Ipswich on the old Cross farm, after his second marriage, until about 1690 when he removed to Watertown, where he had considerable property interests. He was admitted freeman April 18, 1690, and continued to reside there until about 1706, when he returned to Ipswich and spent the remaining years of his life on the old farm situated near the west end of Muzzey hill, adjoining the town of Rowley. He was a large owner of real estate as is shown by the Essex Registry of Deeds. The following abstracts serve to show the relationship between the parties and prove conclusively that Thomas married a third wife and had two daughters by her, although this marriage is not mentioned in any of the works now in print.

June 11, 1713, he conveyed the old Cross farm to his sons, David and Nathaniel Hammond, "in consideration of parental love." The farm is described as follows: "Bounded on ye cart way which lyeth next ye line yt parts Ipswich and Rowley, and on ye N. W. side by Bradstreet farm, so-called, containing 100 acres, subject to a yearly lien which John Cross, the former owner, put upon said farm for the support of ye Grammar school." The deed is witnessed by Nehemiah Jewett, Philip Nelson and Elizabeth (her X mark) Bug. (Essex Registry 25; 243.)

Nov. 7, 1717, he conveyed "for love and affection to my son-in-law, Ephraim Jewett—thatch lot on Rogers island in Ipswich and new up-land lot at Jeffries." His wife, Hannah, relinquished her right of dower in the same. (Essex Registry 32; 208.)

May 23, 1724, Thomas Hammond "in consideration of parental love which I bear my son, Thomas Hammond of Watertown," conveyed to him a salt marsh in Ipswich with the proviso that, "should I die before my now present wife my said son, Thomas, shall pay to my said wife the sum of £40, provided she doth acquit rights of dower, or power of thirds in all of my estate according to Covenant, and not else." Thomas was also required to pay his brothers, David and Nathaniel Hammond, £5 each. Proved in Court April 13, 1725, by witnesses Nathaniel Knowlton and Thomas Manning, to have been the deed of Thomas Hammond, late of Ipswich, deceased. (Essex Registry 44; 158.)

March 28, 1724, he conveyed "to my daughter Elizabeth Jewett, the now wife of Ephraim Jewett, in consideration of parental love," &c., lands in Ipswich and Rowley. (Essex Registry 44; 162.)

By a deed proved in Court April 13, 1725, "in consideration of parental love," &c., he conveyed lands to his two daughters, Hannah and Mary Hammond, minors, of Ipswich; "my daughter, Hannah, must pay to my daughter, Sarah Lambert, £10, and my daughter, Mary, shall pay to my daughter, Elizabeth Jewett, £10." (Essex Registry 45; 29.)

His daughter, Hannah, afterwards married Lieut. Nathaniel Bradstreet, and the lands then deeded to her have since remained in possession of her descendants and are now owned (1897) and occupied by John Francis Bradstreet, who has in his possession the original deed given by Thomas Hammond in 1724. This deed is a finely executed document, written in a bold old English hand, and has a fine signature showing him to have been a good penman at that advanced age, a characteristic of the family for many generations.

Thomas Hammond

Thomas Hammond was selectman in Watertown in 1694 and 1696. He was witness of the will of John Bond in Watertown, Feb. 26, 1690.

He was executor of the will of his kinsman, Timothy Hawkins, in Watertown, in 1697.

(III) John Hammond, Jr., (Lieut. John²) b. Watertown, Mass., about 1662.

Very little can be learned about him. He was living in Watertown at the time of his father's death, in 1709, and references to him are found in the town records for a few years afterward. John Hammond, Jr., and Thomas Hammond, of Watertown, signed a petition for a charter for the town of Gray, Me., May 28, 1735. He may have settled in Maine. A John "Hamen" (III) is found in "Gen. and Estates, Charlestown," who had a wife living at Arundel, Me. He was a soldier in the French war and married another wife while stationed at Cape Breton, N. S., whom he deserted. There is much about the affair in "Domestic Relations," in Mass. Archives, but nothing is found to connect him with John Hammond, Jr., of Watertown. It seems probable that John, Jr., either did not marry or that he removed to Maine and was an early settler in the town of Gray.

(III) Hepzibah Hammond, (Lieut. John²) b. about 1681-83; m. (1) Sept. 23, 1708, William Shattuck, b. 1675, son of William and Susanna (Randall) Shattuck. He d. Dec. 21, 1723. She m. (2) Sept. 10, 1724, John Robbins, of Cambridge.

He raised the Eighth Regiment Illinois Cavalry in 1861, and was its Colonel. Promoted Brigadier General Nov. 29, 1862. He was actively engaged during nearly all of the time until about the close of the campaign in 1862 when he received severe injuries that disabled him from active service in the field and in 1863 he resigned his commission. In the winter of 1863 he raised the Seventeenth Illinois Cavalry, which did valiant service in the field. He was an able and forcible speaker in Congress, and a ready debater. After his retirement from Congress he again engaged in the practice of his profession.

THOMAS HAMMOND, JR.,

OF WATERTOWN AND WALTHAM, MASS.

(IV) Thomas Hammond, (Thomas[3]) b. Watertown, Mass., Nov. 17, 1685; d. Waltham, Mass., Oct. 22, 1762; m. March 8, 1709, Mary Harrington, b. May 11, 1687; d. May 18, 1760, dau. of John and Hannah (Winter) Harrington, of Waltham, Mass. He was selectman in Watertown, in 1730, 1731 and 1732; a prominent and influential man of the town. His will on file at East Cambridge, dated July 7, 1762; proved Nov. 15, 1762, gives to children of his son, Thomas, the sum of £74, 13^s, 4^d, to be paid in the following manner:

To his son, David, £26, 13^s, 4^d.

To his daughter, Ruth Garfield, and to his daughter, Sarah "Godden," £8, 13^s, 4^d each.

To his sons, Ephraim and John Hammond, £15, 6^s, 8^d.

To granddaughter, Ruth Norcross, £26, 13^s, 4^d, but in case of her death to go to children of my sons, Thomas and Jonathan, equally.

To children of my son, Samuel, deceased, £133, 6^s, 8^d, to be divided as follows: to his two sons £46, 13^s, 4^d, each at age of 21 years; to his two daughters £20 each at age of 21 years.

To my son, Thomas Hammond, £80.

To daughter, Mary Lawrence, £90, 13^s, 4^d.

To son, Jonathan Hammond, £154, 13^s, 4^d.

To daughters, Sarah Cutting, Grace Stearns and Hannah Parks, £80 each.

Wearing apparel to be equally divided between sons, Thomas and Jonathan.

To daughters, Sarah Cutting, Grace Stearns, Mary Lawrence and Hannah Parks, each one-eleventh of remainder of estate after all charges are paid.

To children of son, Samuel, one-eleventh of remainder.

Son, Jonathan, sole Exec. The will is witnessed by Jonas Hastings, Jonas Stuart and Jonas Dix.

Thomas Hammond jun

Non-cupative codicil added Oct. 17, 1762, made 5 days before his death, witnessed by Jonas Stuart and Hannah Jones, gives of moneys in the house and due to him: To son, Jonathan, £100, "old tenor," the rest equally to children except that Thomas is to have a double share.

To son, Jonathan, best saddle, bridle and gun.

To Thomas, silver buckles and spurs.

To Hannah the "pillyarn;" to Mary the "panel."

March 13, 1763, the heirs chose Samuel Livermore, Jonas Dix and Nathaniel Livermore, to divide the real estate. The paper is signed by John Lawrence, Isaac Cutting and Jonathan Hammond.

The inventory of the estate by Lemuel Livermore, William Coolidge and Jonas Dix, shows a large amount of household goods, cattle, horses, swine, etc. Among the items is seventeen barrels of cider.

Among the books of deceased are named "Great Bible," "Mr. Allen, upon Conversion," "Mr. Russell, upon the Unpardonable Sin," etc.

In the Executors account, dated June 29, 1764, are named son, Thomas Hammond, John and Mary Lawrence, Isaac and Sarah Cutting, Nathaniel and Grace Stearns, John and Hannah Parks, David Bemis, guardian of Samuel Hammond's children, Phinehas Warren and others. The division of real estate, dated, June 1, 1765, by Sam'l Livermore, Jonas Dix, Nath'l Livermore, Jonathan Sanderson and Thomas Wellington, gives a good description of the bounds of several tracts of land of which he died possessed, including the homestead on the " way " leading to " Capefare, so called."

He was certainly a very well-to-do man for the time in which he lived.

Children :

259* 1. Thomas, b. July 22, 1710.
260* 2. Ebenezer, b. June 23, 1712.

(V) Thomas Hammond, (Thomas^4) b. Watertown, Mass., July 22, 1710; d. Waltham, Mass., Jan. 14, 1782; m. March 29, 1732, Ruth Converse, b. —— —, 1709; d. July 4, 1779, dau. of Capt. Josiah and Ruth (——) Converse, of Woburn, Mass. He was selectman in Waltham in 1741-43. The administration on his estate, (Middlesex Probate, No. 7165,) contains but few papers and shows the appointment of his son, Ephraim Hammond as Administrator. A Bond of Ephraim Hammond with Joseph Whitney and Abraham Sanders as surities.

Inventory, dated March 13, 1782, by Jonas Dix, Abijah Brown and Jonathan Fisher, shows personal estate to the sum of £56, 10^s, 6^d.

The account of Ephraim Hammond, Administrator, dated March 13, 1782, shows moneys paid to Abijah Livermore, Warham Cushing, Jesse Welman, William Fiske, Sarah Bemis, N. Sanderson, William Adams and others to the amount of £21, 12^s, 5^d.

Thomas appears to have been a farmer on lands left by his father but his brother Jonathan seems to have had the homestead.

Children:

269* 1. Thomas, b. June 2. 1732.
270* 2. Ruth, b. Sept. 22, 1734.
271* 3. David, b. Jan. 23, 1737.

> Wee Eph^m Brown and Benj^a Peirce testifie that Mr. Ebzor Hammond, late of Weston, dec'd, call us as witnesses and declared in his last sickness and but little before his death, that what money was due him from Mr. Abraham Bigelow, he gave to his wife as a gift.

Signed,

EPHM. BROWN
BENJ. PEIRCE

Note. No objection made by the heirs.

Inventory of personal estate by John Walker, Abraham Bigelow and Benjamin Peirce. Amount £144-18-2. No mention of names of heirs.

Children:

275. 1. MARY, b. April 1, 1739. Bond's Watertown, p. 38, says she m. June 15, 1756, Moses Bigelow, bapt. in Weston, Mass., May 3, 1730, and gives her the following family. The Bigelow Fam. Gen. gives the same family with the exception of the marriages of her daughters, Mary and Eunice. The only evidence that has been found to connect the family of Moses Bigelow with the family of Ebenezer Hammond is the appearance of his brother, Abraham's, signature in the settlement of Ebenezer's estate.

Children:

- a. MARY. *(Bigelow) bapt. May 14, 1758; m. April 29, 1779, Jonathan Stearns, of Walthan, Mass.
- b. SAMUEL, (Bigelow) bapt. Aug. 30, 1761.
- c. MOSES, (Bigelow) bapt. Aug. 5, 1764.
- d. EUNICE, (Bigelow) bapt. May 22, 1768; m. April 24, 1788, Joseph Moss, of Natick, Mass.

276. 2. THANKFUL, b. Aug. 4, 1740; d. 1741.
277. 3. GARFIELD, b. Oct. 31, 1741; d. Nov. 21, 1741.

(V) MARY HAMMOND, (Thomas^4) b. Watertown, Mass., Feb. 4, 1715; d. Waltham, Mass.; m. Jan. 24, 1734, John Lawrence, b. Feb. 20, 1704; d. Aug. 23, 1770, son of George, Jr., and Mary (———)Lawrence, of Waltham, Mass.

(*Bigelow Fam. Gen. says Mary probably m. Benj. Mills of Needham, and that Eunice probably m. James Shepard of Newton, Mass.) There seems to be little evidence that this was the same Mary Hammond. A Mary Hammond who is un-accounted for m. July 29, 1756, David Smith, of Sudbury, Mass.

Children:

278. 1. Anna, (Lawrence) b. Jan. 30, 1735; m. April 1, 1756, Edward Harrington.
279. 2. Sarah, (Lawrence) b. July 21, 1737; m. June 15, 1762, Josiah Whitney.
280* 3. John, (Lawrence) b. Nov. 30, 1740.
281. 4. Abigail, (Lawrence) b. Dec. 6, 1744; m. June 7, 1763, Jonathan Fisher.
282. 5. Phineas, (Lawrence) b. Feb. 19, 1749.

(V) Jonathan Hammond, (Thomas[4]) b. Watertown, Mass., Jan. 13, 1717; d. Waltham, Mass., March 9, 1776; m. 1st, Nov. 23, 1738, Judith Stearns, b. Jan. 1, 1716; d. 1749, dau. of George and Hannah (Sanderson) Stearns, of Lexington, Mass.; m. (2) May 1, 1750, Lydia Stratton, b. July 22, 1722; d. Oct. 2, 1771, dau. of Joseph and Sarah (Hager) Stratton, of Waltham, Mass. He m. (3) Hannah ——. Perhaps Hannah, widow of Jonas Priest, and mother of Jonas and Job Priest, who are mentioned in his will.

His will, (Middlesex Probate No. 7153,) dated Feb. 7, 1776, proved March 27, 1776, gives to wife, Hannah, use of his house until the 20th of April next; the sum of £4 to be paid her within one year, "and the agreement made between us before our marriage to be fulfilled." Son, Jonathan, to have land with buildings thereon, south of road leading to "Capefare," so-called, and land bought of Daniel Bond and Thomas Parks together with about 3 acres of saltmarsh in Watertown. To son, Jonathan, husbandry utensils, horse kine, ox kine and 5 cows. His choice of 1 swine, 1 bed, the arms and ammunition and wearing apparel. Also pew in meeting house. When he arrives at the age of 21 years he shall pay to my grandson, Jonathan Felch, £100 and one year later to his sisters Ruth, Elizabeth and Lydia Hammond, the sum of £80 to be equally divided between them. If Jonathan Felch dies then he is to pay to his sisters £50, more to be equally divided.

If son, Jonathan, dies in his minority or without issue, the estate to be divided between his three sisters equally, they to pay to Jonathan Felch £140, at his majority, and also to daughter, Eunice Warren, £5 per annum during life and to Samuel Jones and her other children £80 at her decease.

To daughters Ruth, Elizabeth and Lydia all other lands north of road formerly belonging to Joseph Hastings, and about 5 acres formerly of Capt. John Brown, and balance of cattle, household furniture, etc.

My will is that Mrs. Hastings remain a widow 4 years and pay £46 for a quit claim of right in the estate which she now improves, but if she shall marry sooner she is to pay the £46, and have the quit claim as above.

Gives to Jonas Priest and Job Priest sums which they owe him.

Lands in Leominster to be improved by my executors until the decease of my daughter, Eunice Warren, then to be divided between Samuel Jones and her other children. If daughter, Eunice, and her son, Samuel Jones, die leaving no issue their legacies to be divided among other heirs.

To daughter, Lydia, £20, to be used during her minority.

Friend Leonard Williams and beloved son-in-law, Ephraim Hammond, Exec. Esquire Williams to be guardian of son, Jonathan, and Ephraim Hammond of daughter, Lydia.

Jonathan Hammond

Witnesses: Isaac Parkhurst, Isaac Parkhurst, Jr., and Jacob Cushing.

Inventory by Jacob Bigelow, Elijah Livermore and John Clark, April 3, 1776:

Personal estate £1022-19-11.
Real Estate:
Place where Jonas Priest now lives, £792.
Where Wid. Mary Hastings lives, £460.
Place in Leominster, Co. of Worcester, about 100 acres, £100.

Real estate to son Jonathan, Homestead £905, land formerly of Daniel Bond and Thomas Parks £225, saltmarsh in Watertown £40, pew in meeting house £16. Real estate to three daughters, 46 acres with house and barn £460, 9 acres formerly of Joseph Hastings £40, 5 acres formerly of Capt. Brown, £60. Total, £2994.

Nov. 12, 1783, a partial settlement of the estate shows the names of Phineas Hammond, Nehemiah and Avis Monroe, Peter and Anna Harrington, Samuel Jones, Thomas Harrington, estate of Joseph Harrington, Joseph Stratton, Adm. and others as heirs to whom money had been paid. The final accounting is dated April 13, 1791. The papers in the settlement of this estate present a long list of names of great geneological interest.

Jonathan Hammond was selectman in Waltham from 1765 to 1774 and a very prominent man in town.

(VI) Thomas Hammond, (Thomas^5) b. Waltham, Mass., June 2, 17[illegible]; d. Waltham, Mass., Jan. 9, 1756.

Th[illegible] is nothing to show that he was married or left a family Administration on his estate, (Middlesex Probate, No. 7163,) was granted to his father, Thomas Hammond, Jr., of Waltham, March 22, 1756. Bond of Thomas Hammond; George Adams, surgeon, of Waltham, and Joseph Sherman, of Sudbury, sureties. These are all the papers on file and no heirs are named.

(VI) Ruth Hammond, (Thomas^5) bapt. Waltham, Mass., Sept. 23, 1734; m. May 23, 1754, Joshua Garfield, b. —— —, 1727; d. Sept. 28, 1795, son of Lieut. Thomas and Mercy (Bigelow) Garfield.

Children:

304. 1. Aaron, (Garfield) b. March 27, 1755; d. Jan., 1757.
305. 2. Mary, (Garfield) b. Jan. 19, 1757; d. Dec. 22, 1794.
306. 3. Ruth, (Garfield) b. March 13, 1759; m. David Rice.
307. 4. Anna, (Garfield) b. April 8, 1761; m. Jonathan Wellington.

311. 8. Lucy, (Garfield) b. May 9, 1770.
312. 9. Esther, (Garfield) b. July 5, 1773.

(VI) David Hammond, (Thomas^5) bapt. Waltham, Mass., Jan. 23, 1737; m. Mary ——.

David probably married in Lancaster, Mass., as he is said to have removed from there to Rindge, N. H., where he was living in 1766. He was constable in Rindge in 1771 and a prominent man in the town, owning some of the best land in the town.

April 9, 1769, he and wife, Mary, sold, for the sum of £240, to Daniel Lake, of Topsfield, land in Rindge, being Lot 14, in the 9th Range and one-fourth of Lot 15, in the same

Range, "being ye southeast quarter and also all ye land that lyeth on the North side of Pool pond."

The deed (Cheshire Co., N. H., Registry of Deeds, Lib. 4, fol. 150,) is signed by David and Mary Hammond, and witnessed by Moses Barron and Enoch Hale.

He appears to have left town soon after this, although he is said to have been a Revolutionary soldier. He is said to have left Rindge about 1773. A David Hammond appears to have settled in Derryfield (now Manchester, N. H.,) at about that time, but no positive trace has been found of this family after the Revolution, and he may have been a Tory and fled to Canada.

Children:

313. 1. Ruth, bapt. in Rindge, N. H., 1766.
314. 2. Thomas, bapt. in Rindge, N. H., 1766.

Oct. 23, 1793, dau. of Jonathan and Judith (Stearns) Hammond. He m. (2) May 22, 1794, Polly Cooke, of Watertown, by whom he had no children. She was a widow and had a son, Caleb Cooke, who was under age at the time of Ephraim's death in 1802.

Ephraim Hammond

He was a wealthy farmer in Waltham. His will, (Middlesex Probate, No. 7145,) dated March 23, 1802, proved May 5, 1802, gives to son, David, $666.66, one-half to be paid him at age and the other half after the death of the widow. To daughters, Nancy, Polly, Sally and Hannah $333.33 each at age or marriage. If any child die their portion be equally divided among the living children. To Caleb Cook, son of his wife by her former marriage, $80 to clothe him until his apprenticeship expires. Residue of estate to his son, Jacob Hammond, who is named as sole executor. The will was made on his death-bed and is signed with his mark. It is witnessed by Jonathan Hammond, Tilley M. Piper and Abner Sanderson May 15, 1802, Jacob Hammond, of Cambridge, applied to the Court for the appointment of Jonathan Coolidge as Adm. on his father's estate. He was appointed administrator with the will annexed. Bond signed by Jacob Hammond, Jonathan Coolidge and Jonathan Hammond, and witnessed by Abner Sanderson and James Winthrop.

Inventory, May 25, 1802, by Abner Sanderson, Jonathan Hammond and David Stearns shows personal estate $1,303.92, real estate $5,600.00. Total $6,903.92. Inventory of real estate shows homestead consisting of dwelling house, barns and about 120 acres of land, bounded N. by lands of William Brown, Joel Dix and Jeduthan Wellington, E. by Wellington and a "town way," S. and W. by "town way" and land of Christopher Gore, $4,400.00. The "Mixer field," so-called, 5 acres, N. by "town way," E. by Est. of William Clark, W. by Jonathan Coolidge, $300.00. "East Parkhurst" tract. 7 acres, "West Parkhurst" tract, 7 acres, each, $420.00. "Peach Orchard," 1 acre, $60.00.

Lands were set off to the widow, Mary Hammond, by the appraisers, and the results were concurred in by Jacob Hammond and Mary Hammond, June 8, 1802. Guardianship of Polly (Mary) and Sally Hammond, over 14 years of age, to Jonathan Coolidge, May 4, 1804, at which time the estate was still unsettled.

William Hammond

The following from a newspaper clipping of 1860, is a fair sketch of his life:

> "In Neponset, Sept. 2, Dea. William Hammond, 67. Dea. H. was born in Waltham. In his youth he removed to Boston where he attended the ministry of Rev. Dr. Sharpe. It was there that he was aroused to a sense of his condition as a sinner, and by grace enabled him to receive the Saviour as his own. Soon after this he came to Dorchester and united with the Second Congregational Church, (Dr. Codman's.) Sometime after the organization of the Baptist Church in Neponset Village, he united with it, having been baptized by Rev. Bradley Miner, who was then pastor. He has ever since been a most faithful and consistant member of the church, possessing the esteem and confidence not only of christians, but of all with whom he associated, or with whom he had dealings. He was a man of eminent prudence and integrity, true humility, and sincerity, seeming to be just what he was and being just what he seemed to be, 'a good man and just.' For several years he has served the church faithfully in the office of Deacon. He leaves a companion, three children, one grandchild and an aged mother. His family, the church and the community in which he lived, have sustained a loss which will long be felt and mourned."

He was a carriage maker and painter. His remains were placed in the Abraham Howe tomb.

Children:

(VII) Jonathan Hammond, (Jonathan^6) b. Waltham, Mass., July 8, 1793; d. Woburn, Mass., Jan. 21, 1880; m. Oct. 11, 1820, Mary Ann Clapp, b. April 17, 1796; d. June 1, 1875, dau. of Joseph and Abigail (Humphrey) Clapp, of Dorchester, Mass.

When a young man he learned the carriage and harness makers trade, which were as one in those days. About 1817 he moved to Dorchester, Mass., where in that part of the town known as Neponset, he established a carriage and harness manufactory in company with his brother, William, and continued at this location for about 30 years. Among his many patrons and friends was Daniel Webster, who made frequent stops while driving from Boston to his home in Marshfield. Oct. 11, 1820, he was married to Mary Ann Clapp, of Dorchester, who was a descendant of Capt. Roger, and also of Nicholas Clapp, the early settlers of Dorchester. On the same day her sister, Hannah, was married to John Tolman, the double wedding being quite an event in Dorchester, all the parties being well known and popular. After residing in Dorchester about 30 years they removed to Woburn, following their eldest son, Joseph, who had located there. They located on Auburn St., where they spent the remainder of their days.

Jonathan Hammond was a man who commanded universal respect; a typical gentleman of the old school; moderate in his movements, of exemplary habits; honest, straight-forward, consciencious, careful of his language, temperate in all things. He died at the ripe old age of 86 years and 7 months, leaving a stainless and honorable name.

The following account of the celebration of the golden wedding of this worthy couple is copied from the "Middlesex County Journal," (Woburn) issue of Oct. 15, 1870:

GOLDEN WEDDING.

"A very interesting occurrence transpired on Tuesday evening last at the residence of Mr. Jonathan Hammond. This being the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. Hammond and wife, their friends to the number of thirty assembled to celebrate the golden wedding of the venerable pair. They were married at Dorchester, by the late Rev. John Codman, D. D., and among the guests were several from Dorchester, where Mr. Hammond's family resided. Among these was Mrs. Tolman, a sister of Mrs. Hammond's, who was married the same evening. Remarks were made by Rev. J. H. Means and Rev. Mr. Clapp, of Dorchester, and prayer offered by Rev. S. R. Dennen, of Woburn. Mr. Hammond responded very happily to the address of his friends. Some beautiful and valuable presents were donated. On the occasion of the wedding, which was a double one, Rev. Dr. Codman composed a hymn which was sung to the tune of "Ganges," an air familiar in those days. Last Tuesday evening it was sung again. The verses we give below:

"Composed at the wedding of Mr. John Tolman to Miss Hannah Clapp, and Mr. Jonathan Hammond to Miss Mary Ann Clapp, by their friend and pastor, John Codman.

Great source of being, mighty God,
Look down from Heaven thy high abode,
And graciously bestow,
Thy blessings on th' united pair,
Who now have both engaged to share
Each others lot below.

For them thy throne we would address,
O! with thy gracious bounty bless,
Their basket, and their store,
And while thy Providence imparts
Their daily mercies, give them hearts,
Thy goodness to adore.

Let smiling health their paths attend,
Their dwellings from alarm defend,
And be their constant Guard.
Thy presence here on earth bestow,
And when they've served him here below
Be thou their great reward.

For death will soon with icy hand,
Enforce the dread, but just command,
And cut the tenderest ties.
United in the bonds of love,
And nurtured for the joys above
May they to glory rise."

(VII) Horatio Hammond, (Jonathan[6]) b. Dorchester, Mass., Oct. 14, 1798; d. St. George's, Bermuda, Dec. 13, 1889; m. Boston, Mass., Nov. 20, 1866, Ada F. Hunt, b. 1839, dau. of Nehemiah and Susan (———) Hunt. She died shortly after marriage, leaving no issue.

In his younger days he was in poor health and after a venture in the dry-goods business he sailed for France for the benefit of his health. While in that country he made his home in the family of a vineyard owner, and upon his return a vessel was fitted out with a cargo of wines. Upon his arrival at Boston he disposed of the cargo at so great advantage that subsequent shipments followed.

He became a great traveler for those days, visiting various parts of Europe and making many voyages. After 1852 he made his home in Bermuda during the winter months, returning to Boston and Neponset each spring.

He was a man of sterling integrity and highly respected by all who knew him. The following account of his death and burial is taken from the "Bermuda Royal Gazette" of Dec. 17, 1889:

> "The late Horatio Hammond, of Boston, U. S.—With much regret we have to record the death of the above named gentleman, who died at the Globe Hotel, St. George's, on Friday morning, the 13th instant, at the advanced age of 91 years and 2 months. For many years Mr. Hammond has made Bermuda his winter residence, finding its climate more genial than that of other lands to which he had frequently resorted in search of health. His first visit here was in 1852, and he was therefore well known by the whole community. Possessing a character remarkable for refinement and urbanity secured for him many warmly attached friends. Throughout his illness he has been the perfection of patience, gentleness and resignation.
> His remains were followed to their final resting place by the United States Consular Agent, the French and German Vice Consuls, the Mayor of St. George's, the Assistant Receiver General, and a large number of other officials and friends.
> The flags of the Consulates, the Corporation flag and those throughout the town generally, were displayed at half mast as a tribute of respect to the deceased."

(VIII) Hon. John M. Hammond, (Jonathan[7]) b. South Bainbridge, N. Y., Jan. 23, 1811; d. Friendship, N. Y., March 10, 1887; m. March 3, 1831, Eliza A. Gillett, b. Oct. 1809, dau. of David and Susan (Clark) Gillett, descended from the French Huguenots who settled in Conn. at an early date. When he was seventeen years of age his father gave him his time and such was his thrift that at the age of twenty he had saved enough to justify him in taking a wife and seeking his fortune in what was then the wilds of western New York. In 1831, he with his parents removed to Caneadea, Allegany Co., N. Y. In March, 1832, both families removed to Hume, purchasing a tract of fine farming land on the Genesee river. Here he made his home until he was stricken with paralysis in 1883, when he made his home with his children until the time of his death. He was a sincere christian, a strong advocate of the temperance cause. At the age of nineteen he, with a few other young men, formed the first temperance society in the locality. In politics he was an old line whig, going from that party over the Free Soil bridge into Republicanism. An ardant politician, a strong party man, he was in politics as in every other relation of life, an incorruptably honest, God-fearing man. In 1849, he took a contract for the construction of four miles of the Genesee Valley Canal, which he completed in the following year. In 1851 he was appointed Superintendent of the canal, which office he held for three years, discharging the duties thereof in a thoroughly honorable manner.

During the civil war he took an active part in sending men to the front, and one son gave his life at Malvern Hill. He was elected Supervisor of his town many times, was Member of Assembly in 1858, and delegate to the State Constitutional Convention in 1867. In 1868 he was nominated by the Republican State Convention for the office of Canal Commissioner, but with the balance of the ticket was defeated in the election. He died at the residence of his youngest son, Charles H. Hammond, in Friendship, N. Y., at the ripe age of seventy-six.

(VIII) JOSEPH WILLIAM HAMMOND, (Jonathan[7]) b. Dorchester, Mass., Oct. 25, 1821; d. Woburn, Mass., Dec. 6, 1896; m. Aug. 20, 1851, Elizabeth Putnam Smith, b. Salem, Mass., Jan. 13, 1829, dau. of Augustus Putnam and Eliza W. (Upton) Smith, of Salem, Mass.

He attended the public schools in Dorchester and later graduated from the New Ipswich, N. H., Academy. After graduation he taught penmanship in the Academy; also at Salem and Lynn, until poor health required a change of occupation. In 1850 he was advised by his Lynn physician to remove from the coast, which he did, locating at Woburn, where he continued to reside until his death. In 1851 he started in the clothing business in an old building which stood where the First National Bank building now stands. In 1856, upon completion of the Lyceum Building, he moved into the store now occupied by his son and continued in the business there until a few years prior to his death when he retired from active business, being succeeded by his son, who had been for some years a partner under the firm name of Hammond & Son.

Mr. Hammond, while living in his native town, was a member of the militia. He was Lieutenant of the Company. In 1852–3 he was clerk of the school district in Woburn, and in 1857 he was treasurer of the relief fund. He was one of the organizers of the Co-operative Bank of which he was Vice President, and also one of the investment committee.

In the early days of the Republican party he was treasurer of its town committee. A member of the First Unitarian Parish he was an active worker, and treasurer for fifteen years. He was a life member of the American Unitarian Association. He was for many years president of the Woburn Lyceum Hall Association. When the war broke out in 1861 his health precluded him from enlisting but his patriotism and loyalty found expression in untiring effort in behalf of the families of the soldiers, many of whom he assisted. Mr. Hammond, at the time of his death, enjoyed the distinction of being the oldest business man in Woburn in length of continuous service, and as a mark of respect nearly every business house in the city was closed during the hours of his funeral, which occurred from his late residence on Hammond Square, on Wednesday, Dec. 9, 1896, Rev. Henry C. Parker, of the Unitarian Church, officiating.

"At a special meeting of the Directors of Woburn Co-operative Bank, held Dec. 7, 1896, the following resolutions were passed."

> "RESOLVED, That in the death of our late associate, Joseph W. Hammond, the Directors lose a genial and painstaking associate, and the Bank a faithful and efficient officer. One who has been identified with the Bank since its organization, ever willing to give the fullest extent of his time and advice toward the building up of this institution, which has been such a benefit to this community. The directors desire to tender to the family of the late Mr. Hammond their heartfelt sympathy in this hour of their bereavement.
> VOTED: That these resolutions are spread upon the records of the Bank; that a copy of them be sent to the bereaved family and that copies be given to the two local papers for publication."
> (Signed) For the Directors,
> A. W. WHITCHER, Sec'y.

(IX) Winthrop Hammond, (Joseph W.[8]) b. Woburn, Mass., Nov. 23, 1863; m. Feb. 25, 1886, Adelaide Louise Rogers, b. Chelsea, Mass., Jan. 22. 1864, dau. of James E. and Adelaide L. (Downing) Rogers. He was educated in the Woburn public schools and Burdett College, Boston. When about 17 years of age he engaged in business with his father and within a very few years assumed its entire management. In 1880 he became a partner and at the death of his father in 1896, he became sole owner, continuing the business under the name of Hammond & Son. In 1899 he purchased a large store at Pawtucket, R. I., which was run in connection with the Woburn business, but poor health demanded its disposal a year later. The Woburn store celebrated its 50th anniversary in 1901. Mr. Hammond has always declined public office, but is closely identified with the progress of his native city. He has been Treasurer of the Woburn Lyceum Hall Association since 1881. Is one of the Trustees, and a member of the Board of Investment of the Woburn Savings Bank, and a director of the Woburn Co-operative Bank. Is Vice-President of the Towanda Club, the leading social organization. He is a member of Mt. Horeb Lodge, F. & A. M.; Woburn Royal Arch Chapter; Hugh de Payens Commandry of Knights Templar, of Melrose, Mass., also of Crystal Fount Lodge, I. O. O. F.; the N. E. Hist. Gen. Society, of Boston; the Society of Colonial Wars, etc. He is an attendant at the Unitarian church of which he has been Treasurer several years. Mrs. Hammond's father, James E. Rogers, was a native of Bath, England; her mother, Adelaide L. Downing, was born in New York.

DAVID HAMMOND,

OF WATERTOWN, MASS.

(IV) David Hammond, (Thomas^3) b. Watertown, Mass., Nov. 23, 1690; d. Rowley, Mass., Sept. 22, 1765; m. (1), July 11, 1719, Mary Platts, b. Rowley, Mass., June 29, 1684, dau. of Samuel and Philippa (Felt) Platts, of Rowley, Mass. She d. March, 1747, and he m. (2), Aug. 6, 1748, Elizabeth Platts, b. Feb. 8, 1699, dau. of Moses and Hannah (Platts) Platts, by whom he had no children. David was a farmer living near the boundry line between Ipswich and Rowley and there was a continual controversy between the towns of Rowley and Ipswich as to which town the farm belonged in. This controversy was not finally settled until some years after his death, when on May 5, 1784, this farm then occupied by his son, David, was "sett off" to Rowley. On this account the children of this family were some of them recorded in both towns, while some appear only on the church records of Rowley, where David belonged. It is possible that he had other children of whom no record is now to be found. His son, Jonathan, probably never married as no record of his marriage or family can be found.

Children :

543* 1. David, b. Aug. 17, 1720.
544. 2. Jonathan, b. about 1723 ; d. July 26, 1763.
545. 3. Mary, b. about 1726 ; bapt. May 5, 1728.
546* 4. Sarah, b. Feb. 15, 1728.
547* 5. Phineas, b. about 1730 ; bapt. Sept. 7, 1731.
548* 6. Joanna, b. about 1735; bapt. June 24, 1739.

(V) David Hammond, Jr., (David[4]) b. Rowley, Mass., Aug. 17, 1720 ; d. Rowley, Mass., Jan. 3, 1797 ; m. (1), Sept. 17, 1743, Susanna Harris, d. Dec. 31, 1780 ; m. (2) Dec. 1, 1782, Mrs. Elizabeth Wood. He was her third husband. Her first husband was Isaac Burpee, who died before 1771. She married 2d, Sept. 9, 1771, Thomas Wood, who died May 20, 1779. She died in Rowley, Oct. 21, 1815, aged 92 years. David Hammond, Jr., was a prominent and active citizen of Rowley, taking an active interest in the affairs, both civil and military. He was a soldier in the French war. His name is found in the list of Capt. John Northend's Co., May 16, 1757. (Mass. Arch. Muster Rolls, Vol. 95, p. 378.) He is also credited with 18 months and 15 days service as a private in Capt. William Angier's Co. from April 6, 1759 to Sept. 5, 1760. (Mass. Arch. Muster Rolls, Vol. 98, p. 167.) He also served a short time in the Revolutionary War as a private in Capt. Robert Dodge's Co., Col. Ebenezer Francis' Regt., Nov. 29, 1776. (See Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in War of Revolution.)

Children:

549* 1. Phineas, b. Aug. 2, 1744.
550* 2. Mary, b. Feb. 26, 1746.

556* 8. David, b. Nov. 13, 1757.

(V) Sarah Hammond, (David^4) bapt. Feb. 12, 1727-28; m. Jan. 10, 1746, Joseph Treadwell, of Ipswich, b. Feb. 3, 1716-17; d. before 1764. He removed to Dracut, Mass., in 1752, but no records of the family can be found there. His widow was living in Newburyport in 1769, and sold land in Ipswich, Rowley and Newburyport in that year. The one hundred acres of land which Joseph purchased in Dracut, was mortgaged in 1752 to David Hammond of Ipswich. She m. (2) in Newburyport, Mass., about 1769, —— Davis, by whom she had one child.

Children b. in Ipswich;

557. 1. Joseph, (Treadwell) bapt. March 5, 1748.
558. 2. Elizabeth, (Treadwell) bapt. March 5, 1748.
559* 3. Sarah, (Treadwell) bapt. March 5, 1748-9.
560. 4. Mary, (Treadwell) bapt. July 7, 1751.

By 2d husband:

561* 5. Anna, (Davis) b. Newburyport, Mass., 1771.

(V) Phineas Hammond, (David^4) bapt. Sept. 7, 1731); m. Feb. 28, 1753, Sarah Lewis of Gloucester.

548

(V) Joanna Hammond, (David^4) b. about 1735; bapt. Rowley, Mass., June 24, 1739; d. Sutton, Mass.; m. Dec. 29, 1757 (published in Ipswich, Sept. 14, 1757), Amos Parsons, of Gloucester, Mass. They settled in Sutton, Mass., prior to 1770, and there one child was born. They removed to the town of Ward, (now Auburn,) Mass., where he was living when he enlisted in the Revolutionary army, serving for the town of Oxford, where his family lived a few years later. He d. before 1781 as his widow m. Samuel Baker, of Charlton, Mass., May 3, 1781.

Amos Parsons was one of the appraisers of the estate of Joshua Prime, deceased, in Sutton, appointed July 25, 1770.

Children:

562. 1. Amos, (Parsons) b. about 1760; m. July 5, 1781, Mrs. Abigail Parker, of Oxford.

Children b. Auburn, Mass.;

a. Bettee, (Parsons) b. June 18, 1782.
b. Amos, (Parsons) b. Jan. 12. 1785.

563. 2. Elizabeth, (Parsons) b. about 1764; m. Feb. 21, 1785, Daniel Dodge, of Oxford, Mass.
564. 3. Joanna, (Parsons) b. Aug. 16, 1772.

(VI) Phineas Hammond, (David^5) b. Rowley, Mass., Aug. 2, 1844; m. Sarah ——. They settled in Hopkinton, N. H., where his sisters Joanna and Mary also resided.

Children:

572. 1. David, b. in Hopkinton, N. H., October 13, 1784. (There were other children but no connected account of his descendants can be obtained, although there are known to be some descendants now living).

550

(VI) Mary Hammond, (David^5) b. Rowley, Mass., Feb. 26, 1746. She was living, un-married, in Hopkinton, N. H., a few years prior to 1800, and was a member of the Congregational Church there.

(VI) Thomas Hammond, (David^5) b. Rowley, Mass., June 11, 1747; d. Dunbarton, N. H., June 8, 1827; m. 1773, Esther Dole, b. Dunbarton, N. H.; dau. of Nathan and Phebe Dole, of Rowley, Mass. She was a descendant of Richard Dole, who came from Bristol, England, in 1639, and married Hannah Rolfe, dau. of Wid. Honour Rolfe, of Rowley. Her grandfather was Dr. John Dole, of Rowley, b. Feb. 10, 1760, who was a Revolutionary soldier in Capt. Stephen Kent's Co. from Nov. 1, to Dec. 9, 1775. Nathan Dole and wife Phebe were admitted to Rowley church March 14, 1756. Thomas Hammond and his brother, John, settled in Newburyport, Mass., where his son, Jonathan, was born in 1774, but he evidently returned to Rowley soon afterwards, as the births of Esther and John are found on Rowley town records. He enlisted first in Capt. Moses Nowell's Co. which marched from Newburyport, on Lexington Alarm, April 19, 1775. (See Putnam's Magazine, Vol. 3, p. 12.) He had evidently settled in Dunbarton, N. H., before April 27, 1777, when he enlisted as a private in Capt. Amos Morrill's Co., Col. John Stark's Regiment in which he saw most of his Revolutionary service. (See N. H. State Papers, Vol. 14, p. 603.)

After his service on the Lexington Alarm, he re-enlisted Aug. 1, 1775, in Capt. Ezra Lunt's Co., Col. Moses Little's (17th) Regiment, in which he saw some active service. (See Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in War of Revolution.) He is said to have been with Col. Stark at the battle of Bennington. He was an ingenious pump maker, and laid the first acqueducts in the town of Dunbarton, some of which were in use fifty years after he laid them. (Hist. of Dunbarton, by Caleb Stark, Pub. 1860.) His descendants are still quite numerous in Dunbarton, N. H., and are among the most prominent people of the town.

Children :

573* 1. JONATHAN, b. Oct. 5, 1774.
574* 2. ESTHER, b. June 23, 1776.

583* 10. NATHANIEL, b. March 4, 1792.
584* 11. TIMOTHY, b. Aug. 27, 1797.

(VI) JOHN HAMMOND, (David^5) b. Rowley, Mass., Feb. 8, 1751; m. published April 3, 1774, Margaret George, of Newburyport, Mass. John enlisted as a private in Captain Moses Nowell's company, which marched from Newburyport, Mass., April 19, 1775, on the Lexington alarm. (Putnam's Magazine, vol. 3, p. 12.) He is said to have been killed in action at the battle of Bunker Hill. His widow m. 2d, Oct. 30, 1779, Peter Merick, of Newburyport. It is not known that he left children.

554

(VI) SARAH HAMMOND, (David^5) b. Rowley, Mass., Dec. 2, 1752; d. Dunbarton, N. H.; m. June 14, 1774, Samuel Lord, 4th, of Ipswich, Mass. They removed to Dunbarton, N. H., a few years later, and many of their descendants still live in that town.

Children:

(VI) David Hammond, (David^5) b. Rowley, Mass., Nov. 13, 1757; d. Bow, N. H., Dec., 1840; m. (1), March 21, 1777, Patience Harris, of New Salem, N. H. She was his cousin. She d. about 1790, leaving two or three children. There is said to have been two daughters, but the name of only one has been found. He m. (2), about 1791, Hannah Eastman, b. Oct. 13, 1769; d. July 19, 1844, dau. of Stephen and Anna (Colby) Eastman, of Bow, N. H. Her parents afterwards removed to Sutton, Vt. She was probably a descendant of Anthony Colby, the early settler of Salisbury, Mass. David left Rowley before, or about the time of his marriage, which appears on the town records of Rowley and also in Book A of the town records of Salem, N. H. Many of the early records of Salem, N. H., were destroyed or mutilated. A former town clerk, Mr. James Ayer, who now (1897), resides at Salem Depot, while holding the office arranged and copied all of the fragments of early records he could find and now has in his possession a volume MS. labeled "Scraps of Record" from which he sends me the following: "Nov. 22, 1777. A warrant delivered to Henry Sanders, constable, to warn out of this town David Hammond, who came from the town of Ipswich, in the County of Essex, in the State of Massachusetts Bay, sometime in the last of April or the first of May." Mr. Ayer adds in a note "There is no disgrace attaching to this action as it was the custom for years to thus warn all who came into town, so if they should ever become a public charge the expense would be on the County and not on the town. In this way many of the best citizens were warned out of town. He enlisted in the Revolutionary army from Salem, N. H. Was mustered in by Lt. Col. Jacob Gale for the town of Plaistow, July 21, 1779, and was a private in the 4th Co., 3d N. H. Regt. under Col. Alexander Scammell. (See, N. H. State Papers Vol. 15, pp. 623, 629, 641, 730.) He continued in the service until the close of the war and received a pension until his death in 1840. In the spring of 1791 he purchased the farm now owned by his grandson, Charles F. Hammond, near Woodhill in Bow where he lived until his death.

He removed with his family from Bow, N. H., to Northfield in 1841, and bought a fine intervale farm from Thomas Austin, on which he begun the cultivation of hops, which were sold in Boston market at a good price. He continued hop raising for some years and erected a large two-story house and out-buildings upon the place. For many years he was considered one of the most level-headed men of the town and his judgment on business matters was much sought after by his brother townsmen. He served the town as tax collector and held various offices of trust. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson were faithful members of the Congregational Church at Sanbornton Bridge, (now Tilton, N. H.) and drove regularly on the Sabbath to that place for divine worship, the distance being about six miles.

(VIII) Dr. Evan Bartlett Hammond, (Nathan7) b. Bridgewater, N. H., Oct. 16, 1815; d. Nashua, N. H., June 7, 1887; m. Dec. 23, 1841, Sarah Ann Adams, b. Waltham, Mass., Dec. 12, 1816; d. Nashua, N. H., Jan. 15, 1898, dau. of Phinehas and Sarah W. (Barber) Adams. Doctor Hammond was a self made man, whose useful career emphasizes the possible attainment of those who possess courage and perseverance. He obtained all the knowledge possible in the district schools of his native place, and beyond that fought his way single-handed to graduation in the profession he had chosen for his life work. In his youth he had his every day task for a higher education, and finally studied medicine and surgery at New York, Boston, Dartmouth Medical college and Harvard Medical college, graduating at the latter in 1840 with the degree of M. D. He settled in Nashua immediately and steadily practiced his profession for more that forty years. Doctor Hammond, in his thorough knowledge of medicine and surgery, had practical and common sense method as well as a skillful and collegiate basis. He could read human nature " like a book " and was therefore enabled to prescribe effectively in all forms of disease and to all classes of patients. That he had the confidence of the people was recognized in a marked degree by the attorneys of the county, who sought him among the first as an expert witness in difficult cases, knowing that what Doctor Hammond said would be believed in preference to the testimony of college professors who had abundant theory and but limited practice. This was due, also, in a great measure, to the use of easy terms and a lucid explanation that was peculiarly his own method. He sought to make clear rather than make a mystery. He had an extensive and successful practice from which he retired some years before his death, mainly because of advancing age and a fracture of the bones of his leg which made it difficult for him to travel any great distance. Yet such was his reputation that, for several years after his retirement, his services were in frequent demand, especially among families within whose circles he had for many years been the trusted physician and faithful friend. He was an active member of the New Hampshire Medical Society. But Doctor Hammond was not alone a Nashua physician. He was an active man in the affairs of the town and later of the city. Good government, good schools, church privileges, progress in every department of human endeavor, banking and a hundred and one things that were of concern to a citizen claimed his attention and found him a wise supporter. He held town offices from time to time and represented it in the legislature in 1847 and 1848. When Nashua became a city in 1853 he sat in her first common council, and in 1866 and 1867 served on the board of aldermen. He was city physician in 1862, 1866 and 1867, and for many years was a member of the board of education. During Governor Berry's administration, in the exciting days of the civil war, he was commissioned examining surgeon for exemption from draft for Hillsborough county, and was later appointed United States examining surgeon in cases of application for pensions, a position which he held fifteen years to the entire satisfaction of the government and the veterans. Besides these public duties he was one of the inceptors and promoters of the Second National bank, serving on the board of directors for many years. He was also treasurer of the Mechanics Savings bank and so great was the confidence of the people in him, he invested safely, large sums of money for friends and acquaintances. At the time of his death he was president of the York Beach & Harbor railroad and of the Crosby Invalid Bed company. Doctor Hammond was united in marriage Dec. 23, 1841, with Sarah Ann Adams. Mrs. Hammond was born in Waltham, Mass., Dec. 12, 1816, (died Jan. 15, 1898, since the above was written.) She was a daughter of Phinehas Adams, born Sept. 14, 1789, and Sarah

W. (Barber) Adams, born May 28, 1790, a daughter of Hamblet Barber, born at Warrington, England. On the paternal side she is a decendant in the seventh generation from Henry Adams, who came to this country from Devonshire, England, in 1630. From Henry Adams fifteen generations to Ap Adam, of Wales, who "came out of the marshes of Wales, a frontier space," on which English troops were accustomed to march to repress incursions and cut off stragglers in 1220. Mrs. Hammond's lineage is one complete record to Ap Adam.

He was a prominent man in town; a manufacturer and business man. He was greatly interested in education and was for many years School Committee, remodeling and grading the schools and greatly improving them. In 1855 he bought a large tract of timber land in North Carolina to which place he removed and began lumbering on a large scale. After the breaking out of the Rebellion he was subjected to continual persecution and annoyance on account of having been from the North. When the Northern troops invaded that section he fared no better for they speedily appropriated his money and property and seized and imprisoned him as a rebel in spite of his protestations of loyalty. After being imprisoned about two months he succeeded in getting a letter through to his sister, Miss Clara Barton, of Red Cross fame, and through her intercession Gen. Butler sent for Capt. Barton and after hearing his story of wrongs promptly released him. His health had been undermined to such an extent that he soon died.

(VIII) Clarissa H. Barton, b. Oxford, Mass., Dec. 25, 1821; un-m, res. Washington, D. C.

Miss Clara Barton enjoys a world-wide reputation, which she justly deserves for her own untiring efforts have made the Red Cross Society a power for good the world over. She began teaching school at an early age and later entered the Liberal Institute at Clinton, N. Y., where she finished her education. She then went to Bordentown, N. J., where she opened a public free school, beginning with six pupils. The school soon grew to large proportions and the local authorities, taking up the matter, built a large new school house and inaugurated the free public school system with Miss Barton at the head of it. She soon had a large and flourishing school of over 600 pupils and employing eight teachers.

Her health failed and she was obliged to retire from the arduous labors of this position and seek a change of climate.

She then went to Washington, D. C., and after a time became a clerk in the Patent Office. She was retired from this position on the election of Buchanan for political reasons but was re-appointed by President Lincoln immediately on his election. At the breaking out of the civil war she began her career of nursing, caring for and relieving the wants of the sick and wounded soldiers, which work she continued throughout the war.

During the Franco-Prussian war she was with the German army, doing relief work among the sick and wounded and relieving the distress of the starving people after the fall of Strasburg.

She then went to Paris and aided in giving relief to the starving and distressed people of that city. In 1882 she succeeded in getting government recognition for the Red Cross society which resulted in international recognition and the ratification of treaties among all civilized nations which recognize the society and provide for the protection of those who carry its flag. Miss Barton has made her headquarters in Washington, D. C., for many years. She also has a residence at Dansville, N. Y.

(IX) Dr. Charles Bartlett Hammond, (Dr. Evan B.^{8}) b. Nashua, N. H., March 20, 1853; r. Nashua, N. H.; m. Oct. 16, 1883, Mary Louisa Tracy, b. Nov. 5, 1855, d. of Dr. William A. Tracy, of Nashua, N. H.

Doctor Hammond was educated in the public schools of Nashua, at Crosby's Literary Institute, and at Darmouth College, entering in 1873 and graduating in 1877 with the degree of A. B., and in 1880 that of A. M. He studied medicine at the Harvard Medical School, from which he was graduated in 1880 with the degree of M. D. Dr. Hammond succeeded his father, retaining office and patients. The public quickly discovered that he was a worthy successor of a physician and surgeon who had their confidence for more than four decades and the result is shown in the fact that his practice rapidly increased, until to-day there is not a busier man in his profession in the State or one who is more sought after as an expert witness before the courts, or for consultation in critical cases of both medicine and surgery.

Doctor Hammond, following in the footsteps of an honored sire, is an active man outside of his profession. He finds time to serve the public in many ways. He is a member of the Harvard Medical Alumni Association, a member and censor of the New Hampshire Medical Society, was secretary of the United States Board of Pension Examiners at Nashua from 1889 till 1893, and from 1897 to 1901 and a member of the Nashua Medical Association.

Dr. Hammond took an active and effective part, giving time, money and surgical instruments, in establishing the city emergency hospital; is a member of its executive committee and of its medical staff. He has served Hillsborough county four years as county physician, and Nashua as city physician and chairman of the board of health in 1894, doing the most effective work in its history in stamping out contagious diseases, and making a record as a conspicuous and efficient public official that was recognized by the city council by re-electing him to both positions for the year 1895.

Dr. Hammond was elected a member of the Board of Education in 1892 for a term ending in 1898, and is counted as one of the best informed and most enthusiastic educators in southern New Hampshire. He is in fact an enthusiast in school matters, and gives considerable of his time and attention to the study of the different methods of instruction in countries where the free school system prevails. He is quick to perceive and appreciate any improvement upon our own, and zealous in urging its adoption.

The zeal which he shows in looking after the welfare of the pupils is exhibited not less intensely in his efforts to aid in providing substantial and well appointed school houses. He was chairman of the sub-committee of the school board employed in the building of one of Nashua's most modern and approved school houses, and has been chairman of the text book committee for the last six years.

He is a member of Rising Sun Lodge, A. F. and A. M.; Meridan Royal Arch Chapter, St. George Commandery, K. T., and a Scottish Rite Mason of the 32d degree. Doctor Hammond attends the Pilgrim Congregational Church.

Jan. 30, 1713–'14,) Bridget Harris, dau. of Dea. Timothy and Phebe (Pearson) Harris, b. Dec. 17, 1692; d. 1731; m. 2d March 8, 1732, Mrs. Abigail (Hildreth) Chamberlain, widow of Thomas Chamberlain, of Littleton, and dau. of Joseph and Abigail Hildreth; b. Chelmsford, Mass., Oct. 20, 1691; d. Swanzey, N. H., Aug. 20, 1745. Two of her sons, John and Simeon Chamberlain, were living in Swanzey in 1742–3. (See Middlesex Deeds, Lib. 44, fol. 108.) She also had an older son, Thomas Chamberlain, who inherited the homestead at Littleton. M. 3d in Hardwick, Mass., Aug. 6, 1746, Mrs. Martha (Allis) Wells, b. in Hatfield, Mass., Nov. 19, 1703, dau. of Ichabod Allis, of Hatfield, and widow of John Wells, of Hardwick. She survived him and m. 3d July 19, 1758, Nathaniel Kellogg, of Hadley, Mass. She brought up her son Timothy Hammond in Hadley and he probably never had a permanent residence in Swanzey, although he was a large land owner there. The records of Hardwick show that Capt. Nathaniel Hammond formerly resided at Lower

Ashuelot, now Swanzey, N. H., and that the people were driven out by the Indians in 1747, as is stated in the Swanzey history. He evidently returned to Swanzey before 1753 as in that year he signed a petition to the legislature of the state in which he says that he has been improving the land in Swanzey "for the past 18 years."

Capt. Hammond lived in Ipswich, Mass., until 1724. Oct. 10, 1722, he sold to Jonathan Clark, of Rowley, a meadow in Rowley, called "Sachwell's meadow," for which he received the sum of £8. Bridget, his wife, gave up her right of dower in the same (Essex Deeds 42; 215) Nov. 12, 1722, in consideration of the sum of £1050, he conveyed "to my father, Timothy Harris, of Rowley," certain parcels of land in Ipswich, a portion of which was his part in the division with his brother David, and a part was land which his father bought of Jeremiah Nelson. His wife Bridget surrendered her right of Dower (Essex Deeds, 43; 60). Soon after this date he removed with his family to Littleton, Mass., where he continued to hold residence until 1730 or after. There is some uncertainty about his place of residence from this time until 1736, when he erected the first house in Lower Ashuelot, (now Swanzey) N. H. He held nominal residence in Littleton, however, as the records of the First Congregational church, of Littleton contain the following notice of the dismissal of Capt. Nathaniel and his son Jonathan "August, 1739; Capt. Hammond and his son Jonathan were dismissed to the church in Ashuelot." The proprietors records of Lower Ashuelot or Swanzey commence June 27, 1734, at Concord, Mass. "At a meeting of the proprietors of the Lower Township on the Ashuelot river held at the house of Ephraim Jones, innholder, in Concord, Mr. Nathaniel Hammond, of Littleton, was chosen moderator; Ephraim Jones, of Concord, chosen clerk and sworn." "Voted: that John Flint, Esq., of Concord, Mr. Joseph Hill, of Billerica, Mr. Eleazer Robbins, of Harvard, and Mr. Nathaniel Hammond, of Littleton, be a committee to manage the prudential affairs of said township."

At a meeting held at the house of Ephraim Jones, in Concord, Oct. 19, 1734, he was appointed on a committee "to lay out the interval land in the township into sixty-three equal lots." Each of these lots was numbered and the proprietors drew "lots" for their numbers. Nathaniel drew lot No. 18, for his son-in-law, (step-son) John Chamberlain; No. 27 for himself and No. 35 for his son, Jonathan.

"At a proprietors meeting held at the house of Capt. Nathaniel Hammond, in Lower Ashuelot, (Swanzey) Oct. 26, 1737, it was voted that Capt. Nathaniel Hammond, Benjamin Heywood, Charles Lumis, Samuel Hills and Thomas Cresson be a committee to lay out the fifth division of lots." This is the first house of which mention can be found in Swanzey. It stood where the house of Mrs. Woodcock now stands in Swanzey Center. "At a meeting held Dec. 28, 1738," the proprietors "Voted: to buy 18 lbs. of powder and 36 lbs. of lead, for a proprietors stock, which shall be left in the hands of Capt. Nathaniel Hammond."

At a meeting held Dec. 22, 1740, "Nathaniel Hammond, Abraham Graves and John Evans were chosen a committee to finish the fort which has been begun around Capt. Nathaniel Hammond's house." The Nathaniel first mentioned undoubtedly being his son, Nathaniel, Jr. His son, Jonathan, came to Swanzey with his father in 1735 or 36. The other sons followed at intervals of a few months or years, Thomas probably coming there about the time of his marriage. There is no record of his youngest daughter, Bridget, ever having been a resident in Swanzey, although two of her sons settled there and another owned land there. John is not mentioned in the "History of Swanzey" at all. Probably he never had a permanent residence there. Capt. Nathaniel became a large land owner, he and his sons owning at one time about three thousand acres of land in Swanzey, besides considerable tracts in other towns in N. H. and Vt.

In 1747 the inhabitants were all driven from their homes by Indians. They sunk their iron utensils in their wells or buried them and fled to Mass. for safety. The town was burned by the foe and many of the former inhabitants, having become discouraged by the frequent depredations of the savages, never returned. The Hammonds, however, soon returned with the exception of the two younger children, Oliver and Bridget, who sought a home with their uncle, David, and other kinsmen in Ipswich, where they remained. Nathaniel (who is always mention as "Capt." Nathaniel in the records of the period,) was a man of indomitable will and a natural born leader in every enterprise. He was essentially a pioneer and was one of ths most prominent men in the affairs of the early settlers. He was well educated for the time and an excellent penman, as is shown by records now extant. He was generally clerk of the proprietors meetings and served on nearly every committee chosen by the early settlers. (See "Hist. of Swanzey," by Col. Benjamin Read. "History of Gilsum," by Rev. Sylvanus Hayward, and N. H. Town Papers, State Paper series, Vol. 13.)

Sept. 22, 1744. Nathaniel Hammond, of Lower Ashuelot, in consideration of the sum of £175, paid by each of them, sold to Waitstill Hastings, of Hatfield, in the County of Hampshire, Province of Massachusetts, and Samuel Gaylord, of Hadley, in the same county, weaver; one lot of land, 16 acres, being in an intervail meadow called Hyponeeco, lying at lower end of meadow and on each side of River Ashuelot, it being No. 31, in the 3^d^ division of land in S^d^ town as it stands recorded in ye proprietor's book to Samuel Bacon. Another lot of 16 acres adjoining, being lot No. 32, as recorded to William Whittier, 100 acres adjoining the above lots recorded to Samuel Baron. Another lot of 16 acres, being No. 46, recorded to Ebenezer Connant; a house lot in town plot containing 6 acres, bounded S. by Wm. Carr, N. by Thomas Kendall, E. by meadow, W. by highway, being No. 61, as recorded to Thomas Slayten; a tract of 8 acres adjoining said house lot, being No. 59, recorded to John Tyler; 16 acres in Flat Intervail, being No. 23, of the 3^d^ division, recorded to John Lampson; another 16 acre lot, No. 24, recorded Charles Prescot; another 16 acre lot in Flat Intervail, No. 28, recorded to John Tyler, and lastly, 200 acres as pitched and laid out by ye proprietors, adjoining ye three last mentioned lots in Flat Intervail, 100 acres on the right of Ebenezer Connant and the other 100 acres on the right of John Tyler. His son Joseph Hammond was appointed to administer his estate as is shown by the early New Hampshire probate records in the vault, in the state library at Concord.

Province of New Hampshire:

At a Court of Probate held at Portsmouth, in and for said Province, on the 6th day of November, 1756, before the Hon^{l}. Richard Wibard, Esq., Judge of the Probate of Wills, &c., for said Province, administration of the estate of Nathaniel Hammond, late of Swanzey, in said Province, Yeoman, deceased, intestate, was granted to Joseph Hammond, of Swanzey, aforesaid, Yeoman, who gave bond according to the law. Letters of administration made out in common form.

Winchester, Nov. 20, 1756.

Province of New Hampshire:

Then within named Thomas Cresson and Samuel Belding appeared before me and made solemn oath that they would take a True Inventory of the Estate of the deceased within mentioned exhibited to them by the admr; that they would make a just and impartial appraisement thereof according to the best of their judgment and return the same with the within Warr't unto the Registry of the Court of Probate.

Attest: Josiah Willard, Jus. Peace.

The estate seems to have been amicably settled by the administrator who sold lands to several of the heirs, probably to raise funds to pay off other heirs, and no final accounting or other papers of the settlement are to be found on record. No mention can be found of any of the daughters in the settlement of the estate and it is probable that they received cash in full of their claims against their father's estate.

(V) Jonathan Hammond, (Nathaniel[4]) b. Ipswich, Mass., March 18, 1716; d. Swanzey, N. H., Sept. 16, 1777; m. Lunenburg, Mass., July 29, 1741, Abigail Hastings, d. Sept. 5, 1777, dau. of John and Sarah (Fiske) Hastings, of Lunenburg, and granddaughter of John and Abigail (Hammond) Hastings, of Watertown, Mass. He settled in Swanzey, N. H., in 1737 and had land granted him there. He also had land granted him in the towns of Errol and Claremont, N. H., and in several towns in Eastern Vermont. He took a very prominent part in the affairs of Swanzey and was a very prominent and influential man there as long as he lived. He was a soldier in the Indian wars, was corporal in Capt. Josiah Willard's Co. from June 25, 1749, to Oct. 16, 1749. (Mass. Arch. Muster Rolls Vol. 93, p. 34.) He kept the first public house in Swanzey on the Boston road.

He was town treasurer in 1768, '69, '70, '73 and '74, and moderator in 1768, '69, '70, '72 and '73. Being too old to serve in the war of the Revolution he hired a substitute for three years, whom he paid the sum of £78 for his service. (See Hist. Swanzey, p. 124.) He was a deacon of the Congregational Church in Swanzey for some years prior to his death. His gravestone in the old burial ground at Swanzey Centre bears the inscription, "Deacon Jonathan Hammond, died Sept. 16, 1777, in his 63d year."

(V) Dea. Thomas Hammond, (Nathaniel^4) b. Ipswich, Mass., Oct. 31, 1719; d. Swanzey, N. H., 1782; m. 1st in Brookfield, Mass., Aug. 21, 1741, Martha Olmsted, b. Brookfield, Mass.,Sept. 16, 1721, d. Swanzey, Jan. 3, 1744, dau. of Capt. Jabez and Thankful (Barnes) Olmsted. Her father was one of Capt. Wright's Co., May, 1709, in the Indian wars. He was also Captain of the 10th Co. in Col. Samuel Willard's 4th Mass. Regt. under Gen. Sir Wm. Pepperell in the Louisburgh expedition in 1745. He seems to have settled in Palmer, Mass., about 1728 or '29, and built the first grist mill where Ware village now stands. He bought what was known as the Hollingworth grant of 500 acres for £400, and was a man of large means. Tradition represents him to have been a man of great shrewdness and energy, a mighty hunter, and that Indian blood ran in his veins. Appearances seem to indicate that he was a descendant of James Olmsted, who came in the "Lyon," Sept. 16, 1632. Capt. Olmsted married about 1710-'11, Thankful, dau. of Thomas Barnes, and had eleven children, of whom Martha was the fifth. After her death he m. 2d in Dedham, Mass., Feb. 4, 1745, Abigail Farr, parentage unknown. She d. Aug. 9, 1772, and he m. 3d June 16, 1774, widow Priscilla Hale, of Boxford, Mass., dau. of Capt. Stephen and Hannah (Swan) Peabody and widow of John Hale. She survived him and was living in Swanzey in 1784, when her son, Eliphalet Hale, deeded her three tracts of land in Chesterfield. (Cheshire Deeds, Lib. 10, Fol. 125.)

He was selectman in 1766, '78, '80, and a member of the "Committee of Safety" in 1775. He was too aged and infirm to enter the army himself, but he hired two substitutes—Joseph Hammond, Jr., for two and one-half months and Daniel Day for two months, and also sent his son, Lieut. Isaac Hammond. He was chosen deacon of the Congregational Church in 1777. He was a prosperous farmer and a large land owner. He seems to have held the land originally granted to him and that deeded to him by his father until his death. In 1773 he was administrator of the estate of his son, Dr. Nathaniel Hammond, who had lived near him. No record of his death has been found as his family Bible was carried away to Canada by his son, Lieut. Isaac, and is probably lost. Isaac seems to have become hopelessly involved before the final settlement of the estate and to have sold everything belonging to him and removed to Canada.

THOMAS HAMMOND'S WILL.

In the Name of God, Amen. I, Thomas Hammond of Swanzey, in the County of Cheshire and State of New Hampshire; Yeoman, in the sixty-second year of my age, being weak in body but of sound and disposing mind and memory; Blessed be God therefor. Do make and Ordain this my Last Will and Testament; and desire it may be received by all as such: That is to say—First of all I humbly give and recommend my soul to God and Maker; Imploring his most Gracious Acceptance of it through the Merits and Mediation of Jesus Christ who I trust will not reject one flying to him for Mercy; and my Body I give to the Earth from whence it was taken, to be Buried by my Executor, herein after named, in a decent and Christian manner: Nothing Doubting that I shall receive the same again by the Mighthy Power of God at the Resurrection of the Last Day: And as touching such worldly Goods and Estate as it has pleased God to Bless me with in this Life; I will and positively order that all my just debts be paid; and then I Give Demise and Dispose of the same in manner and form following:

Imprimis. I give and Bequeath to Priscilla my well-beloved Wife all and every article, goods and household furniture, she brought to me at our marriage, or has since made or procured, to be at her own disposal forever; I also give her the free use and Improvement of the South room and Chamber in my Dwelling House in Swanzey if it please her to live in it, so long as she shall remain my Widow, also the use of two good cows which cows at her Death or Marriage are to revert the one to my executor and the other to my kind and dutiful daughter in law (step daughter) Mehetabel Hale to whom I give Said Cow in Consideration of the kindness and affection she has shown to me; I do also give to my said wife Eight Bushels of Good

Indian Corn, six Bushels of Rye and four of Wheat; one hundred and fifty Pounds of Good Pork and one hundred and fifty Pounds of Beef Annually together with a sufficiency of Fire wood cut and brought into the house, to be provided by my Executor During her widowhood, provided she shall live with him; but if at any time she should return to the Inheritance that was her former husband's then my Executor shall be obliged to deliver to her Annually at my present Dwelling house in Swanzey, only one half of the above quantity of Grain and Meat so long as she remains my widow.

Item. I give and Bequeath to my well beloved son Aaron Hammond, Thirty-Five Pounds Lawfull Money to be paid him in Six Years from the Day of my Decease, which with what I have already given him is his full portion of my Estate.

Item. I give and Bequeath to my Two Grand Children, Thomas and Esther, Children and heirs of my son Nathaniel Hammond, Deceased, the sum of Twenty-Seven Pounds Lawfull Money to be equally devided between them and paid to them when they shall severally arrive at Lawfull age—which sum with what I gave to my said son in his Life time is his full share of my Estate.

Item. I give to my three Grand Children Abia, Bathshua and Joseph Ellis, Children and Heirs of my Deceased Daughter Bridget, late the Wife of Joseph Ellis; the sum of thirty-six Pounds Lawfull Money to be equally Divided amongst them, and to be paid to them when they shall severally arrive to Lawfull Age; all the above Legacies in Money to be paid to my Executor in Silver at Six Shillings and Eight pence per ounce.

Item. I give and Bequeath to my Trusty and Well beloved Son Isaac Hammond and to his Heirs and Assigns forever, the whole remainder of my Estate, Real and Personal, consisting in goods, Testaments, Chatels and Lands, either being in Swanzey or elsewhere; reserving only for my Daughter in Law Mahitibal Hale aforesaid the Right and Privilege of living with him in my Dwelling House (if she pleases) as long as she shall remain a single woman; and I do constitute and Appoint him, my said trusty son Isaac Hammond the sole executor of this my last Will and Testament, Ratifying and Confirming this to be my Last Will and Testament. In Witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this Eleventh Day of October Anno Domini 1781.

Signed Thomas Hammond, (l. s.)

Signed, sealed, published, pronounced and Declared by the said Thomas Hammond to be his Last Will and Testament in the presence of us who in his presence and the presence of each other have hereunto Subscribed our Names.

Edward Goddard,
Joseph Hammond,
Joshua Jewitt Prime.

The foregoing Will was proved by order of the Hon. Thomas Sparhawk, Esq^{r}., judge of the probate, in the usual form.

Recorded per

Ichabod Fisher, Redg^{r}.

The birth dates of several of his children cannot be found and it is uncertain whether the first wife was the mother of his second child or not.

(V) Col. Joseph Hammond, (Nathaniel[4]) b. Ipswich, Mass., Feb. 3, 1723; d. Swanzey, N. H., 1804; m. 1st Nov. 2, 1752, Mrs. Esther (Pierce) Gould, b. Lunenburg, Mass., May 29, 1722, d. April 1, 1754, dau. of Ephraim and Esther (Shedd) Pierce, and widow of Benjamin Gould, of Lunenburg; m. 2d Abigail ———, who died before 1784; m. 3d Oct. 20, 1784, Mrs. Mary Fiske, of Uxbridge, Mass. Joseph probably came to Swanzey with his father about 1736, but as he was but a youngster at that time he does not appear on the town records until about 1744, when he became of age. He was one of the grantees of the town under the second, or New Hampshire, grant in 1753, and was a large land owner as long as he lived. He was also a grantee of lands in Rutland, Saltash and Shrewsbury, Vt., in 1761; in Barnet, Vt., in 1763; in Claremont, N. H., in 1764; in Dartmouth (now Jefferson), N. H., in 1772, and in Success, N. H., in 1773. He was always prominent in town and local affairs and held office almost continually. He was moderator in 1766, '67, '71, '74, '75, '76 and '77; selectman in 1766, '68, '69, '72, '73, '74 and '76; town treasurer in 1771; was chosen member of the "Committee of Safety" in 1775, and was always during his life first in all military affairs of the town. He was Capt. of the Swanzey Co. that marched to Cambridge, April 21, 1775, two days after the battle of Lexington, and on the muster rolls of this company are found the names of his son, Joseph Hammond, Jr., and his nephews, Isaac Hammond and Josiah Prime. He was soon after appointed recruiting officer, and was at home raising men for the Continental army when the battle of Bunker Hill was fought. "When he heard that the battle had been fought he prepared to start the following morning for the field of conflict." He rode through, a distance of ninety miles the next day. This ride has been immortalized by a Swanzey poet in a rather lengthy poem, entitled "Col. Hammond's Ride," which is given on pages 106, 107, 108 and 109 of Col. Benjamin Read's History of Swanzey. The poem is believed to have been written by Hon. Elijah Sawyer, for many years a justice of the peace and clerk of the Cheshire County Court. As recruiting officer he mustered a company of men Sept. 22, 1776, which contained his two sons, Joseph Hammond, Jr., and Benjamin Hammond. This company took part in the battle of White Plains. In June 1777, he was Lieut. Colonel in Col. Samuel Ashley's 6th New Hampshire Regt., which marched to the relief of Ft. Ticonderoga. Feb. 17, 1778, he signed a "Return" of men enlisted for two years as Lieut. Colonel of the regiment. He resigned and retired from active military duty in 1779. The following is a copy of his letter of resignation and its acceptance:

"SWANZEY, June 14, 1779.

TO THE HONORABLE THE COUNCIL AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES FOR THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Gentlemen: I Beg leave to inform you that it is my Ernest desire to Resign the Trust Reposed in me as a Lieut. Colonel of the Sixth Regiment of militia in the State of New Hampshire and I do now by these Presents make a full Resignation of the Said Trust and office of Lieut. Colonel and pray that the same may be Ratified by the Honorable General Court.

I have the Honor to be your Most Obedient Humble Servant,

JOSEPH HAMMOND,
Lieut. Col.

"To the Hon. Meshech Weare, Esqr., to be communicated to the Hon. Gen. Assembly."

"State of New Hamp^{r}. in the House of Representatives, June 18th, 1779."

"VOTED, That the resignation of Lieut. Col. Joseph Hammond, as Lieutenant Colonel of the Sixth Regiment of militia in this State be, and hereby is accepted, and that he receive the thanks of this House for his good services in that station.

Sent up for Concurrence.

JOHN DUDLEY, Speaker pro tem.

In Council June 19, 1779, read and Concurred.

E. THOMPSON, Sec^{ry}."

(A sketch of the life of Col. Joseph Hammond appeared in the "New Hampshire Sentinel" published at Keene, N. H., many years ago, which was written while people were still living who had known him personally. The author once had a copy but has been unable to find it or it would be reproduced.)

May 19, 1769, Joseph Hammond deeded lands in Swanzey to his younger brother, Timothy Hammond. (Cheshire Reg. Deeds, Lib. 3, Fol. 18.)

Dec. 29, 1774, Joseph Hammond sold to William Carr, 75 acres of land in Swanzey. (Cheshire Reg. Deeds, Lib. 1, Fol. 172.)

May 4, 1776, Joseph Hammond sold to his son, Benjamin Hammond, 250 acres of land in Swanzey, for £100. (Cheshire Reg. Deeds, Lib. 2, Fol. 491.)

On the same date he sold to his son, Joseph Hammond, Jr., 207 acres in Swanzey, for £125. (Cheshire Reg. Deeds, Lib. 2, Fol. 290.)

Aug. 5, 1772, he sold to Samuel Chapman, lands in Swanzey. (Cheshire Reg. Deeds, Lib. 4, Fol. 376.)

May 29, 1772, he sold to Joseph Cummings land in Swanzey, for £24. (Cheshire Reg. Deeds, Lib. 4, Fol. 477.)

He also signed deeds of several large tracts of land in Swanzey as administrator of his father's estate, which appears to have been unsettled for many years.

(He was Muster-master and Paymaster of the Province of New Hampshire in 1776 and 1777. N. H. State Papers, Vol. 14.)

Oliver lived in Swanzey, N. H., some years and was the owner of land there, but he and his younger sister, Bridget, seem to have spent much of their time during their minority with their uncle, David Hammond, and their mother's relatives in Rowley. This was probably due to their having had a step-mother. Oliver was a private in Capt. John Northend's Co., May 16, 1757. Length of service not given. (Mass. Arch. Muster Rolls, Vol. 95, p. 379.)

(V) Timothy Hammond, (Nathaniel[4]) b. Hardwick, Mass., May 13, 1748; m. Hadley, Mass., Nov. 16, 1769, Hannah Clark. They lived in Hadley until after 1786, as the births of their children are recorded there. He seems to have had land granted to him in Swanzey, possibly the same land that was granted to his older brother Timothy who died before his birth. May 19, 1769, his brother, Joseph Hammond, as administrator of their father's estate conveyed to him certain lands formerly his father's.

Lib. 3, fol. 18, Cheshire Registry of Deeds, Joseph Hammond, of Swanzey, N. H., conveys to Timothy Hammond, his heirs and assigns, a certain lot of land in Swanzey, containing by estimation 50 acres, laid out as house lot No. 24, in the seventh division, together with the after divisions of land on said house lot. Timothy Hammond, of Hadley, in the County of Hampshire, in the State of Massachusetts. In consideration of the sum of £34, conveys to Nathaniel White, of Hadley, Mass., lot of land lying in Swanzey, N. H., in the seventh Division, containing by estimation 50 acres, together with the after divisions on said house lot. "I heretofore gave a deed to said Nathaniel White bearing date Feb. 7, 1778." Also in consideration of the further sum of £15, one other tract of land in Swanzey containing 50 acres, laid out to Timothy Hammond, in the Eighth Division, and to the house lot numbered 42 in the proprietor's records. (Signed)

Timothy Hammond.

WITNESSES: Jacob White, John Ches^{r} Williams.

Executed Nov. 7, 1787, before John Ches^{r} Williams, Justice of the Peace.

Timothy enlisted first Jan. 13, 1776, in Capt. James Hendrick's Co. and served a short time. He next re-enlisted in the same year in Capt. Reuben Dickinson's Co., Col. Ruggles Woodbridge's Regt., and was at Fort Ticonderoga. It is not known how long he served in this company. He again enlisted in Capt. Dix's Co. under command of Brig.-Gen. John Glover, July 6, 1780, for six months. Residence, Hadley; age, 32 years; stature, 5 ft. 8 in.; complexion, dark; arrived at Springfield, July 6; marched to camp July 7, 1780. He again enlisted in a company of six months' men, returned as having passed muster by Brig.-Gen. Paterson at Camp Totoway, Oct. 25, 1780, served until Dec. 4, 1780. (Massachusetts soldiers and sailors in war of Revolution.)

He was born March 20, 1698; m. Nov. 28, 1723, Elizabeth, dau. of Rev. Thomas Greenwood, of Rehoboth, Mass. He came to Swanzey about 1753 and was installed pastor of the united churches of Swanzey and Keene. He continued to preach in Swanzey until 1769 when he asked to be dismissed and went to Walpole, N. H., where he d. Aug. 26, 1785. His residence was on Meeting-house hill; the homestead having been occupied by the descendants continuously from his settlement down to the present time. He was a graduate of Harvard College, was ordained at Hull, Mass., in 1725, and preached there 21 years prior to his settlement at Swanzey. He was an able divine, a rational preacher of the gospel, a lover of good men, a kind and loving husband and parent. He was a very social, genial, hospitable man and won the respect and affection of all who knew him. The family has held a foremost rank among the good people of Swanzey and has furnished many able men for other localities.

She is mentioned in a deed of land in Swanzey given by Isaac Hammond, as Executor of the Will of Thomas Hammond, dated May 31, 1784, to perfect the title of certain lands held by the heirs of Jonathan Hammond, deceased. (Cheshire Deeds, Lib. 14, fol. 425.)

Edward and Lois (Howe) Goddard, of Swanzey. Her father was the second settled minister of Swanzey and a very prominent man in the early affairs of the town. She m. 2d Gen. John Steele, b. Feb., 1773, son of David and Jean (Little) Steele, of Peterboro, N. H. She was his 2d wife and had no children. He retained the homestead in Swanzey and was a wealthy farmer. Little is now known of him; he appears to have been a quiet, retiring man who rather shunned any prominence in public affairs. He erected a family tomb in Swanzey cemetery to the memory of his parents.

(VI) Aaron Hammond, (Thomas[5]) son of Thomas and Martha (Olmstead) Hammond, was b. in Swanzey, N. H., Oct. 7, 1742, and d. in Gilsum, N. H., April 7, 1818. He

m. in Swanzey April 28, 1771, Rachel Woodward, b. 1743; d. in Gilsum, N. H., Dec. 6, 1812. Her parentage has not been ascertained, but it seems very probable that she was of the family of Woodwards which came from Sutton, Mass., and settled in Marlboro, N. H., some years prior to his marriage. Little has been learned of this family in Sutton and it is probable that they had not long resided there when they removed to New Hampshire. There seems to be little, if any doubt of her decent from George and Elizabeth (Hammond) Woodward, the early settlers of Watertown, Mass. This would include her decendants in the line of Thomas Hammond, of Newton, as well as in the line of William of Watertown. It is probable that her father was Jonas Woodward, b. Feb. 8, 1712, in Newton, Mass.; m. 1734, Mary Cook, of Needham, Mass. This family left Newton and presumably removed to Sutton. This Jonas had a son Jonas born in Newton who was probably the Jonas Woodward that settled later in Marlboro, N. H. It is known that she had a sister, Rebecca Woodward, who became the 2d wife of Elijah Osgood, of Swanzey, N. H., and the step-mother of Lucy Osgood, wife of Aaron Hammond, Jr. If these premises are correct she was left an orphan some years before her marriage which accounts for the difficulty in tracing her ancestry. Jonas Woodward died in 1764. He was a son of Daniel, grandson of John and great grandson of George Woodward mentioned above.

Aaron Hammond

Aaron purchased from Jonathan Hammond a fifty-acre lot in "South Division" of Swanzey "numbered thirty-three" "for the consideration of the sum of Thirty Pounds Lawful Money." The deed, dated April 6, 1771, and witnessed by Joseph Ellis and Nathaniel Hammond, is now in the possession of his great-great grandson, Frederick S. Hammond, of Oneida, N. Y. In 1773 he purchased of Nathan Blake for "the sum of Twenty Six Pounds, thirteen shillings and four pence" another fifty acres described as "House Lot No. 11, being the most Northerly Lot in the Range, Second Division of Upland."

In 1782 he sold his lands in Swanzey and purchased land of Moses Belding in the part of Gilsum which has ever since borne the name of "Hammond Hollow," and on which there was a log house into which he moved his family. In 1785 he built the frame house which is now the sugar house owned by Mrs. T. T. Clark. "He drew the boards from Swanzey with an ox team and split and shaved his own shingles and clapboards, some of which were sound and bright one hundred years later. He took an active part in organizing the Congregational Church in Gilsum and was one of the signers of the charter. He paid the sum of 'Six pounds, thirteen shillings for pew No. 1,' at the first sale of pews. He was tithingman from 1789 to 1793; school committee in 1790; moderator in 1791 and selectman four years. He was the progenitor of all the Hammonds of Gilsum. * * This has always been one of the leading families of the place, and though mostly scattered at present, those who have gone to other places have maintained the reputation of the family elsewhere." (Hist. Gilsum, p. 209.) His wife, Rachel (Woodward) Hammond was one of the most respected and influential women of the town. The following extract from the New Hampshire Sentinel, of Dec. 19, 1812, shows something of the esteem in which she was held:

> "Died, in Gilsum, on the 6th inst., Mrs. Rachel Hammond, wife of Mr. Aaron Hammond; aged 70 years. Her exemplary attachments, as a wife, a mother, and a friend were never surpassed in those endearing relations. She ever performed every duty to the utmost extent of a generous, disinterested affection. As a daughter of Zion she constantly exhibited that meekness, charity and benevolence which are ever highly ornamental to the Church of Christ, of which she was a respected member. A firm and fervent piety characterized her uniform conduct from her early youth to her last moments. She trusted for acceptance with God only through the merits and suffering of her adored Redeemer. She spent her last expiring breath in prayer; and praising God. These excellent qualities blessed the large circle of her intimate friends who, with her inconsolable husband, will ever revere her memory as they now deplore her loss. Her funeral was attended by the Rev. Mr. Muzzy, who delivered a discourse from Job 19 : 21."

Their daughter, Rachel, was born blind. "She was the only child in Gilsum who was born blind. Her mother took unwearied pains to instruct her so that she learned to knit and sew. Hearing others read she would repeat the words after them and called it reading. In this way she read the Bible through more than once. But for her blindness she would have been a woman of more than common activity and influence." (See Hayward's Hist. Gilsum, p. 209.)

Nathl. Hammond.

No account of his education has been found, but he was the first regular physician of whom there is any record in Swanzey. He owned and resided on what is now the W. C. Belding place, near Swanzey Centre. Little has been learned about his wife's family or parentage, but it seems certain that she was a sister of Rachel Franklin, who married his cousin, Oliver Prime. Administration on his estate was granted to his father, Thomas Hammond, who gave a bond in the sum of £200, Nov. 16, 1773. An inventory of the estate was returned to the Court and a license to sell real estate granted, but there is no account of the final settlement of the estate. After his death his widow and children went back to Winchester to live, probably with her parents.

(VI) Lieut. Isaac Hammond, (Thomas[5]) was b. in 1748, probably in some town in Massachusetts, whither his parents had fled to escape the fury of the savages, who had overrun all of Cheshire Co., N. H., in the previous year. His parents soon returned to Swanzey, however, and he was brought up there. He married in Sutton, Mass., Feb. 16, 1773, his cousin, Mehitable Prime, b. in Rowley, Mass., Aug. 29, 1755, dau. of Joshua and Bridget (Hammond) Prime, who removed to Sutton, Mass., about 1769. After his death in 1795, she m. 2d in Caldwell's Manor, Canada, Samuel Fyler, a tory refugee from Long Island, by whom she had a son, Isaac Fyler. The following letter written by his daughter, Mrs. Mehitable (Hammond) Rice, to her nephew, Capt. Russell Prime Hammond, contains all that remained in that branch of the family history and traditions, and while it contains some inaccuracies it is given in full, as it contains the only authentic account of the removal of this family to Canada. (The original, now in possession of Capt. Hammond, has been slightly defaced by mice and a few words are entirely eaten away. These defects are marked with * *.)

St. Johns, 26 January, 1861.

Dear Nephew: I remember you asked me some years since for information on the subject of our ancestors, and something at the time intervening, which caused a delay—and since I have not had a convenient opportunity of a personal communication. I resolved to make no longer delay, and having it in writing you can always refer to it, as our memories do not always serve us, and we should not remain in ignorance of our progenitors. I now commence by informing you that both the Hammond and Prime families originally came from England, and emigrated to the United States of America, something like two centurys since. My memory only serves me to speak confidently so far back as your great grandfather—yes, I can go one generation more remote on my father's side and say my great grandfather Hammond, (his given name I do not remember,) but he and two of his brothers made a purchase of the best part of the township of Swanzey, in New Hampshire, where they took up their residence, sometime about, (I think) the middle of the last century, 1700. His son Thomas Hammond inherited his estate in that place after his father, who died at the age of about 60, leaving three sons and one daughter, and my father Isaac Hammond being one of them, and who had ever lived with his father Thomas Hammond, became his successor to the family estate by an arrangement with the other brothers. But unfortunately for him and his family he subsequently became involved. Naturally of a most kind and obliging disposition, he yeilded to the persuasion and became security for a friend in trouble to a large amount and to the ruin of his earthly prospects. Being in consequence obliged to dispose of his valuable property and the inheritance of his fore-fathers at a very great sacrifice, a misfortune deeply deplored by both my poor father and mother, and which was the means of bringing them to Canada with their * * * children where we all landed on the 9th of October (I think) in the year 1794, at Caldwells Manor. In the following summer my father went on business to Albany, N. Y., where he caught the smallpox, which was prevailing at that time, and of which he died, I think the 24th of June, 1795, with bright hopes of immortal glory, and in his 46th year. I will now give you some outline of my mother's, the Prime family, which lived in the town of Rowley, Mass. Joshua Prime, your father's grandfather, after whom he was called Joshua Prime Hammond. Our grandfather Prime succeeded to his father's estate in Rowley, where he continued to reside until my mother was of the age of 15 years. He then with my grandmother, (who was also a Hammond of the same family), and all of his family, three sons and three daughters, emigrated to Sutton, a distance of about 60 miles. I believe that is also in the state of Massachusetts. They were successful agriculturists. His three sons, brothers of my mother, subsequently removed to the Town of Swanzey, New Hampshire; all agriculturists—and there continued to live during their lifetimes. Uncle Prime, of New York, being the youngest and only one of that family, with the exception of my mother, that you can have any knowledge of, was born a few weeks after his father's decease. And so one generation follows another down to that result of death for all the living. It would be dreadful to think of, and very sad, had not Our Lord Christ * * * tears before us and the sins of * * * might cause us to tremble and dispair * * * the attoning efficacy of His precious blood.

I will say that your grandfather was born in 1748—your grandmother in 1755. I remain ever your affectionate aunt, M. Rice.

His widow d. in Caldwell's Manor, Canada, April 5, 1838. Isaac was very active in the Revolutionary war as were all of the Swanzey Hammond's, and was a Lieutenant in the local Militia. He enlisted first in Capt. Joseph Hammond's Co., which marched to Cambridge, April 21, 1775, two days after the battle of Bunker Hill. (Hist. of Swanzey, pp. 103-4.) He next enlisted in Capt. Davis Howlett's Co. under Lieut. Col. Joseph Hammond, which marched to the relief of Fort Ticonderoga in June, 1777. (N. H. State Papers, vol. 13, p. 63.) He also marched with a Swanzey Co. to Otter Creek, and probably did other military duty of which there is now no record extant. He was selectman from 1781 to 1788 and moderator in 1785. He was coroner of Cheshire County in 1784 and deputy sheriff in 1790. He was the owner of considerable land in Swanzey and also of a tract of land in Gilsum, N. H. July 1, 1782, he sold a lot in Swanzey, originally laid out to his brother-in-law, Joseph Ellis, to Daniel Newcomb, of Keene. (Cheshire Registry of Deeds, lib. 10, fol. 422.) May 31, 1784, he gave a deed of lands in Swanzey to the "heirs of Dea. Jonathan Hammond, namely: Susanna, wife of Greenwood Carpenter, Mary Hammond, Abigail Hammond, of Swanzey, and Mariam, wife of John Hastings, of Charlestown, N. H." "It is to be remembered that the reason for said Hammonds signing the above deed is that it is presumed that Dea. Thomas Hammond, late of Swanzey, deceased, was to have given deed in his lifetime of said premises, the other party or grantee engaging that said Isaac Hammond shall not meet with any trouble or loss in consequence of his signing the said deed." The deed is witnessed by Joseph Hammond and Sarah Hammond. (Cheshire Registry of Deeds, lib. 14, fol. 425.)

To Wyman Richardson. (Lib. 16, fol. 247.)
To Josiah Goddard. (Lib. 17, fol. 78.)
To Israel Sawyer. (Lib. 17, fol. 246.)
To Elijah Graves. (Lib. 17, fol. 263.)
To Oliver Prime. (Lib. 18, fol. 38.)

There are also many other land transactions showing him to have been quite an active land speculator. The only existing records of him after his removal to Canada was a deed of some land in Gilsum, N. H., and a power of attorney to his brother, Aaron Hammond, executed in Montreal in 1794, and which are now in possession of the writer, who is a great-great grandson of the said Aaron.

Isaac Hammond

He was a land surveyor.

(VI) Joseph Hammond, Jr., (Col. Joseph[5]) b. Swanzey, N. H., June 30, 1753; d. Swanzey, N. H.; m. Mary Pierce, of Lunenburg, Mass., his cousin, b. May 21, 1756, dau. of Jonathan and Sarah (Dodge) Pierce. He was very active in the War of the Revolution and saw more active service perhaps than any other of the Swanzey Hammonds. He enlisted for eight months in his father's company April 21, 1775, and marched with the company to Cambridge where he remained with the other eight months men when the balance of the company returned home. He was there when the battle of Bunker Hill was fought and undoubtedly participated in the battle. After the expiration of his eight months' service he re-enlisted for the winter and Sept. 22, 1776, he again enlisted in the company mustered by his father on that date and went with the regiment to White Plains.

He was corporal in Capt. Jonathan Whitcomb's Co., Col. James Reed's Regt., while at Cambridge.

(N. H. State Papers, Vol. 14, pp. 92, 202, 203.)

While in service in New York he was in Capt. John Houghton's Co., Col. Baldwin's Regt.

(N. H. State Papers, Vol. 14, p. 428.)

Very little further is now known about him as the records of Swanzey are very incomplete for many years after the close of the revolution and his descendants have been all away from the town for many years past.

of his mother he was taken to Lunenburg, Mass., where he remained with his mother's relatives much of the time until he arrived at manhood, when he took up his residence on the farm since owned by D. B. C. Hill in Swanzey, where he lived until the time of his death. He was a quiet, reserved man, and does not appear to have taken an active part in politics or held office; a consistent member of the Congregational Church but latterly an attendant at the Baptist Church, of which his son, Joseph, was an active member. He enlisted in Capt. John Houghton's Co., Col. Baldwin's Regt., mustered by Col. Joseph Hammond, Sept. 22, 1776, and was with the Co. at the battle of White Plains. (N. H. State Papers, vol. 14, p. 428.) The town rolls credit him with two and one-half months service. (Hist. of Swanzey, p. 121.)

(VI) Sarah Hammond, (Col. Joseph^5) b. Swanzey, N. H., Dec. 8, 1762; d. Keene, N. H.; m. June 12, 1783, Thomas Dwinell, of Keene, N. H. The only record of their children which has been found is a roll of scholars kept by Rachel Bill, who taught the school in Keene, N. H., in 1797, and which is now in possession of the author. (The Dwinells were early settlers in Topsfield, Mass.)

Children:

1532. 1. Elizabeth, (Dwinell) b. 1784.
1533. 2. Abiah, (Dwinell) b. 1786.

(VI) Nathaniel Hammond, (Oliver^5) b. Rowley, Mass., Dec. 29, 1756; d. Topsfield, Mass., Dec. 2, 1842; m. May 18, 1779, Abigail Perkins, d. May 22, 1839, dau. of Capt. Stephen and Abigail (Boardman) Perkins, of Topsfield, Mass. He was placed under the guardianship of his step-father, Peletiah Cummings, when his mother married again, and appears to have been a thrifty youth as he was taxed in Topsfield in 1776, when he was but 20 years of age. He was a revolutionary soldier in Capt. Stephen Perkins' company, which marched on the Lexington Alarm April 19, 1775. (Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in War of Revolution.)

He was the owner and occupant of the old Stephen Perkins farm in Topsfield for many years. This farm is now, or recently was, owned and occupied by Rev. George L. Gleason.

He was a man of more than ordinary intelligence and for many years was the most prominent man in town. He was representative to the general court several years, selectman 26 years, town treasurer many years, served as tythingman and was town clerk 19 years in succession.

He is said to have lost much of his property before his death.

Children:

1537* 1. Edward, b. March 7, 1780.
1538* 2. Stephen, b. Feb. 13, 1785.

(VI) Nathaniel Prime, b. Rowley, Mass., Jan. 30, 1768; d. New York City, Nov. 26, 1840; m. New York City, June 3, 1797, by Rev. Dr. Lynn, Cornelia Sands, b. Nov. 8, 1773, d. 17 West 16th St., New York City, April 21, 1852, dau. of Comfort and Sarah (Dodge) Sands, of New York City. His father having died when he was very young and his mother having married again, he had to depend largely on his own resources and became a very active and self-reliant man who made his mark in the world. Nathaniel Prime was early apprenticed to Col. Joseph Ward, of Boston, a distinguished officer of the Revolutionary army, who had opened a land and brokerage office in Boston after the close of the war. He served his time with Col. Ward, and on coming of age wrote him the letter of which the following is a copy:

Boston, Feb. 1, 1789.

Joseph Ward, Esq.

Dear Sir: This morning (according to the laws of man), I have entered on the theatre of action for myself. For three years and five months I have been acting for you, which time I have spent the most agreeably of any part of my life. It is with pleasure I can look back and feel conscious to myself that I have at all times made your interest my own, and have acted according to the best of my judgment to increase the shining ball. Should it meet your approbation I shall feel peculiarly happy.

I am dear, sir, with every sentiment of esteem. Your most obedient and very humble servant, Nathaniel Prime.

Mr. Prime at once established himself in business in Wall street, New York City, where he acquired a large fortune and became a distinguished financier and one of the most prominent men of the city. He was always highly respected by his former employer and his family, and they had many business transactions in later years. The decendants of Nathaniel Prime have always maintained the family prestige and are among the most highly respected residents of New York City.

Nathaniel Prime, always, during his life, kept up a correspondence with his Hammond relatives and evinced a friendly interest in their affairs, and many old letters bearing his signature are among the treasured papers of the descendants of his nephew Josiah Prime Hammond. A very neat and attractive genealogy of his descendants, in pamphlet form, printed for private circulation, was compiled a few years ago by Temple Prime, Esq., to whom the writer is indebted for many of his records of this family. The double connection between this family and the Hammond family makes it of especial interest to the many decendants.

H., June 24, 1826, son of John and Martha (Page) Hosmer. She was his second wife. She and her brother Josiah were married at home on the same day. Their parents made large wedding preparations and the occasion was one long remembered in Gilsum. It is said to have been much the largest and most imposing wedding celebration that ever occurred in town. Martha was a model wife and mother and was loved and respected by all who knew her. Dr. Hosmer's first wife was Ruth Upham, by whom he had two children, both of whom married and lived in Gilsum. She died in 1798. He came to Gilsum in 1793 and boarded at Dea. Bond's, built a house the succeeding year and removed his family there in 1795. Here he continued to reside until his death in 1826. As a physician he was very cautious, being sure that he understood his case before resorting to any drastic methods. After the death of his wife Martha he married for his third wife wid. Mary (Webb) Hayward, who survived him. (See Hayward's Hist. of Gilsum.)

(VII) John Hammond, (Aaron[6]) b. Swanzey, N. H., June 26, 1773; d. Gilsum, N. H., March 20, 1830; m. May 29, 1797, Deborah White, b. Uxbridge, Mass., Aug. 10, 1777; d. Gilsum, N. H., March 29, 1871, dau. of Turner and Joanna (Holbrook) White, of Alstead, N. H.

She was of the White family that settled in Mendon, Mass., at an early period.

John came to Gilsum with his father when he was about ten years of age and lived in Hammond Hollow until his death. He was a young man of brilliant intellect and began teaching at a very early age.

He built his house in Gilsum in 1796, where he resided until his death. This house was still standing in 1900. He was a man of large mind, broad and liberal in his opinions, always ready to examine, weigh and measure every idea that presented itself to his mind. He was a noted school teacher for many years and also taught singing school. Having a good common school education he was regularly called upon to fill some office within the gift of the people. He often served the town as moderator, was selectman fourteen years and justice of the peace many years. He was county coroner in 1805, and was three times elected to the N. H. House of Representatives. He wrote fluently both in prose and poetry and many of his articles were published.

The following satirical poem, characteristic of the man, was written at an early day and the original in his own handwriting is in the possession of the author of this article, who also has many other papers written by the same hand, some of which were published in the newspapers of the time.

THE GULL TRAP.

(WRITTEN BY JOHN HAMMOND.)

In one of Cheshire's goodly towns,
Where orthodoxy stiff abounds,
And folks have charity refined,
Not of that good old-fashioned kind
Which should, in sooth, begin at home,
As strangely argufied by some.

Nigh to the sanctuary where People of every sect repair
On days devoted to the Lord
To sing, give thanks, and hear the word,
A tavern stands, where travelers call
For "straw and provender," and all
Refreshments tending to revive
And keep themselves and beasts alive.

There, as I stopped not long ago,
Whether to take a glass or no
Of whiskey, brandy, rum or gin
It matters not, but soon I read
From faces long and what was said
That pious folks, in sooth, met there,
Who feigned a deal of Christian care ——
Much to their credit be it known—
For heathen children not their own.

Good souls : and that the world might see
Their works of love and charity
Displayed as public as they could,
A box they made, which yawning stood
Within the aforesaid tavern, whither
These folks most often met together—
A "gull trap" called by some howe'er
No matter what the name, or where
It stood. 'Twas ample to receive
What things these people chose to give.

How many mittens, shirts, and socks ;
Coats, vestings, pantaloons, and frocks ;
Shoes, boots, and other presents rare,
With gowns for lady squaws to wear,
Were here deposited ! and some,
As poor as church mice, faith will come
With aprons stuffed with goodly things,
Pure missionary offerings,
And safely lodge them in the box
Because the deed is orthodox !

And is it reader, thus decreed
That country folks must clothe and feed
Those savage children far away,
And tell their own go naked? Say?
Say, where in the Scripture is't we find
Commands thus lavish to be kind
To foreign people, while our own
For bread and clothing freeze and groan?
The book expressly says that one
Who does not amply for his own
Provide is worse, oh sad to tell,
Is worse than what? An Infidel.

Would it not better be for some
To keep their charity at home?
Or use it oftener for the good
Of sufferers in their neighborhood?
Nay, priestcraft sly has other ways
To show their hearers now-a-days
To serve the Lord than doing good
To one another as they should—
"Stint yourself and cheat your neighbor
To pay for priests' pernicious labor."

Notwithstanding his apparent lack of orthodoxy and frequent sarcastic comments on the customs of those who were more strictly orthodox in their opinions, John Hammond was very popular with a large majority of the people. He was honorable, upright and just in all his dealings, kind hearted, generous and charitable to a fault, and while his wit probably cut deeply into the vanity of some of the most rigidly orthodox people he was generally forgiven, and highly respected for his many virtues, while his superior education and great business ability gave him a foremost place in civil affairs.

(VII) Josiah Hammond, (Aaron[6]) b. Swanzey, N. H., March 28, 1775; d. Gilsum, N. H., Aug. 15, 1851; m. Nov. 28, 1799, Mehitable Bill, b. June 1, 1778, d. June 8, 1857, dau. of Ebenezer and Rachel (Root) Bill. Her parents were both born in Hebron, Conn. Rachel Root was the dau. of Ebenezer and Rachel (Skinner) Root, of Hebron, Conn., and a descendant of Thomas Root, b. Badby, England, Jan. 16, 1605, who came to America in 1637. She was a great granddaughter of Sampson and Mary (Daniels) Frary who were in the massacre at Deerfield, Mass., in King Philip's war. Josiah bought the north part of his father's farm in Gilsum and built a house on it which he occupied during the remainder of his life. He and his sister Martha were married on the same day at their father's house, the affair being very elaborate for the time and the number of guests large. He served the town as moderator many years, was town agent in 1824, town clerk fifteen years, selectman many years, tythingman and school committee several years and was elected to the New Hampshire House of Representatives in 1830. He suffered from paralysis during the last few years of his life and was unable to move about freely. During this time he read much and wrote some, commenting freely on all that he read. He devoted considerable time to a careful reading of the Bible. Considerable of his manuscript is still in existence and in the possession of his great grandson. He was not orthodox in his religious views and was a close friend of Abner Kneeland, whose religious opinions he shared. He was not aggressive, having great respect for the rights and feelings of others, and this probably saved him in a great measure from the malice of the bigoted and narrow-minded. Before the abolition of church rates in New England a widow with a family of small children lived in Gilsum who could not raise the money to pay her church rates. Her only cow, the chief means of support for herself and family, was seized and sold to satisfy the claim. Josiah Hammond bid off the cow and told the widow to drive her home and keep her until he called for her. He never called for the cow and the widow continued in peaceable possession as she could not be seized again on account of the ownership being vested in 'Squire Hammond. He was a thrifty farmer and a progressive citizen until bodily infirmities confined him to the house. Like nearly every other member of the Gilsum branch of the family, he was a very large, powerful man, weighing over 200 pounds.

Josiah Hammond

His wife, Mehitabel Bill, was a lineal descendant of John and Anne (Mountford) Bill, of Much Wenlock, Shropshire, England, whose only son, John, came to America as early as 1635 and settled at Ipswich, Mass., removing later to New London, Conn. Her father, Ebenezer Bill, was born in Hebron, Conn., Jan. 19, 1750-1, and after his marriage removed to Gilsum, N. H. He was a Revolutionary soldier in Capt. Elisha Mack's Co., Col. Ashley's Regt., (6th N. H.) and one of the most prominent men in the early history of the town. She was well educated for the time and a very intelligent woman. Her sister, Rachel Bill, was a noted school teacher and a frequent contributor of both prose and poetry to the publications of the time.

Among the letters still preserved are the following:

MONTREAL, 9th Octoʳ, 1800.

DEAR UNCLE:

I embrace the opportunity of Capt. Sanford's going to New York to inform you that my mother and I are well; likewise to acknowledge the receipt of your kind letter. With respect to further information, I refer you to Capt. Sanford, who will deliver you these lines. I shall always esteem it a mark of your favor every time I hear from you.

I remain, Dear Uncle, Your affectionate Nephew and very humble servant,

JOSHUA P. HAMMOND.

NEW YORK, 26 April, 1801.

Dear Joshua: I have been much gratified with a visit from Mr. Sanford. He appears a gentleman of much good sense and worth. He appears to take an interest in your happiness and welfare, and you may consider yourself fortunate in having your apprenticeship with so good a man. By Mr. Sanford you will receive a watch, which you will please receive as a mark of my affectionate regard. May it prove a faithful monitor of passing time, and never reproach you with an hour ill-spent, either to yourself, your country or friends. It will ever give me pleasure to hear of your welfare, and see you happy. Whenever you find it convenient to call on me, I shall give you a welcome reception. It is my intention to make your mother a visit in the course of two or three years, in that case shall certainly go as far as Montreal.

Very affectionately yours,

NATH'L PRIME.

After serving out his apprenticeship with Mr. Sanford, in Montreal, Joshua went to Norwich, Conn., where he worked at his trade of a hatter and met and married his wife. He then removed to Gray, Me., where their first child was born in 1805. He remained here but a short time when he went to Massachusetts, where he remained several years, during which time he served in the State militia. He returned to Montreal about 1810, and was admitted to Union Lodge, No. 8, F. & A. M., in Montreal, July 16, 1812.

He was a man of exemplary habits, honorable and upright, and was highly regarded by all with whom he came in contact.

John was a farmer on the old John Hammond homestead in Hammond Hollow until 1871, when he retired from active life and removed to Gilsum village, where he spent the remainder of his days. In 1827 and after he was a member of a militia company in Gilsum. Was selectman in 1856 and 1857. Was for many years an active member of the Universalists Library society and a member of the New Hampshire House of Representatives two years.

"Uncle John," as he was called by everybody, was widely known and deservedly popular, a joker and story teller, witty and quick at repartee. He was very fond of the children and very popular with the young. The writer well remembers him as he used to drive along with "Old Ned" and stop and ask him to ride, when he was still but a little urchin and how he used to delight in going home with him and being shown the many curiosities which he had and entertained with his stories. In 1874 he celebrated his golden wedding and his fellow citizens presented him with a beautiful and expensive gold headed cane. His neighbors and townsmen will long remember his kind, benevolent face and his cheery voice and hearty laugh.

To him the author of this work owes the respect for, and love of the family name, that has led him to persevere for more than ten years in the collection of material for a family memorial.

Doctor Hammond was one of the most prominent men of his native town and no one has received more attention in the "History of Gilsum" than is given to his life. The following extract from that volume, page 182, gives a brief and concise account of his life and the esteem in which he was held: "George Washington Hammond was one of Gilsum's most distinguished citizens. A long and dangerous sickness from disease of the heart having rendered him in early life, unable to endure the severe labor of the farm, he determined to fit himself for the medical profession. Unable to meet the expense of a collegiate course, which he much desired, he attended Alstead Academy a few terms, teaching district schools in the winter to obtain the necessary funds. He then entered Dartmouth Medical College where he graduated with more than average honor, August 21, 1824. Prof. R. D. Mussey, one of his instructors, secured him the offer of an excellent position with flattering recommendations. But not having the funds to purchase the Medical Library that he needed for the place, he felt obliged to decline the favorable opportunity. He began the practice of his profession in Richmond, where he became acquainted with the family of Josiah Rawson, Esq., whose eldest daughter he married. Removing from Richmond, he settled at Proctorsville, Vt. At the urgent desire of his parents he returned to Gilsum in February, 1830, where he engaged in the practice of his profession for thirty-six years. In February, 1866, he removed, with all his family, to Stockbridge, Madison County, N. Y., where he died at the age of 70 years.

"He had a mind of more than common activity and his life was spent in study. In his chosen profession he deservedly occupied a high position for his scientific attainments, but this did not engross his entire attention. He had a taste for literary labors and wrote with beauty and force. He wrote many articles for the press, thereby weilding a much greater influence in political and temperence reforms of the day than was generally known at home. He was one of the leaders in the Washingtonian temperance movement in this vicinity, and frequently lectured with good success in this cause. In lyceums and debating focieties he was one of the most active and useful members, both with tongue and pen. Historical matters connected with the town especially interested him. (Appendix, G. Hist. of Gilsum.) He was interested in education, using his influence in behalf of the improvement and enlargement of school privileges for the young. He served the town as Superintending School Committee five years. He was one of the founders and most efficient supporters of the Universalist Library. He was always an able and conscientious advocate of equal rights to all of whatever color or creed. He was of the firm belief that it is the prerogative of the Eternal alone to judge man's motives and spiritual conduct and that one man was better than another, only in so far as he behaved better.

"He inherited from his father one of the best farms in Gilsum and few professional men take as deep interest in agriculture as he did, or practice farming with better success. He was chosen to represent the town in the Constitutional Convention of 1850. He served the district as State Senator in 1855 and 1856 and was Justice of the Peace for many years. Pleasant in his intercourse, genial in his manners, he left many warm friends to mourn his death." He was a very large, powerful man, standing over six feet in height and his usual weight being over 250 pounds, at one time he weighed over 300 pounds. It is recorded that at one time seventeen Hammonds of Gilsum averaged over 200 pounds, he being the heaviest and John Hammond, who weighed 175 pounds, being the lightest.

Diansa Rawson, his wife, was a descendent of some of the oldest and best puritan and pilgrim families of New England. Her father, Josiah Rawson, was a lineal descendant of Edward Rawson, Secretary of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, under Governor Endicott. Edward Rawson, son of Edward and Margaret (Wilson) Rawson, of London, England, came to America in 1636 and settled at Newbury, Mass. His mother, Margaret Wilson, was a sister of Rev. John Wilson, the first minister of Boston. He married Rachel Perne, daughter of Thomas Perne, of Newbury, Mass. He was one of the most influential men in the early history of the colony and was so bitter in his persecution of the Quakers that Whittier has immortalized his fame in his "Cassandra Southwick." The softening influence of time and the broadening and liberalizing of the mind under the benign rule of liberty and equality work wonders and a few generations later one of his descendants was united in marriage with a lineal descendant of one of the victims of his persecution and the family of the tyranical puritan and the non-resisting Quaker live in peace and harmony.

His son, William^2 Rawson, born May 21, 1651, married Anna Glover, daughter of Nathaniel and Mary (Smith) Glover, of Dorchester, Mass. Mary Smith, wife of Nathaniel Glover, was the daughter of Quartermaster John Smith, of Dorchester, Mass., by his first wife, Mary Ryder, born in Toxteth Park, Lancashire, England. Quartermaster Smith was a freeman in Dorchester in 1633, and filled many of the civil offices in the colony. He had acquired military experience under DeVere in the Netherlands before coming to New England and took an active part in the military operations of the colony. He was with Capt. John Mason in the Pequoit war. After the death of Lieutenant Glover she married, March 16, 1660, Gov. Thomas Hinckley, of Barnstable, Mass.

Their son, David^3 Rawson, born in Braintree, Mass., Dec. 13, 1683, married Mary Gulliver, daughter of Lieut. Jonathan and Mary (Robinson) Gulliver, of Milton, Mass. Mary Robinson, wife of Lieutenant Gulliver, was the daughter of Samuel and Mary (Baker) Robinson, of Dorchester, and granddaughter of William Robinson and Richard Baker, two of the early settlers of that town. Their son, Josiah^4 Rawson, was born in Braintree, Mass., Jan. 31, 1727, and married, Aug. 28, 1750, Hannah Bass, daughter of John and Hannah (Neale) Bass. John Bass, her father, was the son of John and Abigail (Adams) Bass, the grandson of John and Ruth (Alden) Bass, of Braintree, Mass. Ruth Alden, his grandmother, was the daughter of Hon. John and Priscilla (Mullins) Alden, of the "Mayflower." His grandfather was the son of Deacon Samuel Bass, one of the first settlers of Braintree. His mother, Abigail Adams, was the daughter of Joseph and Abigail (Baxter) Adams, of Braintree, and granddaughter of Henry Adams, one of the first settlers of that town. These were also the progenitors of President John Adams. Hannah Neale, his wife, was the daughter of Benjamin and Lydia (Paine) Neale, of Braintree, Mass.

Their son, Josiah^5 Rawson, was born in 1751. He married Elizabeth Barrows, daughter of Ebenezer and Experience (Ormsbee) Barrows, of Cumberland, R. I., and grand-daughter of Ebenezer and Elizabeth Barrows, of Attleboro, Mass. They settled in Warwick, Mass., where their son, Josiah^6 Rawson was born May 22, 1780. While a young man he went to Richmond, N. H., and was there employed in the store kept by Jedediah Buffum, whose grand-daughter became his wife.

Brother, many months have passed,
Since I beheld thy face,
Still memory holds thy image fast,
Thy features there I trace;
Thy voice, thy step and all thy ways,
Are fresh in mind as ever,
And O! the scenes of thy last days!
I shalt forget them never!
Gilsum, Feb. 3, 1852.

His widow, who was one of the best and most lovable women, never married again although she survived him 37 years. She died at the home of her son, Isaac W. Hammond, in Concord, N. H., where she had lived many years, and was taken to Gilsum and buried beside her husband.

Otis G. Hammond was a farmer. He built his house in Hammond Hollow, Gilsum, N. H., in 1829. The following extract from Hayward's "Hist. of Gilsum," p. 209, gives a fair account of his life :

> "He was a successful school teacher for many years, and served as Superintending School Committee. He was one of the first to join the Washingtonian movement and was an earnest worker in the cause, being quite successful as a temperance lecturer in this and neighboring towns. He served the town as moderator and selectman and was commissioned justice of the peace."

The following beautiful tribute to his memory was written by his brother, Dr. George W. Hammond :

Brother, thou'rt sleeping in thy grave!
The world to thee is hushed!
We struggled hard thy life to save,
But all our hopes were crushed ;
Death seized thee in the noon of life,
The brittle thread did sever ;
The anguish of that fearful strife ;
I shall forget it never.

Brother, most we miss thee here,
In this thy natal place ;
Here, where thy presence used to cheer
We miss thy cheerful face ;
The temperance band we used to meet,
Will miss thee too forever,
No more thy presence will they greet,
They will forget thee never.

Brother, father sleeps by thee,
His sufferings too are o'er,
From which he longed to be set free,
And now he is no more.
I, only, of the three remain,
My cares are more than ever.
I'll strive these duties to sustain,
And shall forget thee never.

Brother, all those dear loved ones
For whom you asked my care,
Thy loving wife and darling sons,
Do my protection share!
Thy dying wishes to fulfill,
Has been my true endeavor,
I'll strive to keep them from all ill,
And shall forget thee never.

the daughter of Azariah and Zeruiah (Sprague) Comstock, who removed from Smithfield, R. I., to Richmond, N. H., in 1763.

Josiah Rawson and Sarah Buffum were married in Winchester, N. H., Jan. 14, 1805, and lived in Richmond until after the marriage of their eldest daughter to Doctor Hammond. They then removed to Richmond and Sutton, Vt., where Josiah was elected to the Vermont Legislature. After living a few years in Vermont they removed to what is now the extreme southern limit of the city of Oneida, N. Y., then known as Lenox, N. Y., where he carried on the business of a merchant until his death. They were eventually followed by all of their children, Doctor Hammond and his wife being the last to emigrate to this section in 1866.

She was a lady of quiet and retiring disposition, very refined and with high ideals, yet without ostentation or undue pride. A kind, loving wife and mother and one who was ever held in high esteem by all who knew her. She died at the home of her only son in Stockbridge, N. Y., May 20, 1879.

(VIII) Otis Gardiner Hammond, (Josiah^7) b. Gilsum, N. H., March 2, 1810 ; d. Gilsum, N. H., April 22, 1849 ; m. May 21, 1829, Eunice Ware, b. Gilsum, N. H., July 13, 1806; d. Concord, N. H., May 3, 1886, dau. of Elijah and Anna (Hathorn) Ware. Her grandfather, Moses Ware, removed from Wrentham, Mass., to Swanzey, N. H., and from there to Gilsum. Her brother, Moses Ware, married Eliza Hastings, a grand-daughter of Dea. Jonathan Hammond, of Swanzey, N. H., a distant relative of her husband. She was a lady noted for her kindly disposition, and was loved and respected by all who knew her.

Diansa (Rawson) Hammond's mother was of little less distinguished ancestry. Robert Buffum and his wife, Tamosin (Thompson) Buffum, came from Yorkshire, England, to Salem, in the ship "Mary and John," in 1630. They settled at Salem, Mass. His wife was a sister of the wife of Lawrence Southwick and she and her children were persecuted with the Southwicks in 1658. Robert Buffum himself does not appear to have undergone persecution so far as the records show and he may not have been a Quaker at that time. Their son, Caleb² Buffum, married Hannah Pope, daughter of Joseph Pope, who came to America with Robert Buffum. They had a son, Benjamin³ Buffum, born in Salem in 1686, who married Sarah Buxton, daughter of John (or Joseph) Buxton, and grand-daughter of Anthony and Elizabeth Buxton, of Salem, Mass. They removed to Smithfield, R. I., with many other Quaker families to escape persecution. Their son, Joseph⁴ Buffum, was born in Smithfield in 1717, and married Margaret Osborne. Their son, Jedediah⁵ Buffum, born in Smithfield, R. I., Aug. 17, 1737, married Sarah Taft, born in Uxbridge, Mass., Sept. 22, 1736, daughter of Mijamin and Sarah (Sweeting) Taft, and grand-daughter of Benjamin and Sarah (Thomas) Taft, of Mendon and Uxbridge, Mass. Her great-grandfather, Robert Taft, with wife, Sarah, was one of the early settlers of Braintree, Mass.

Jedediah Buffum and his wife were among the first settlers of Richmond, N. H., coming there from Smithfield, R. I., in 1763. He was one of the most prominent men in the early history of the town.

Their son, Robert⁶ Buffum, born in Richmond, March 10, 1765, married June 28, 1787, Lucy Whipple, daughter of Capt. Daniel and Amy (Comstock) Whipple, born Jan. 5, 1770. Her father, Capt. Dan.⁵ Whipple, was the son of Nathaniel⁴ and Bethiah (Slack) Whipple, of Smithfield, R. I., son of Israel³ and Mary (Wilmarth) Whipple, of Providence, R. I., son of David² and Hannah (Tower) Whipple, of Hingham, Mass., son of John and Sarah Whipple, who were among the earliest settlers of Dorchester, Mass. His wife, Amy Comstock, was wife, was also possessed of great vigor and integrity of character. She was one of a family of twelve children all of whom showed great vigor and independence. Her brothers, Robert and James H. Gower, both figured largely in the early history of Cedar Co., Ia. Their children were all well reared and educated and all have been people of mark and distinction in the communities in which they have lived.

He was the author and compiler of a small Hammond Genealogy of the Swanzey branch of the family, published in 1890, and also of a "Genealogy of the Richardson Family," which he published a few years later. He was also one of the most active citizens in collecting the material for the "History of Swanzey," by Col. Benjamin Read, and was one of the publication committee. To him is due the credit for a large part of the genealogical work on the volume.

He was one of nature's noble men, a true gentleman, far above the sordid level of humanity, both intellectually and morally.

The following editorial from the N. H. Sentinel, (Keene, N. H.) of Sept. 18, 1891, gives a very fair sketch of his life:

DEATH OF JOSEPH HAMMOND.

Joseph Hammond, one of Swanzey's oldest and best known citizens, and one of the oldest persons in Cheshire county, died at his home in West Swanzey, Wednesday night, at the age of 92 years and 5 months. He had been in very good health until about a week or ten days before, when he was taken ill with dysentery and other complications which proved fatal, owing probably to his advanced years. Only two or three weeks ago Mr. Hammond was in Keene one day and missed the train for West Swanzey. He then walked home, a distance of about six miles.

Mr. Hammond was a descendant of Nathaniel Hammond, who came from Watertown, Mass., to Swanzey in 1740. Nathaniel was quite conspicuous in the public life of the town, erecting the first house there and being one of its earliest settlers. He had two sons, Joseph and Benjamin. The deceased was one of Joseph's nine children, there being four sons and five daughters. He was born April 5, 1809, and after attending the common schools and Chesterfield Academy he taught school in Swanzey and elsewhere for twenty terms. As a young man he was unusually vigorous and muscular, and it is narrated that at Hinsdale Ferry, in 1832, he lifted a box of steel weighing 722 pounds in the presence of several men. His principal business after he finished teaching was that of a lumber measurer and dealer and general surveyor. The latter work he kept up until very recently. Within a few years he sold his compass, that he had made in Keene in 1850, to a citizen of this town, and afterwards obtained the loan of it, saying he was lonesome without it and often had occasion to use it. He was allowed to retain the compass thereafter.

In 1834 he was captain of the Swanzey rifle company. He was selectman three years and had been town clerk, treasurer, superintending school committee, representative in 1850 and 51, postmaster under Lincoln and a justice of the peace since 1843. He was clerk of the Baptist church thirty-eight years and treasurer of the Dublin Baptist association fifteen years. He was in the grocery business from 1850 to 1863, and was at one time a member of the firm of Nims, Gates & Hammond, of Keene.

Mr. Hammond's first wife was Lutheria S. Rogers, by whom he had two daughters, Sophia J. and Maria E. She died April 24, 1860. His second wife was Ardelia C. Randall, who died Feb. 11, 1884. His third wife was Marion E. Farmer, who survives him, together with his daughters, Mrs. Martin Mason, of West Swanzey, (Sophia J.) and Mrs. Eugene M. Keyes, of Keene, (Maria E.)

The funeral was held at the Baptist church Friday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Thomas Cain, of Windsor, Vt., a former pastor, assisted by Rev. Robert Bennett, pastor of the local church. The singing was by a male quartette and the interment was in the old cemetery. Mr. Hammond's funeral took place on the sixty-first anniversary of his becoming a member of the Baptist church.

Col. Charles M. Hammond was born in Swanzey, N. H., Sept. 16, 1824. He removed with his parents to Madison Co., N. Y., in 1838. His mother, Charlotte, dau. of Amos Richardson, "the giant," died in the same year that they settled in New York. In 1847 he married Lydia A. Fancher and they removed to Wilmington, Ill., in 1849. Here they continued to reside until the breaking out of the Civil War, when he enlisted and in August, 1862, raised a company of soldiers, organized 100th Regt., Ill. Vol. infantry and was elected its major, July 20, 1864. After two years of active service he was promoted lieutenant colonel and May 11, 1865, colonel of the regiment. He commanded the regiment from that time until it was mustered out June 12, 1865. He was engaged in twenty-one battles, serving under Dept. Commander Generals Don Carlos Buel, W. S. Rosencrans and Gen. Sherman. The corps commanders were Generals Howard, Stanley and Wood. He was a war Democrat, but at the close of the war he united with the Republican party and in March, 1867, he was appointed internal revenue collector for the sixth district of Illinois, which office he held for four years and retired with a clean record. He afterward removed to Gunnison, Col., and later to Salt Lake City, Utah, where he is engaged in the real estate business. At the age of 73 years he is a fine, hale, well-made man, passing among his acquaintances for a man of 58 or 60 years.

(IX) George Hammond, (Dr. George W.[8]) b. Gilsum, N. H., May 16, 1830; d. Stockbridge, N. Y., Oct. 28, 1892; m. Oct. 12, 1857, Almina Snell, b. Aug. 30, 1836, d. July 28, 1892, dau. of George and Betsey (Stam) Snell, of Stockbridge, N. Y. Her grandfather, Joseph P. Snell, removed from the town of Manheim, Herkimer County, N. Y., to Stockbridge, about 1822; a lineal descendant of Johan Jost Snell, who came from Germany to America in 1710. Three of Mrs. Hammond's great grandfathers were in the battle of Oriskany in the Revolutionary war. Of these Peter Snell, the father of Joseph P. Snell, was wounded in battle. John Frederick Snell, the father of Mary Elizabeth Snell, the wife of Joseph P. Snell, was killed, and George Stam escaped uninjured. All of these with many others of their kinsmen were in Capt. Jacob Klock's Co. under General Herkimer.

George Hammond finished his education at Mt. Cesar Seminary in Swanzey, N. H. He took an active part with his father in the early temperance movements of this locality and was during his whole life a total abstainer from all intoxicants and tobacco. He wrote largely for the agricultural press and was for many years a valued correspondent of the "Cultivator and Country Gentleman" and also of the "Mirror and Farmer." He also wrote much on temperance subjects, but never took an active part in politics, although he was a lifelong Republican. He held the office of justice of the peace in his native town for about ten years and held some minor offices in the town where he lived the last years of his life, but they were always unsought as he declined to attend party caucuses or to take any active part in partisan politics. He was very reserved in his intercourse with others and always preferred to write rather than talk. He was a great reader upon all subjects of interest and was a great thinker. He was never a church member but held advanced opinions on matters of religion. On account of his excellent education and fine penmanship he was frequently called upon to write the wills and other legal papers of his neighbors and to make out tax lists, &c., in the locality. He was much interested in agricultural pursuits and in breeding fine blooded sheep, cattle and horses during his entire life but suffered the loss of the most of his property during the financial panic of 1873 to 1879. His wife, Almina Snell was quite well educated and a very intelligent woman. The following obituary notice from the "Oneida Union" of August 3, 1892, shows something of the esteem in which she was held by her neighbors:

> "Mrs. Almina S. Hammond, wife of George Hammond, of Stockbridge, died at her home on Thursday last. She had suffered from cancer nearly three years when it was removed about a year ago, but her blood had become so poisoned by it that the wound never entirely healed and gradually undermined her health until death released her from her sufferings. Mrs. Hammond was the daughter of George and Betsey Snell and was born in Stockbridge Aug. 30, 1836. In 1857 she married and removed to her husband's home in Gilsum, N. H., where she lived until 1866, when in company with Mr. Hammond's father, the late Hon. Geo. W. Hammond, M. D., they removed to their present home in Stockbridge. She is survived by her husband, two brothers, Morey Snell, of Stockbridge, and Jay S. Snell, of Kenwood, and two sons, Fred S., of Oneida, and Edwin G., who resides at the old homestead. She was loved and repected by all who knew her and will be sadly missed by all the sick and afflicted in this vicinity. She was a kind friend to everyone in time of need and though barely able to do so, she kindly cared for her aged uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Stam, and did for them as if she were their own child for several years prior to her death. The funeral was held at her late home on Saturday last, Rev. F. W. Betts, pastor of the First Universalist church, of Syracuse, officiating. Mrs. Hammond was broad and liberal in her religious views, respecting the opinions of everyone and freely according to them the same rights that she claimed for herself. Though a terrible sufferer she never complained, but ever thought of the sufferings of those around her. She passed away at peace with all and with the consciousness of a life well spent. Her end was as peaceful and tranquil as sleep. The interment was at Stockbridge cemetery."

(IX) Hon. Isaac Ware Hammond, (Otis G.^{8}) b. Gilsum, N. H., July 9, 1831; d. Concord, N. H., Sept. 28, 1890; m.

March 16, 1863, Martha Washington Kimball, b. Jan. 28, 1836, dau. of Benjamin and Olive (Price) Kimball, of East Concord, N. H. She is of the eighth generation from Richard Kimball, the emigrant and early settler of Ipswich, Mass. She resides on North State St. in Concord, N. H., and is an estimable lady, loved and highly respected by all who know her. She was a worthy helpmate, a wise counselor and faithful companion to the husband whose loss she mourns.

Isaac Ware Hammond was born at Gilsum, N. H., July 9, 1831. Here he spent his boyhood and acquired a common school education in the village schools, and afterward attended Mount Cesar Seminary in Swanzey and the old Marlow Academy. Not being inclined to the life of the farm he entered the employment of the Cheshire Cotton Mills at Jaffrey as bookkeeper and paymaster. Here he remained for a year and a half and then went to Keene, where he spent another term of equal length as salesman in the dry goods store of J. W. Briggs & Co. Feeling himself now qualified for a larger field he went to Boston where he found employment as salesman and bookkeeper in the dry goods establishment of Libby & Brothers, and was afterward occupied as an expert bookkeeper on private accounts. On account of poor health he was soon obliged to leave Boston and seek an inland location. He went to Northern New York and kept a general store at Rouses Point and Fort Covington until 1857, when he returned to his native state and resolved to try his fortunes at the Capitol. He remained in Concord until the breaking out of the war, being employed as a salesman by John P. Johnson, a prominent dealer in dry goods. The President's call for three months' men aroused his patriotic spirit and he enlisted under that call but was not mustered. A short time afterward he received from Col. Cross the appointment of Commissary Sergeant in the 5th regiment of infantry then being formed. He enlisted Sept. 25, 1861, and was mustered in Oct. 26, 1861, served his three year's term with this famous regiment and was mustered out Oct. 29, 1864.

The 5th New Hampshire was the fighting regiment of all the federal forces, as is proved by official figures. It bears the proud record of having lost more men killed and mortally wounded in action than any other regiment in the Union armies, heavy artillery excepted. Twenty-three engagements it passed through and the losses in action were 282, of whom 18 were officers, and 176 died from disease and other causes than wounds, making a total loss of 458 officers and men. William F. Fox, in his book "Regimental Losses in the Civil War," says:

> "The one regiment in all the Union armies which sustained the greatest loss in battle during the American Civil War was the Fifth New Hampshire Infantry. [This statement does not include heavy artillery.] * * * It served in the first division, second corps. This division was commanded successfully by Generals Richardson, Hancock, Caldwell, Barlow and Miles, and any regiment that followed the fortunes of these men was sure to find plenty of bloody work cut out for it. The losses of the Fifth New Hampshire occurred entirely in aggressive, hard, stand up fighting; none of it happened in routes or through blunders. Its loss includes eighteen officers killed, a number far in excess of the usual proportion and indicates that the men were bravely led."

Mr. Hammond's only brother, Albert O. Hammond, was also in the service in the latter part of the war, and his patriotism cost him his life. He enlisted in Company M., Second Massachusetts Cavalry, and was mustered in Jan. 4, 1864, being a resident of Dedham, Mass. He was captured and sent to Andersonville prison, where he was so reduced by starvation that he died Sept. 12, 1864, shortly after being transferred to Savannah.

After the expiration of his three years of service, Mr. Hammond resided in East Concord for a short time, and in 1868 removed to Manchester, where he successfully carried on a small farm in the district known as Hallsville. His health was so undermined by malaria and other afflictions incident to army life in the south, that some such out-door life as this was deemed necessary. He also improved this time in learning the carpenter's trade. He returned to Concord in 1874, and followed his new occupation until disabled by a fall from the roof of a building, from the effects of which he never fully recovered.

In 1877 he was appointed deputy secretary of state and continued in that office by successive re-appointment for ten years. In June, 1887, he was elected librarian of the New Hampshire Historical Society, and he served the society for three years or until he was obliged by failing health to resign. During this time he edited volume 9 of the collection of the society. In 1881 he was appointed editor of state papers, and during the remainder of his life he compiled and edited volumes 11 to 18 of the State Papers of New Hampshire, including the Revolutionary rolls, which comprised volumes 14, 15, 16 and 17. He was deputy U. S. marshal for taking the census of 1870, member of the New Hampshire constitutional convention of 1876, commander of the E. E. Sturtevant Post, No. 2, G. A. R., of Concord, secretary of the New Hampshire college of electors in 1884, vice-president of the Manufacturers' and Merchants' Insurance Co. He was a member of the New Hampshire Historical Society, and the New England Historic Genealogical Society, honorary member of the Maine Historical Society, and was elected a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. Although not a man of college education, he received the degree of A. M. from Dartmouth College in 1883. He was a Mason, a member of Blazing Star lodge of Concord, and served as marshal of the lodge for several years. During his army service he was secretary of one of the "traveling" lodges then in existence in the field.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 17, 1863, son of Daniel and Abigail (———) Dowd. After her marriage to Dr. Dowd she settled with him in Michigan where she remained until after the death of her husband who had enlisted in the Union Army, when she returned to Tipton, Ia., where she remained until 1886, when she went to Ottawa, Kan., to live with her only son who had settled there. She returned to Tipton on a visit and to attend a family reunion which was held at the home of her sister, Mrs. Gunsolus, in Tipton, on Sept. 8, 1897, and was prostrated with illness a few days later from which she never recovered. She was a model Christian woman. While in Tipton she was a member of the Lutheran Church, but in Ottawa, Kan., was an attendant at the Presbyterian Church. She had ever remained the widow of the worthy husband who gave his life for his country. Her funeral was conducted from the home of her sister, Mrs. Susan Gunsolus, and her remains were laid at rest in the Masonic cemetery at Tipton.

(IX) Fanny Louis Hammond, b. Omega, Ill., Sept. 19, 1864; r. Salem, Ill.; m. May 10, 1883, Hon. Charles E. Hull, of Salem, Ill.; b. Salem, Nov. 7, 1862, son of Erasmus Hull. Mr. Hull graduated from Salem High school in 1877. He then entered the Southern Illinois Normal school, taking the classical course and graduated with class honors in 1880. He has followed the business of his father and grandfather—that of a general merchant. The present site of Salem was planted and named and the nucleus of the city made by a great grandfather of Senator Hull, Mark Tulley. His maternal grandfather, Rev. William Finley, was one of the pioneer preachers of Southern Illinois and organized many of the early Cumberland Presbyterian churchs. His paternal grandfather, Samuel Hull, was a veteran of the Black Hawk war and a prominent politician, being in office continuously from 1833 until 1861, holding successively the offices of recorder, sheriff, county judge and postmaster. He was elected sheriff six times, having met with no opposition after his first election. He was a Democrat up to the time of the breaking out of the rebellion when he became a Republican. He and his faithful wife lived together 57 years and died within a few hours of each other about 12 years ago. Mr. Hull's father, the late Erasmus Hull, was a quite, reserved, home-loving gentleman and never cared to mix much in public affairs or hold office which would take him away from his home life. In addition to his mercantile business he was interested in, and a director of the Salem National bank from its inception and also owned and operated a large flouring and saw mill. In politics he was a staunch Democrat and was prominent in his party, having been chairman of the county board for many years. In connection with his father he established a general store in Salem in 1853 in which he was succeeded by his son who has increased and extended the business until there are now six general stores in Marion county in which he is financially interested. Senator Hull owns large interests in three coal mines, Sandoval, Salem and Kinmundy, employing about 400 miners. He is also largely interested in farming, owning and operating the old country seat of Judge Hull, the most of which lies within the city limits.

Senator Hull was elected to the state senate after a fierce contest with his Republican opponent, in 1896. He is an untiring worker and a cool, clear-headed man. He is the editor and publisher of the Salem "Herald-Advocate," the oldest paper in the county and an influential Democratic organ.

He is now serving his second term in the state senate.

(X) Frederick Stam Hammond, (George[9]) b. Gilsum, N. H., Aug. 19, 1858; resides at Oneida, N. Y. He removed with his parents to Stockbridge, N. Y., in 1866, and resided there during the years of his boyhood, attending the public school in the vicinity and later at Falley Seminary, in Fulton, N. Y., once a large and popular educational institution, but now abandoned. He taught for a brief period but was not eminently successful as a teacher. He early removed to Wayne Co., N. Y., where he married Mary Elizabeth Hammond, b. May 29, 1854, dau. of Nathaniel and Electa (Pettengill) Hammond, who reside at South Butler, Wayne Co., N. Y. Her father was born in Easton, Washington Co., N. Y., in 1831, son of John Porter and Eliza (Smith) Hammond, who removed from there to Oswego Co., N. Y., in 1836. She was a descendant of Benjamin Hammond, who came from London, Eng., to Mass., in 1634. Mrs. Hammond was a very intelligent woman, having a fair common school education, which she had augmented by general reading and study of economic and scientic subjects to such an extent that she was well versed in current political, economic and religious discussion in all of which she exhibited a breadth of mind and thought far above the average woman of even this advanced age. Kind and considerate of others, ever ready to assist any one in time of distress or need, she gained the sincere friendship and respect of all except the narrow-minded and bigoted.

She died very suddenly of apoplexy June 11, 1902, leaving an inconsolable family. The funeral was held at the family home on Saturday, June 14, and was noticeable for the profusion of beautiful flowers sent by friends in Oneida and from distant points. The services were conducted by Rev. F. W. Betts, pastor of the First Universalist Church, of Syracuse, N. Y., and burial was made in the family lot at Stockbridge, N. Y.

After living in various localities in New York State the family came to Oneida in 1893 where he has since resided. He was one of the promoters and a member of the building committee which erected the Oneida public hospital. This building, which has proved such a blessing to many since its erection, was built from the proceeds of entertainments and by voluntary contributions and at its completion was deeded by the building committee to the city of Oneida.

He is strictly independent in partisan politics. He is not a church member, holding liberal views and freely giving to others the same right of conscience he claims for himself. At a very early age he began writing for various publications of the day on religious, political, economical, historical and other subjects and has continued to contribute more or less to the discussion of these subjects ever since that time. In 1886 he was a press representative of the "Albany Telegram," but resigned the position to go on a western trip for a large manufacturing company. After coming to Oneida he entered the employ of the Oneida Carriage works where he remained over three years, resigning his position to take the position of time-keeper and shipping clerk in the factory of the Oneida Silverware M'f'g. Co., which position he held until the dissolution of the firm in 1901. He then secured a position in the department of admissions at the Pan-American Exposition, where he remained until after the close of the exposition.

In 1887 he was a delegate to the United Labor Party State convention, at Syracuse, N. Y., at which time Henry George was nominated for secretary of state. He served on several of the more important committees of the convention.

He was at one time a vice-president of the National Co-operative Union and has taken an active interest in economic and political reform movements for many years. He has served on the board of hospital commissioners of Oneida ever since it was organized and was president of the board in 1901.

He is a member of the New Hampshire society of the Sons of the American Revolution and has been connected with various other organizations.

(X) Lucy Mahala Bill, b. Gilsum, N. H., Dec. 14, 1851; r. Gilsum, N. H.; m. Oct. 21, 1875, Dr. Israel Albert Loveland, b. Nov. 3, 1850, son of Israel B. and Sarah (Thompson) Loveland, of Gilsum.

Dr. Loveland graduated from Dartmouth Medical College in the fall of 1874, and the next year located in Westmoreland, N. H., in the practice of his profession. Was physician to the Cheshire Co. almshouse; served continuously as a member of the school board and was treasurer of the Westmoreland Fire Ins. Co., from the time of its formation until he left town. In 1882, at the earnest solicitation of friends in Gilsum, he returned to his native town where he has since engaged in professional duties. While in Westmoreland he was elected president of the Conn. River Med. association and has since filled the same office in the Cheshire Co. Med. society. He is now (1902) secretary and executive officer of the Gilsum board of health.

Business has claimed a share of his attention especially in recent years. He is the eastern representative of two large western financial institutions and is on the board of directors of the Keene, Marlow and Newport Electric Railway Co. He is a justice of the peace and notary public and has done considerable legal business.

In religion he is a Congregationalist and in politics a Democrat; has served his party for some time past as a member of its State central committee.

Their daughters are both in Boston, Mass., where the younger is a student in the Faelten Pianoforte school.

HAMMONDS OF MARBLEHEAD, MASS.

It has been impossible to get any connected or authentic account of the Hammonds of Marblehead prior to about 1709. There are undoubtedly several distinct families in Marblehead and vicinity descended from different emigrant ancestors. It is possible that some of these are descendants of John Hammond, the early settler in Gloucester, but there seems to be no proof that such is the case. Richard Hammond was in Marblehead as early as 1670 and may have been the father of Edward Hammond who married there in 1709, but it is possible that this Edward was the son of Edward and Susanna (Bradley) Hammond, who was born in Bristol, R. I., Dec. 1, 1687. (See R. I. families in following pages.) There is some evidence of a connection between the families of Marblehead and those of Rehoboth and Swanzey, Mass.

It is almost certain that the ancestor of the main family in Marblehead came from Ipswich, England. It seems probable that both the Hammond and Peach families of Marblehead originally came from this locality, and the Richard Hammond who was in Marblehead in 1670 was probably born in Ipswich, England. His parentage was probably as follows:

(I) Edward Hammond and wife, Catherine, were living in the Parish of St. Clements, Ipswich, England, in 1571 and 1577. They had several children, among whom were Mary, Susan and William.

(II) William Hammond, son of Edward and Catherine, was twice married and left a large family of children, among whom were the following, all mentioned in his will dated Jan. 24, 1649, proved May 23, 1650:

1. John, b. —— ; m. St. Clements, Ipswich, 1658, Elizabeth Crane. Had several children, among whom were sons, John and William.
2. William, a mariner whose will was probated, Arch. Suffolk, March 13, 1661. Wife Dorcas, sons John and William. Daughters Hannah, Dorcas and Martha.
3. Edward, a mariner, m. St. Clements, Ipswich, 1638, Thomasine Peach, dau. of William Peach, of Ipswich, Mariner, and Thomasine Cole, his wife. His will was probated, Arch. Suffolk, Nov. 2, 1667, and names children Jonathan, Nathaniel, Edward, Samuel, John, William, Abigail and Thomasine. His sons, Edward and William, were mariners and ship owners.

4. Richard, living in 1649, but no later records of him have been found in England. He was probably the Richard of Marblehead.
5. Mary, living in 1649.
6. Sarah, the wife of John Barnes, of Ipswich.
7. ——, (a daughter) wife of —— Grymble, in 1649.

"The Hammonds of Ipswich were a race of hardy sea captains and themselves in great part owners of the ships they sailed in and of the cargoes they carried. They held the Manor of Newton Hall, in Swilland, for several generations. Edward Hammond, who died a little after the Restoration, is mentioned with approval by Matthias Candler, the Genealogical Vicar of Coddenham. 'Henry Bloomfield,' he says, 'one of the Chiefe Constables of the Hu of Thredling, married to his second wife, Thomasine daughter of Thomas Coale of Ipswich, the relict of W^{m}. Peche a M^{r} of a ship neere the old Barre gates in Ipswich. She had a daughter married to Edward Hamont, M^{r} of a ship in Ipswich, a pius man.' "—Harl. M. S. 6071, p. 543.

"A tombstone in the church yard at St. Clements, Ipswich, has the following inscription: 'The Burying place of Captain Benjamin Hamond and Captain John Hamond, sons of Edward Hamond, in this parish,' and bears the coat of arms. The Shield, Party per pale, displays a quartrefoil between three demi—lions passant guardant; and the Crest above, on helmet and torse, is a wolf's head erased." (Suffolk Manorial Families.)

The Hammonds of Marblehead were nearly all mariners. Many of them were captains and ship owners.

It is probable that Elias Hammond, who settled in Marblehead about 1725, was from Lynn or Salem and was a descendant of Elias Hammond, an early settler of Boston or Charleston. We shall first follow the descendants so far as known of Edward Hammond, who married there in 1709.

(I) Edward Hammond, b. unknown, perhaps in Bristol, R. I., Dec. 1, 1687; d. Marblehead, Mass.; m. Jan. 1, 1709, Rebecca Wormstele, whose parentage is unknown. The records in Marblehead are very incomplete and it has been impossible to get more facts. Perhaps he had more children than those credited to him and he may have been the father of John and Philip whose decendants follow his in this work, but there is no evidence to show this and tradition denies it.

Edward was certainly the ancestor of the most numerous branch of the family in Marblehead. His descendants were generally mariners, captains and ship owners, or in the West India trade. They were generally well-to-do or wealthy people and the majority of those now living are people of superior education and considerable means.

Children:

2* 1. Edward, b. Oct. 1, 1709.
3* 2. Benjamin, b. May 9, 1713.
4* 3. William, b. Oct., 1716.
5. 4. Sarah, b. Feb. 16, 1718.
6. 5. Richard, b. Oct. 1, 1721.

(II) Edward Hammond, (Edward^1) b. Marblehead, Mass., Oct. 1, 1707; d. Sudbury, Mass., before Oct., 1756; m. 1st Feb. 15, 1732, Mary Mulley. She d. and he m. 2d Dec. 2, 1737, Susanna Oakes, dau. of Richard Oakes, of Marblehead and Sudbury, Mass. The will of Richard Oakes, of Sudbury, dated Oct. 19, 1756, leaves his property to his daughter, Susanna Hammond, late wife of Edward Hammond, deceased, and names her as executrix. If she re-marries the property is to go to his grandchildren, William and Mary Hammond, to be equally divided between the two after the death of their aunt, Hannah Oakes.

(III) Edward Hammond, (Edward^2) b. Sudbury, Mass., 1738 ; d. Sudbury, Mass., March 1761 ; un-m.

His mother, widow Susanna Hammond, brother William Hammond and sister Mary Hammond, petitioned the court March 28, 1761, for the appointment of Cornelius Wood, administrator of his estate. He was appointed and gave bond with Josiah Richardson and Ezra Taylor as sureties. Jan. 4, 1762, Wood petitioned for commissioners in insolvency on the estate and John Hawes and Asher Cutler were appointed. No inventory or other papers are on file. (Middlesex Probate, No. 7142.)

(III) William Hammond, (Edward^2) b. Sudbury, Mass., 1739 ; d. Natick, Mass., June 16, 1816 ; m. Feb. 14, 1764, Kezia Hawes, b. June 25, 1746, d. June 1, 1826, of Needham, Mass. He removed to Natick about 1761. (H. Mann.) He was a Corp. in Capt. Joseph Morse's Co., Col. Samuel Bullard's Regt., on the Lexington Alarm, April 19, 1775, and served five days. He served as a private in Capt. Joshua Fiske's Co., Col. Abner Perry's Regt., from July 28, 1780, to Aug. 7, 1780. He probably saw much service between these two enlistments as there appears to have been considerable service credited to William Hammond, but nothing to indicate his residence. His gravestone, surmounted by a willow and urn, bears the following inscription:

> "Weep not, my friends, dry up your tears,
> I must lie here until Christ appears,
> And at his coming, hope to have,
> A glorious rising from the grave."

There is a S. A. R. marker on his grave. The gravestone of his widow bears the following inscription:

> "Mrs. Kezia, wife of William Hammond, died June 1, 1826, Æ, 80."
> "O peaceful grave receive this clay
> And keep it till the glorious day,
> When our Grand Master bids arise
> And join the lodge above the skies."

PHILIP HAMMOND, OF MARBLEHEAD, MASS.

(I) Philip Hammond was born about 1710. His birth and parentage cannot be ascertained. It has been supposed that he was a son of Edward, but this is not probable. Philip was a common name in a family of Hammonds living in Boston at an early date, but no connection can be made with these families, or any connected account of their descendants obtained.[1] It seems certain that he was nearly related to John and Elias Hammond, of Marblehead, and was perhaps a brother of Benjamin Hammond, of Point Shirley and an uncle of Benjamin Hammond, of Danvers, Mass.

He removed to Danvers about 1760, but returned to Marblehead a few years later.

The covenant of the first church in Charleston was signed Aug. 27, 1630[2] by "Philip Hammond, widdow" and "Frances Hammond, our Bro. Leaverett's ser$^{\text{vt}}$." ("Memorial History Boston," p. 566.)

In "Boston Marriages, 1700-51," published by the Record Commissioners of Boston, are found the following marriages that may have been of people closely related to these Marblehead families:

"Boston Births, 1700-1800," published by the Record Commissioners, contains the following:

Page 198. "Joseph, son of Elias and Frances Hammond, b. Oct. 8, 1730." Perhaps this may indicate the ancestry of Joseph Hammond, of Marblehead, b. about 1795.

Feb. 29, 1764, Philip Hammond, of Danvers, sold to Jacob Goodale 22½ acres of land in Danvers; consideration £329. The deed was signed by Mary, his wife. (Essex Registry, 116; 104.)

Aug. 18, 1772, Philip Hammond of Marblehead, shoreman, with consent of his wife Mary, sold to his son John Hammond, fisherman, two pieces of land, "Conveyed to me by Sarah Moje, 14 April, 1749, by deed 93; 50 in Registry," with a dwelling house and barn. (Essex Registry, 122; 208.)

Aug. 14, 1777, Philip Hammond, of Marblehead, in consideration of the sum of £3-3-0, sold to Thomas Williston, of Marblehead, housewright, a marsh in Marblehead, "which I purchased of James Sweetland, Benjamin Sweetland and Samuel Sweetland, all of Attleborough." (Essex Registry, 135; 161.)

July 23, 1767, Philip Hammond, of Marblehead, fisherman, in consideration of the sum of £4-6-8, sold to Nathaniel Pope, of Danvers, Yoeman, 2 acres of meadow. The deed is signed by Mary Hammond, his wife. (Essex Registry, 138; 96.)

Dec. 27, 1773, Philip Hammond, of Marblehead, laborer, in consideration of the sum of £4-18-8, sold to Daniel Malloon, of Salem, land in Middleton. Mary, his wife, signed with her mark. (Essex Registry, 134; 137.)

Children:

Dec. 28, 1772, John Hammond, of Marblehead, fisherman, mortgaged the lands deeded him by his father, (122; 208) to Samuel Swett, of Marblehead, merchant, for the sum of £46–10–0. The mortgage deed is signed by his wife, Deborah, and provides for the redemption of the land by his father, Philip Hammond, or by himself or the heirs or assigns of either. (Essex Registry 131; 23.) He was a private in Capt. Joel Smith's Co., Col. John Glover's Regt., from June 17, 1775, to Aug. 1, 1775. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in Rev.) He re-enlisted in the same regiment (21st) and company and is credited with service from Oct., 1775, to Jan. 25, 1776. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in Rev.)

It is probable that he saw further service and gave his life for his country.

Children:

17. 1. Deborah, bapt. Nov. 16, 1773; d. young.
18. 2. John, bapt. March 10, 1776; lived in Marblehead to advanced age but no record of his family has been found.

He was a soldier in the Revolutionary War. He enlisted March 1, 1776, in Capt. Edward Fettyplace's (Marblehead) Co. and served until Jan. 1, 1777. He must have re-enlisted on board a ship of war as it is a matter of record that "Elias Hamon was a prisoner at Halifax with Capt. Edward Fettyplace, Jr., and crew, to be exchanged for British prisoners."

He was exchanged Dec. 15, 1777, for Edward Conney. (See "Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in War of Rev.")

He was a marine on the brig "Gen. Gates" under Capt. John Skinner, rated at 1¼ shares in the prize division.

BENJAMIN HAMMOND, OF DANVERS, MASS.

(I) Benjamin Hammond, birth and parentage unknown. It is not known who he married and it is the tradition that he lived on Point Shirley, Boston Bay. It is known that he was in some way related to the Hammonds of Marblehead.

Children:

2* 1. Benjamin.
3* 2. John Vincent.
4. 3. A daughter.
5. 4. A daughter.

(II) Capt. Benjamin Hammond, (Benjamin[1]) d. Danvers, Mass.; m. Susanna ———. He was one of the charter members of Essex Lodge, F. & A. M., of Salem, Mass., March 4, 1779. (Essex Inst. Coll. Vol. 3, p. 38.) He was commissioned commander of the privateer "Grey Hound" March 17, 1779, and of the "Dolphin" March 15, 1780. ("Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in Rev.") He was captured by the British and confined in the "Old Mill" prison at Dartmoor, England, Jan. 18, 1781.

Children:

6* 1. Benjamin.
7. 2. Susanna.
8. 3. Betsey, b. 1762.

(II) John Vincent Hammond, (Benjamin[1]) b. ——; m. 1st, Aug. 21, 1783, Martha Hanover, a school mistress, of Marblehead, Mass., who d. ——, and he m. 2d, Mrs. Rebecca (Blacklee) Hanover, widow of his brother-in-law, John Hanover, of Marblehead. M. 3d, widow ——— Hammond, of Boston, Mass. She was probably the widow of his cousin, John Vincent Hammond, of Boston. He lived in Danvers, Mass., nearly all of his life and followed the sea until too aged to do so longer. He was drowned in Boston Harbor and buried at Point Shirley.

Just how this family is connected with the families in Marblehead cannot now be learned. It is certain, however, that they are of the same ancestry. Some notes were found among the papers of the late Edward H. Hammond, of Haverhill, Mass. The following is the family tradition as he had written it. How much fact it contains is not known, but it is very doubtful if the Hammonds came from Jersey. That they were descended in female lines from Jersey ancestors is well known :

> "Four brothers named Hammond, from Jersey, England, came on a pleasure excursion to see the country, being gentlemen of means, as tradition says. One family settled in Danvers, one in Ipswich, one in Marblehead and our ancestor, my father's grandfather, on Point Shirley, Boston Bay.
> "My great-grandfather's family consisted of two girls and one boy, perhaps others. Benjamin Hammond, his son, lived in Danvers.
> "My grandfather, John Vincent Hammond, married Martha Hanover, of Marblehead, a school mistress. This wife was the first and the mother of my father. J. V. Hammond married also Rebecca Blacklee, who was the widow of John Hanover, the brother of Martha, who was also of Marblehead origin. He married for a third wife a widow Hammond, of Boston, perhaps the widow of his cousin."

There is very little in the way of authentic records to be found, but it is almost certain that he was a descendant of Edward Hammond, of Marblehead.

Children :

9. 1. Martha Hanover, b. 1786; d. young.
10* 2. John, b. 1789.
11. 3. Benjamin, b. 1790; d. young.

PHILIP HAMMOND, OF IPSWICH, MASS.

(I) Capt. Philip Hammond, birth and parentage unknown ; d. Ipswich, Mass., Feb. 24, 1812 ; m. Aug. 15, 1857, (Pub. Sept. 21, 1756,) Elizabeth Hart, of Ipswich, Mass.

It cannot be learned when or where he was born. His parentage seems to be a mystery beyond solution.

It seems certain that he was a near relative of the Hammonds of Marblehead and of Benjamin Hammond, of Danvers.

He may have been a son of John and Eleanor (Sweetland) Hammond, who m. Mary Sweetland, in Marblehead, Jan. 11, 1732, but if so he must have married very young.

If tradition is true he was a brother of Benjamin Hammond, of Point Shirley, and uncle of Benjamin, Jr., of Danvers. If this is true he had a brother in Marblehead, but it is impossible to determine which of the Marblehead Hammonds could have been his brother. It is almost certain that John and Philip Hammond, of Marblehead, were brothers, therefore he could not have been a brother of theirs.

He owned a house and lands on Summer St., in Ipswich, below County St., now owned by the Waltons. He bought a part of this land in 1784 and resided here until his death.

He was a sea captain engaged in the West India trade in which he was succeeded by his son, Capt. Phillip Hammond, Jr. He acquired considerable property and his descendants have all, so far as known, been in comfortable circumstances. The parentage of his wife has not been learned, but the following deed, in settlement of her father's estate, contains sufficient evidence to determine the matter if the early Ipswich records are searched :

Feb. 21, 1782, Thomas Hart, cooper, Philip Hammond, mariner, and Elizabeth his wife, Deborah Hart, single woman, and Mary Hart, single woman, all of Ipswich, in consideration of the sum of £26-13-4, sold to John Caldwell, 4th Ipswich school-master, the west end of a dwelling house in Ipswich, with a cooper shop and one-half of the cellar to said house. (Essex Registry, 142 ; 155.)

Dec. 23, 1788, Philip Hammond, of Ipswich, mariner, in consideration of the sum of £7-10-0, sold to Philip Hammond, Jr., land in Ipswich. His wife Elizabeth gave up her right of dower. (Essex Registry, 149-232.)

Children:

2* 1. ELIZABETH, b. Dec. 16, 1759.
3* 2. PHILIP, b. 1761.
4* 3. SUSANNA, b. Nov. 6, 1763.

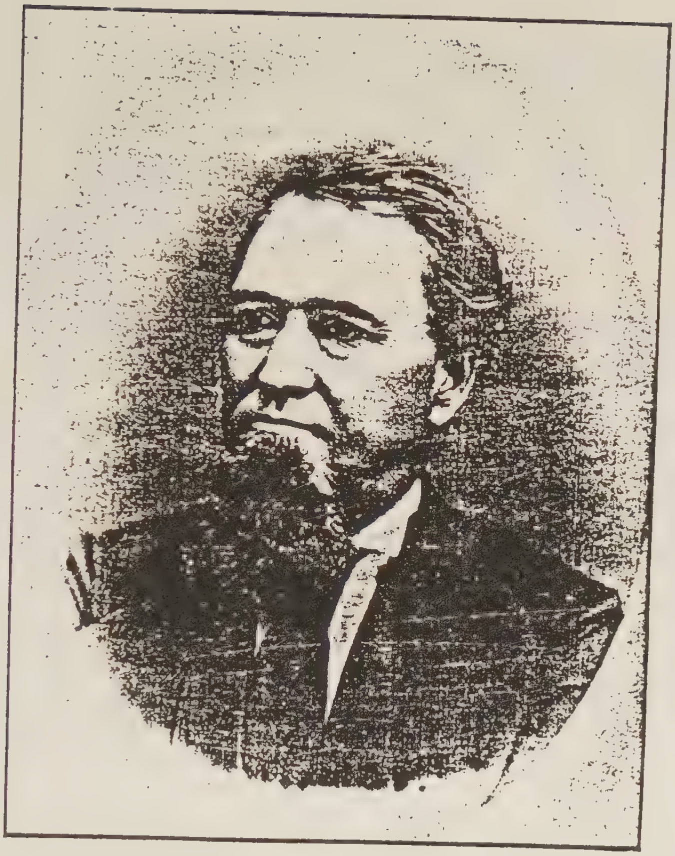
(II) ELIZABETH HAMMOND, b. Ipswich, Mass., Dec. 16, 1759; d. Ipswich, Mass., May 14, 1845; m. Jan. 24, 1784, Caleb Kimball, b. Dec. 10, 1758; d. July 30, 1807, son of Benjamin Kimball, of Ipswich, Mass. They were residents of Ipswich, Mass.



J. E. W. Hammond

He was a Revolutionary soldier in the companies of Capt. Smith and Capt. Dodge, in regiments commanded by Cols. Little, Wade, Pickering and Cogswell, and saw service on Long Island, Rhode Island and at Harlem Heights, White Plains and at Princeton. He was with his company at the surrender of Burgoyne.

Children :

5. 1. Elizabeth, (Kimball) b. Jan. 11, 1785 ; d. Salem, Mass., Sept. 6, 1871 ; m. March 8, 1804, Ebenezer Lord.

(II) Capt. Philip Hammond, Jr., (Capt. Philip[1]) b. Ipswich, Mass., 1761 ; d. West Indies, 1797 ; m. Nov. 30, 1784, (Pub. Oct. 30, 1784) Abigail Dennis, b. Nov. 16, 1762 ; d. Nov. 30, 1797, dau. of Rev. John Dennis, of Ipswich, Mass.

He was a sea captain in the West India trade, and made his home in Ipswich, Mass., where all of his children were born. It is probable that his wife was a near relative of Mary Dennis who married Benjamin Hammond in Marblehead in 1767, and whose son, Capt. William Hammond, was a resident in Ipswich some years.

HAMMOND GENEALOGY.

PART VI.

FRANCIS HAMANT, (Hammond)

OF MEDFIELD, MASS.

(I) Francis Hamant, b. ——, in England; d. Medfield, Mass., July 27, 1692; m. Sarah ———. She died in Medfield Sept. 29, 1708.

There is no doubt that this name was originally Hamond, as the name was then spelled, and Francis probably came from Melford or Lavenham, Suffolk County, England. He was probably a relative of Thomas Hammond, of Newton, and William Hammond, of Watertown, Mass. A large part of his descendants spell the name Hammond, but it has been found advisable to use both forms of spelling in this genealogy in order to avoid any misunderstanding and to make the work satisfactory in so far as possible to the adherents of both forms of spelling.

The late Rev. Charles Hammond, of Monson, Mass., an educated gentleman who had given much time and attention to genealogical research, wrote as follows under date of Dec. 3, 1850: "My grandfather was born in Medfield, Mass. He and all his relatives in that town had always spelled the name Hamant, while the tradition existed that the name Hammond was the original English name, and that we belonged to the Hammond family in England and in this country. In consequence of this tradition, my father, when he removed to Connecticut, in the year 1800, assumed the name of Hammond, which his children have retained."

Timothy Hammond, a graduate of Harvard College, 1808, a lawyer of Salem, Mass. and Medway, Mass., and later of Cincinnati, O., also adopted the spelling Hammond. G. F. Walker, A. M., late of Holliston, Mass., and principal of Mt. Hollis Seminary, says, "Timothy Hammond, Esq., changed the name from Hamant to Hammond in his branch of the family because, as he said, it was spelled 'Hamant' by the mistake of ignorance."

Rev. Pitt Clarke, in his "Memoirs," says, "My mother's name was originally Meletiah Hammont, which rightly spelled is Hammond."

Francis Hamant came from England and settled in that part of Dedham, Mass., which afterwards became Medfield. There is a tradition that he came from Sheffield, in the West Riding of Yorkshire. He was in Medfield previous to 1650 and probably came not long before that date. He died in Medfield, July 27, 1692, and his widow, Sarah Hamant, died there Sept. 29, 1708. His will, dated April 20, 1692; proved Sept. 1, 1692, speaks of old age, and names his son, John, son-in-law, Jeremy Morse and his daughter, Elizabeth. His wife and son, Timothy, were named as executors. (See Savage, Vol. 2, p. 344.)

There is no positive proof that Francis Hamant came from Suffolk County, England, but the name was common there. (See Early Hammond Records, pp. 15-21.) The accompanying cut is made from a tracing of the signature of Francis Hammond, who married Sarah Hammond in Lavenham, England, May 20, 1668. (See p. 21.)

ffrancis Hamant

It is barely possible that this was the emigrant to America as there is some uncertainty as to the time of his arrival in this country, but if this was the case Sarah must have been a second wife.

(V) TIMOTHY HAMMOND, (Timothy^4) b. E. Medway, Mass., June 15, 1786; d. Cincinnati, O., 1834.

Timothy graduated from Harvard College, class of 1808. He read law with Judge Story and began practice in Salem, Mass., after his admission to the bar, but in 1813 returned to his native town where he continued in the practice of his profession until 1821. In 1822 he removed to Cincinnati, O. He was twice married but left only one child by the first marriage. He was a man of more than average ability and gave promise of attaining some prominence in his profession, if he had lived longer. He adopted the Hammond spelling as he said the name was spelled "Hamant" "by the mistake of ignorance." The name of his father, Capt. Timothy Hammond, is found with the same spelling almost universally in Massachusetts public records and papers still extant show that he often signed his name in this way while an officer in the Revolutionary army.

HAMMOND GENEALOGY.

PART VII.

WILLIAM HAMMOND,

OF TARRYTOWN, N. Y.

(I) Daniel Hammond, a young man, took the oath June 10, 1635, and shipped aboard the "Truelove of London;" Robert Dennis, Master; bound for the Bermuda Islands. Of his subsequent career and family we know nothing. He probably remained in the Bermudas and had a family. Between this Daniel and William Hammond, who came to New York about 1700, there must be one generation of which we have no record. The first known record of William in New York is found on the records of the Dutch Reformed Church at Tarrytown, N. Y., and is as follows, under the head of marriages:

> "Nov. 4, 1714, Willem Hammen, widower of the late Marytje Walgraff, b. on the Eylandt of Vermoodus, l. in Niew Jork & Ester Storm, J. d. b. & l. Phillesburg."

The record of Baptism of four of their children is found on the same record, but no record of baptism of John or David has been found. The record of David's enlistment in the Colonial troops gives his age which fixes the date of his birth and proves that he must have been the eldest child of the second wife. From the date of John's marriage it is impossible to avoid the conclusion that he was a son of the first wife, Mary Walgraff, and we shall assume that such was the case. As no record of William's parents has been found, we shall allow for one generation between Daniel and himself, thus making him the third generation in America.

(III) Capt. William Hammond, b. Bermuda Islands; d. Tarrytown, N. Y., 1762; m. 1st, Mary Walgraff, d. 1714; m. 2d, Nov. 4, 1714, Esther Storm, dau. of Jacob and —— Storm, of the Manor of Phillipsburg, N. Y. The Manor of Phillipsburg owned by Frederick Flypsen (Phillipse) who was then the wealthiest man in New York, embraced all of the land from Harlem river to Croton river and east to the Bronx. It is not known at just what time William Hammond came to New York and it is possible that he had other children by his first wife.

The first record that has been found of him was his marriage to Esther Storm. He was one of the most prominent men of the community. His tax in 1732 was £18. He was an elder in the Dutch Church. Fence viewer in 1742 and held other offices. He was captain of the upper part of the Manor in 1755. In a census of the district signed by Capt. William Hammond, published in Doc. Hist. of N. Y., he reports the slaves held in the district, "20 negro men and 11 negrois women." He lived just outside of the village of Tarrytown as then constituted, on the road to White Plains, on a farm which he left to his son, Colonel James Hammond.

His will dated Jan. 15, 1762; proved Dec. 20, 1762, mentions wife Esther, and leaves her the use of his property during her life, after her death to go to son, James, he to care for his brothers, William and Abraham, "having not their natural sences." He also mentions his brother-in-law, William Davids. (Westchester Co., Wills, p. 225.)

Chil. by 1st m.:

4* 1. JOHN, b. 1712.

By 2d wife:

5* 2. DAVID, b. 1716.

(IV) JOHN HAMMOND, (William[3]) b. Phillipsburg, N. Y., 1712; d. Tarrytown, N. Y., 1788, aged 76 years; m. May 18, 1734, Catherine Van Texel. Raymond's Tarrytown Monument, published 1894, gives the date May 15, 1731, and her name as Van Tassel. It is probable that they had other children besides those named below, only three being found recorded on Tarrytown Church records.

Children:

13* 1. WILLIAM, bapt. Nov. 4, 1735.
14* 2. DAVID, b. about 1737.
15. 3. WYNTJE, bapt. June 23, 1739.
16. 4. DANIEL, b. about 1741.
17* 5. JOHN, bapt. Aug. 21, 1746.

(IV) DAVID HAMMOND, (William[3]) b. Tarrytown, N. Y., 1716; d. Tarrytown, N. Y.; m. Oct. 7, 1738, Mary Storm, b. Phillipsburg, N. Y. He enlisted March 23, 1759, in Capt. Sutton's Co., N. Y. Provincial Troops. The record shows that he was then aged 43 years, by occupation a laborer; born in Westchester County, N. Y.

Children:

18. 1. Susanna, bapt. Oct. 6, 1741.
19* 2. David, bapt. June 16, 1744.
20. 3. Henry, bapt. April 19, 1746.

25. 8. Anna, bapt. Oct. 25, 1757.

(IV) Susanna Hammond, (William^3) b. New York, about 1718; m. Hackensack, Dec. 17, 1737, Solomon Dee, of Hackensack. They were married in the Dutch Reformed Church, at Hackensack. (See Holland Society Coll., Vol. 1, Part 1.) The name of this family, as given in the will of Gen. William Hammond, of Tarrytown, N. Y., appears to have been See, instead of Dee, as given in Holland Society's Coll.

Children:

26. 1. William, (Dee) bapt. Aug. 13, 1738.
27. 2. Elizabeth, (Dee) b. Aug. 23, 1741; bapt. Sept. 25, 1741.
28. 3. Samuel, (Dee) bapt. July 15, 1744.
29. 4. Susanna, (Dee) bapt. Aug. 21, 1746.
30. 5. Jane, (Dee) b. Oct. 4, 1748; bapt. Nov. 6, 1748.
31. 6. Isaac, (Dee) b. Jan. 27, 1750; bapt. Feb. 24, 1750.
32. 7. Anna, (Dee) b. Dec. 10, 1753; bapt. Jan. 13, 1754.
33. 8. Selitie, (Dee) b. Feb. 21, 1756; bapt. Mar. 20, 1756.

(IV) Isaac Hammond, (William^3) bapt. Tarrytown, N. Y., Nov. 1, 1720; d. Tarrytown, N. Y.; m. Sept. 25, 1742, Catherine Ackerman, b. Sept. 14, 1725, dau. of David and Mary (Zie) Ackerman, of Tarrytown, N. Y.

Children:

34* 1. Isaac, bapt. June 28, 1743.
35* 2. William, (Statts) bapt. June 22, 1745.
36* 3. David, bapt. May 1, 1748.
37* 4. Jacob, (James) bapt. June 9, 1750.
38* 5. John, bapt. Oct. 24, 1752.
39* 6. Mary, bapt. Sept. 9, 1755.
40* 7. Abraham, bapt. Sept. 6, 1757.
41* 8. Esther, bapt. Sept. 13, 1760.

(IV) Col. James Hammond, (William^3) b. Tarrytown, N. Y., 1727; d. Tarrytown, N. Y., July 26, 1810, in his 83d year (tombstone); m. Feb. 1, 1755, Nancy Ann Wildey, b. in "Manark," Dec. 28, 1739; d. Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 3, 1814, dau. of Thomas and Sarah (Griffin) Wildey, of "Phillipsburg," N. Y.

The will of Thomas Wildey, of Phillipsburg, dated Oct. 7, 1776, proved July 5, 1778, mentions daughter Nancy Hammond and sons-in-law Col. James Hammond and George Coombs. (Westchester Co. Wills, p. 323.) George Coombs and James Hammond are named as executors in the will of their brother-in-law, Joseph Wildey, of Phillipsburg, dated Oct. 7, 1776; proved July 25, 1778. (Westchester Co. Wills, p. 323.) The will of Jacob Griffin, of White Plains, dated June 9, 1777, proved Nov. 13, 1783, mentions Anna, wife of James Hammond, and Elizabeth, wife of George Coombs, "they being children of Thomas Wildey, that he had by my daughter Sarah." The will also mentions "daughter Juda, now wife of Thomas Wildey." (Westchester Co. Wills, p. 367.)

James Hammond inherited his father's farm at Tarrytown. He was a very prominent man in the locality. He took an active part in the local malitia and was in active service during the Revolution. He was commissioned Lieutenant Colonel of the 1st Westchester Co. Regt., Oct. 14, 1775. After the resignation of Col. Joseph Drake in 1776 he was given command of the regiment and was re-appointed on the re-organization of the regiment June 16, 1778. He was captured by the British and held a prisoner for about a year but resumed the command of his regiment immediately after his escape and continued in active service until the close of the war. His name heads the list on the west side of the Tarrytown monument. His tombstone bears the following inscription :

> " 'Tis finished, 'tis done,
> The spirit is fled,
> The prisoner is gone,
> The warrior is dead."

His will proved Aug. 10, 1810, names sons Joseph and William, daughter Lovina, wife of Solomon Hawes, granddaughters Ann Davids, Elizabeth Doty, Pamelia Van Wart and grandson, James Vail.

Children :

42* 1. Sarah, bapt. May 3, 1757.
43* 2. William.
44* 3. Joseph.
45* 4. Lovina.

12

(IV) William Hammond, (William^3) b. Tarrytown, N. Y., d. White Plains, N. Y. The family tradition is that he was a Tory during the Revolution and that he and his family were twice sent by the British to Nova Scotia during the Revolutionary War. It is not known how many children there were in this family. Nothing has been learned about any except those named below. The family lived at White Plains, N. Y., and many of them are buried in the cemetery there.

Children :

46* 1. William H.
47. 2. Isaac. He was a missionary to China.

EDWIN G. HAMMOND.

(V) William Hammond, (John[4]) bapt. Tarrytown, N. Y., Nov. 4, 1735.

Children :

48. 1. Lena, bapt. May 14, 1755.
49. 2. Anitje, bapt. Nov. 5, 1756.

(V) David Hammond, (John[4]) b. Tarrytown, N. Y., about 1737; m. Rachel ——.

Child :

50. 1. Catherine, bapt. June 28, 1763.

(V) John Hammond, Jr., (John[4]) bapt. Tarrytown, N. Y., Aug. 21, 1746; d. Tarrytown, N. Y., 1817, aged 72 years; m. May 6, 1770, Freena Romer.

He was a Revolutionary soldier in his Uncle, Col. James Hammond's Regiment. (See New York in the Revolution, Vol. 1, p. 22.) His farm of 255 acres was bounded north by land of James Requa and east by Saw-mill River. He probably also owned the farm at Esopus on the Hudson, which descended to his son Henry, since owned by Duncan O. Pell, and called Pelham.

Children:

51. 1. Mary, bapt. Sept. 1, 1770.
52. 2. William, bapt. Oct. 10, 1772.
53. 3. Catherine, bapt. July 29, 1777.
54* 4. Henry, b. about 1782.
55. 5. Freena, bapt. May 30, 1784.
56. 6. John, b. about 1786.

(V) David Hammond, (David^4) bapt. Tarrytown, N. Y., June 16, 1744; m. May 5, 1765, Bregie Ecker.

Children:

57. 1. Engeltie, b. Dec. 21, 1766; bapt. Sept., 1767.
58. 2. David, b. Feb. 2, 1771; bapt. June 24, 1771.

(V) Wyntje Hammond, (David^4) bapt. Tarrytown, N. Y., Sept. 9, 1755.

Children:

59. 1. ——— } Twins, bapt. July 29, 1777.

Children:

61. 1. Lena, bapt. June 30, 1764.
61½. 2. Reuben, bapt. Mar. 2, 1778.

35

(V) Statts Hammond, (Isaac^4) bapt. Tarrytown, N. Y., June 22, 1745; d. Unionville, N. Y.; m. Nov. 8, 1767, Elizabeth Miller. There seems to be little doubt that "Statts" was baptized as William. The name Statts, or States, as it is found written frequently in the early records, was probably given him on account of his activity in the Revolutionary cause. He was early interested in the cause of independence and an active patriot throughout the entire struggle. The page in the records of the Dutch Reformed Church at Tarrytown, on which his marriage is recorded has been torn and the maiden name of his wife is gone. It has been given as Elizabeth Martling, but the preponderence of evidence is in favor of Elizabeth Miller, probably daughter of Moses Miller, who owned land adjoining his farm. He lived on the east side of the road leading from Tarrytown to the village of Unionville, near Hammond's mill pond, about one mile from Unionville and four miles from Tarrytown. He owned 110 acres of land bounded north by Jacob VanWart and Moses Miller and west by Abraham Storms, land formerly owned by William Vail. He also owned another farm of 38½ acres, bounded east and south by lands of Isaac Hammond, north by William Underhill.

He was sergeant in Captain Gabriel Requa's Co., Col. James Hammond's Regt. and served almost continuously during the Revolution, with the exception of such time as he was laid up with wounds. He was shot in the left leg in a skirmish near Sing Sing, N. Y., June 17, 1779, and is said to have been wounded again in 1780. He drew a pension from the State of New York under the Act of April 22, 1786. (See "New York in the Revolution," pp. 22, 225, 245.) His brothers, Isaac, John and James and his cousin, John Hammond, Jr., all served in the same regiment which was under the command of his uncle, Lieut. Colonel James Hammond. His name is second on the list on the south side of the Tarrytown Monument. (See Raymond's Tarrytown Monument, 1894, p. 37. Major Andre passed his house on the day he was captured, Sept. 23, 1780. It is said that Statts Hammond was lying wounded in the house at that time. Andre stopped and requested a drink of water, which was carried to him from the spring by the little daughter of Statts Hammond. Turning to her brother, David, Andre asked the distance to Tarrytown. He replied that it was four miles. "I did not think it was so far," said he. (See Magazine of American History, 1889, Vol. 22, p. 52; also Raymond's Tarrytown Monument, 1894.)

Children:

62* 1. JANE, (Jennetje,) bapt. April 18, 1769.
63. 2. DAVID, b. 1771.
64. 3. ISAAC, bapt. Nov. 16, 1773.
65. 4. JAMES.
66. 5. ABRAHAM.
67. 6. THOMAS, bapt. May 30, 1784.

36

(VI) DAVID HAMMOND, (Isaac^4) b. Unionville, N. Y., bapt. May 1, 1748; m. Esther ——.

Children:

68. 1. A daughter; m. David Coxe, of Unionville, Westchester Co., N. Y., and had a son, David Hammond Coxe, r. Tarrytown, N. Y.
69. 2. MAHALA.

37

(VI) JAMES HAMMOND, JR., (Isaac^4) bapt. Tarrytown, N. Y., June 9, 1750. He was baptized as "Jacobus," but seems to have gone by the name of James. He was a Revolutionary soldier in his uncle, Col. James Hammond's regiment.

38

(VI) JOHN HAMMOND, (Isaac^4) bapt. Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 24, 1752; d. Jan. 4, 1777. He was a Revolutionary soldier in his uncle, Col. James Hammond's regiment. He was killed or died in the service Jan 4, 1777. (Arch. State of N. Y., Vol. 1, p. 186.)

(V) Gen. William Hammond, (Col. James^4) b. Tarrytown, N. Y.; d. Tarrytown, N. Y., Jan. 1, 1832; m. Esther Miller. General Hammond lived on the old homestead at Tarrytown, N. Y.; he was an officer in the war of 1812-14 and was afterwards a general in the militia. He left no descendants. His will proved Jan., 1832, left $500 each to William Hammond Odell, son of Capt. Jonathan Odell, and Maj. William Hammond See. Capt. Jonathan Odell was named as executor.

44

(V) Joseph Hammond, (Col. James^4) b. Tarrytown, N. Y.; m. Jennie Brewer. He inherited his father's home and lived there until his death.

Children:

76. 1. James.
77. 2. William.

"'Uncle Lew' Hammond, as he was called by his acquaintances, was one of the best known men in the six counties of Dutchess, Ulster, Orange, Putnam, Columbia and Greene, as he was the leader of Hammond's orchestra. Everybody within a radius of twenty miles of this city will recall pleasantly 'Uncle Lew's' good humored laugh, which was always accompanied by the expression, 'Bless your dear heart!'

"Deceased was born at Esopus, Ulster county, New York, May 3, 1827. His father, who once owned the large Pell farm, died a few months before he was born. The widow married again and removed to Hyde Park, where Lewis devoted his time to tilling the soil and quite as a side issue to mastering the fiddle. He finished his education in Dutchess County Academy, and about 1846 he was apprenticed to William S. Morgan, the jeweler in this city, to learn the watch and clock repairing trade, and for seven years he stuck closely to his table, hardly daring to think of his precious fiddle, for Mr. and Mrs. Morgan were Methodists, and Methodists in those days thought differently of music and dancing than they think to-day. In 1851 he married Miss Zorada A. Traver of this city, who shared life's burdens and joys with him until her death, which occurred in 1893. He went into business for himself in 1853 at 283 Main street, where he remained for thirty-one consecutive years. With the opening of his business career he began to fiddle for parties, etc., and his services were soon in great demand. For twelve or fifteen years he had almost exclusive sway in this section, and no gathering was complete unless 'Uncle Lew' Hammond was there with his fiddle.

"For nine or ten years 'Uncle Lew' taught dancing in every village and hamlet almost, in Dutchess county. The dancing classes and balls were held in hotels and halls in those days instead of private houses, and he was often busy night and day filling his engagements. He furnished music at Rosendale at A. Sammon's hall for fourteen New Year's nights running, and also had a school there for four years. He and his orchestra attended Charlie Devoe's picnics near Clinton Hollow for fifteen Fourth of Julys in succession, and he always played at Cheeseman's and Wiley's groves.

"In 1884 Mr. Hammond went out of business and spent two years with his daughter out west. He returned in 1886 and remained here several years, when he removed to Newburgh and resided with his son, Mr. Lewis H. Hammond, up to the time of his death. The deceased is survived by this son and one daughter, Mrs. George S. Horton, of Kansas City.

"The remains were brought to Poughkeepsie and interred in the Rural Cemetery."

HAMMOND GENEALOGY.

PART VIII.

HAMMONDS OF RHODE ISLAND.

The earliest settlers by the name of Hammond in Rhode Island do not appear to be directly connected with a large part of the families who were found there a little later and there seems to be a possible connection with the Hammond's of Marblehead, Mass.

The earliest records found have been in the town of Portsmouth, and the next in Bristol. "George Hammond," was witness to a deed of land from Richard Morris to Peter Tolman, Dec. 18, 1658. (Portsmouth Town Records, pp. 360-1.) He also witnessed a deed given by William Wilbur of Portsmouth, to Peter Tallman, of Newport, Dec. 20, 1658. (Portsmouth Town Records, p. 362.) George Haman, was admitted freeman in Newport in 1655. (R. I. Col. Rec. Vol. 1, p. 301.)

Nothing further has been found about him but it seems quite probable that he remained there and had a family as an Abigail Hammond is found there born about 1692, who married in 1713, Samuel Phitteplace. A family bearing the name of Fettyplace, is found in Marblehead, Mass., a few years later. Nothing can be learned about her parentage, but it will be noticed that they named a son George. It seems probable that she was a granddaughter of George Hamonde, but there appears to be no evidence extant to prove the connection.

Abigail Hammond, b. Portsmouth, R. I., about 1692; d. Portsmoush, R. I., 1762; m. Nov. 3, 1713, Samuel Phitteplace, b. Portsmouth, R. I.; d. after 1762.

He was admitted freeman May 1, 1722. He sold 100 acres of land at a place called "Great Field". to John Wing, for £300, Sept. 24, 1739.

On Oct. 23, 1762, he and wife, Abigail, sold to their son, Jonathan Phitteplace, for £600, a gore of 8 rods of land, with house and shop thereon, in Portsmouth, R. I. His son, Jonathan, then of Newport, sold the same July 27, 1767. Samuel was a tanner by trade and carried on his business at Portsmouth, R. I.

Children:

1. Sarah, (Phitteplace) b. Nov. 9, 1714.
2. Jonathan, (Phitteplace) b. July 28, 1716.

8. Benjamin, (Phitteplace) b. May 25, 1732.
9. Rebecca, (Phitteplace) b. Oct. 5, 1734.

NATHAN HAYMAN.

The next records of persons bearing the name are found in Bristol, R. I., and it seems quite probable that these have much to do with the ancestry of many Rhode Island Hammonds, and also with one of the large Marblehead, Mass., families. The name is found here as Hammon and Hayman, and appears to have been that of two distinct families, that of Nathan Hayman and that of Edward Hammon.

It is not positively known to the writer that the name Hayman in this particular instance ever became Hammond, but so many of the descendants of William Hammond, of Rehoboth, have borne the name Nathan that a brief record of this family is given.

> "The name of Nathan Hayman appears in the records of the first town meeting as one of the proprietors. He was a merchant and mariner of Boston. He died July 27, 1689, leaving two sons, Nathan and John Hayman, and one daughter, wife of Rev. William Brattle, of Cambridge, and one daughter, who married Thomas Church. His widow married June 18, 1690, Nathaniel Blagrove. At her death Mr. Hayman's tomb was opened and she was interred therein. Nathaniel Oliver, a rich merchant of Boston, sold his share of the Mt. Hope lands to Capt. Nathan Hayman." (History Bristol, R. I., by Munro, p. 76.)

In an account of Nathaniel Byfield, on page 70 of the same work, the author says, "His (Byfield's) quarrel with Gov. Dudley was about Nathaniel Blagrove's administration of the estate of Nathan Hayman, one of the proprietors of Bristol."

The maiden name of Capt. Nathan Hayman's wife has not been found.

Children:

1. Nathan.

EDWARD HAMMOND.

Edward Hammond, birthplace and date of birth unknown; d. Bristol, R. I., Jan., 1717; m. Bristol, R. I., Jan. 5, 1684, Susanna Bradley, d. Jan. 17, 1731. Her parentage is unknown and little can be learned except that she was mentioned in the following will:

> "William Browne, of Bristol, in ye County of Bristol, in ye Colony of New plimoth, husbandman, will dated Aug. 6, 1689. To widow Jinnins 40^s, to my daughter Hannah Maishfeild 40^s, to Mary Backaway my two acre lot of land at Bristol to be delivered on the day of her marriage, or when she is 21 years old, also one share of commonage; to Susannah Hamond all my swine and the corn on the land of William Throop planted by said Brown and also one bushel of English corn; to Deliverence Corps a great Cubbord now standing in my dwelling house." John Corps, Exec. John Cary, John Smith and Richard Smith, witnesses. (Bristol Co. Probate, Book I, p. 4.)

William Browne's inventory taken Aug. 8, 1689, amounted to £46,-14-8. The children of Edward and Susannah Hammond are recorded on p. 81, Vital Rec. of Bristol, R. I.

Children:

1. William, b. Dec. 31, 1685; possibly the same who married Mary Whipple in Providence, R. I.
2. Edward, b. Dec. 31, 1687; perhaps the same who married in Marblehead, Mass., Jan. 1, 1709, Rebecca Wormstele.
3. Margaret, b. June 24, 1690.
4. Martha, b. March 10, 1694-5.

WILLIAM HAMMOND.

(I) William Hammond, (?) b. Bristol, R. I., Dec. 31, 1685; d. Providence, R. I., Jan. 21, 1763; m. Mary Whipple, dau. of Jonathan and Margaret (Angell) Whipple. Her father, Jonathan Whipple, was b. in 1664, and d. Sept. 28, 1721. He m. 1st, Margaret Angell, who was the mother of all of his children. After her death he m. 2d, Hannah ———, who survived him and d. in 1725. His will, dated Sept. 5, 1721; proved Sept. 29, 1721, mentions sons, Jonathan and Thomas Whipple, daughters—Sarah Irons, Margery Barnes, Paratim White, Mary Hamon and Alice Whipple. He also mentions his grandson, Jonathan Hamon. (Early Rec. Providence, R. I., vol. 16, p. 188.)

The will of his widow, Hannah Whipple, dated July 11, 1723; proved March 15, 1725, names William and Jonathan Hamon, sons of William Hamon, to whom she gave 40s each when they came of age. To Thomas Hamon, the youngest son of William Hamon, all moneys due her and all then in her possession. To daughter-in-law, Mary Hamon, wife of William Hamon, a Bible and a bracelet for her and her daughter after her, also wearing apparel and all other goods and estates. Executors, William Hamon and Mary, his wife. (Early Rec. Providence, R. I., vol. 16, pp. 367–9.)

At a town meeting held in Providence, June 3, 1723, William Hamman, Timothy Carpenter, John Whitman and John Sheldon, Jr., were chosen hog constables. (Early Rec. Providence, R. I., vol. 13, p. 63.)

Children:

2. 1. William, b. before Sept. 5, 1721.
3* 2. Jonathan, b. before Sept. 5, 1721.
4. 3. Thomas. b. before July 11, 1723.
5. 4. Joseph, b. after 1723; d. at sea before 1753.
6. 5. Mary.

(II) Jonathan Hammond, (William^1) b. Providence, R. I., about 1718-19; m. May 1, 1740, Anne Sheldon, dau. of John Sheldon, Jr., of Providence, R. I. He was admitted freeman in Providence, May 1, 1744. (R. I. Colonial Rec. Vol. 5, p. 81.) A bill for a smokehouse, etc., was allowed by the Common Council or Selectmen, Oct. 1764. (R. I. Col. Rec. Vol. 6, p. 410.)

Rider's Names, Owners and Occupants, Providence, R. I., 1749-1771; shows that "Big Jonathan" Hammond owned a dwelling house on the Neck at Tockwalton. R. I. Census, 1774, shows that Johathan Hammond was a resident of Providence and that his family consisted of four males of sixteen years of age or over, four males under sixteen years of age, two females over sixteen years of age and one female under sixteen years of age. It is probable that his son, Jonathan and family were then living with him.

Children :

7. 1. Jonathan, b. about 1740.

(III) Jonathan Hammond, (Jonathan^2) b. Providence, R. I., about 1740 ; m. Feb. 28, 1761, Anne Remington, of Johnson, R. I. He was a petitioner for a school in Providence in February, 1770. The other signers to the petition were John Jenks, Moses Brown, John Brown, David Harris, William Smith, John Updike, Knight Dexter, Ebenezer Thompson, Joseph Lawrence, Zephaniah Andrews, Elijah Bacon, Noah Mason, John Smith and Jonathan Ellis. (R. I. Col. Records Vol. 7, p. 6.)

Jonathan Hammond was one of three appointed to view the house of Major Nathaniel Greene, which was taken for the residence of Mons. DeCorny, in July 1780. (R. I. Col. Rec. Vol. 9, p. 138.)

JOSEPH HAMMOND, OF NORTH KINGSTOWN, R. I.

(I) William Hammond, whose birth and parentage is unknown, was admitted freeman in Lynn, Mass., in 1636 and died there the next year. His widow, Elizabeth Hammond, was granted 60 acres of land there in 1638. (See Lewis' Hist. of Lynn, pp. 171 and 592.)

The grant of land is taken as conclusive evidence of a family although there is no record to show the names of children. The early Lynn records are very meagre, but there is little doubt that he left a son, William, who was living in Lynn in 1665, and who was the father of William, who was living in Swanzey, Mass., some years later, and of Elizabeth, who m. Joseph Fiske.

It has been claimed that this was the son of William Hammond, of Watertown, Mass., born in Lavenham, Eng., Sept. 20, 1607, and this may be true but there is no evidence that such was the fact. This son of William Hammond, of Watertown, died at about the same date, but as no children of his are mentioned in William's will in 1662 and as his grandson, Thomas Hammond, son of his second son, Thomas, succeeded to the estate in Lavenham, England, it is safe to assert that this was not the William of Lynn. The family names in this family also vary much from those in the Watertown family.

There are, however, some circumstances that point to such a connection and they are the burial of William Hammond, of Swansea, Mass., at Watertown, and the records of baptisms of his children there. It seems reasonably certain that this William was the son of William Hammond, the early settler at Lynn, when the Fiske connection is taken into consideration. There may have been several children and the Rehoboth Hammonds may or may not have been connected. The family names in Rehoboth were almost entirely different from those of this family and it is doubtful if there was any close relationship.

Child :

2* 1. WILLIAM, b. about 1630–33.

(II) WILLIAM HAMMOND, (William[1]) b. about 1630-5 ; d. Swansea, Mass., June 1675 ; m, Elizabeth ——. William Hammond signed papers with his mark in an action for debt in Lynn, Mass., June 8, 1665. (See Essex Court Records.) He and his wife Elizabeth had children, William and Elizabeth, recorded to them on the town records of Watertown, Mass., Sept. 24, 1661. (Watertown Records, p. 23.)

He probably settled in Swansea at an early date, but was driven out by the Indians. He went to Swansea with Capt. Thomas Prentice's Co. of troops sent against the Indians in June, 1675, acting as guide. On the arrival of the troops at Miles' Garrison in Swansea, the Indians opened fire on the troops, firing from the bushes across the river. A detachment of troops under command of Quartermaster Joseph Belcher and Corporal John Gill, volunteered to cross the river and dislodge them. The troops were driven back and William Hammond, who was leading them, was shot and killed. (See Bodge's Soldiers in King Philip's War, p. 80.) The troops recovered his body and brought away his horse. His body was taken to Watertown and buried there June 29, 1675. (Watertown Records, p. 234.) His son, William must have been the eldest child, but both are recorded on the same page on Watertown records.

Children:

3* 1. William, b. about 1659.
4* 2. Elizabeth, b. Sept. 24, 1661.

(III) William Hammond, (William^2) b. about 1659; recorded in Watertown, Mass., without date. He probably d. in Swansea, Mass.

The name of his wife has not been found and it seems probable that he married in Lynn before he went to Swansea where he, in company with his brother-in-law, Joseph Fiske, and others, was admitted freeman Sept. 7, 1681. The records are very incomplete and little can be learned about his family. There was another William Hammond, perhaps his cousin, living in Rehoboth at the same time, and it is impossible to get a clear record of the descendants of each. There seems to have been two, possibly three William Hammonds living in the towns of Swansea and Rehoboth, with wives named Elizabeth, at the same period. Their descendants mingled together and many of both families removed to Rhode Island.

The names William and John were common in both families, and it is impossible to separate them with any degree of certainty, although the names Amos, Gideon and Nathan appear in the Rehoboth family only. Some of these appear, however, to have lived in Swansea a short time.

It seems certain that this William Hammond had a son, Joseph, named for his brother-in-law, Joseph Fiske. No record has been found and the date of his birth is from family records.

Child:

5* 1. JOSEPH, b. Nov. 16, 1690.

(III) ELIZABETH HAMMOND, (William^2) bapt. Watertown, Mass., Sept. 24, 1661; d. Swansea, Mass.; m. Lynn, Mass., May 22, 1677, Joseph Fiske, b. Wenham, Mass., about 1656, son of William Fiske, of Wenham, Mass. Joseph Fiske removed early in life to Lynn where he married his wife and soon after settled in Ipswich, where his eldest son, Joseph, was born. He removed to Swansea, Mass., about 1680 as his second son's birth is recorded there. He was admitted freeman there with his brother-in-law, William Hammond, and others Sept. 7, 1681. In 1677 his name appears in account with the estate of William Barber in Lynn. He was "39 years of age or there about" March 24, 1685, at the time he testified in regard to the will of Edward Richards. He was a legatee in the will of James Axey's widow in 1670. He was the ancestor of many of the Fiske's of Rhode Island.

Children:

6. 1. JOSEPH, (Fiske) b. Ipswich, Mass., July, 1678.
7. 2. SAMUEL, (Fiske) b. Swansea, Mass., July 5, 1680; m. 1st, Mehitable Wheaton; m. 2d, Elizabeth ——.
8. 3. MARY, (Fiske) b. Swansea, Mass., April 19, 1684; m. Isaac Mason, Jr.

(IV) Joseph Hammond, (William^3) b. (probably at Swansea, Mass.) Nov. 16, 1690; d. North Kingstown, R. I., June 24, 1776; m. about 1715, Rachel Gardiner, b. March 25, 1696; d. Feb. 7, 1756, d. of William Gardiner.

He was a tailor by trade and first set up his shop at Swansea, Mass., but soon after sold out his shop and lands there and removed with the Paines and others to North Kingstown, R. I. The following real estate transfers, on record at Taunton, Mass., show his place of residence and probably indicate about the time of his removal. The transactions of his son, Joseph Hammond, Jr., show conclusively that this family was from Swansea, Mass., and there is little if any room for doubt that he was a nephew of Joseph and Elizabeth (Hammond) Fiske, who had previously removed to Rhode Island. Joseph removed to North Kingstown, R. I., in 1716 or 1717, and there purchased a farm on what has ever since been known as "Hammond Hill," where he remained until his death. This farm descended to his son, William, who remained there during his life.

He also owned lands in Exeter, R. I., which he gave to his sons, Joseph and John, and others which he gave to his daughters, Rachel Hammond and Lucy Tisdale. (Exeter Town Records, O. D. Book 9, pp. 263, 264, 266.)

Rachel never married and lived later in Middletown, R. I. Joseph Hammond, Jr., sold his land to his son, William. (Exeter Town Records, Book 2, p. 120.) William sold it some years later to N. Monday. (Exeter Town Records, Book 6, p. 490.)

A tradition has been handed down in the family that Joseph was born in England, but like most family traditions it does not seem to be exactly correct. There is no doubt that the family came from England, but at a much earlier date than his birth. The knowledge that he had lived in Swansea, Mass., did not exist among his descendants of later generations.

He was a merchant in Newport. In 1774 his family consisted of six males all over sixteen years of age, one adult female and two females aged sixteen years or under. (R. I. Census, 1774.)

His son, Joseph, was probably married before that date and living in Exeter, R. I.

The following abstracts from Bristol County Deeds show the connection of this family with the town of Swansea, Mass.

It is probable that one of his sons was living at home in 1774 with wife and daughters. His son, William, in his will in 1798, mentions brother Thomas, then living, brother Paine, deceased, and a niece, Betsey Nichols. This will, on file at Wickford, R. I., is much mutilated by fire.

Joseph Hammond, Jr., was signer of a petition in Newport in June, 1767. (R. I. Col. Rec., vol. 6, p. 577.)

Elizabeth Paine, his wife, had four sisters, viz.: Mercy, who married William Dyer; Sarah, who married March 13, 1745, Kendall Nichols; Martha, who married Nov. 15, 1760, John Carr, and Rebecca, who married Jan. 3, 1743, Thomas Hammond.

The date of their marriage is unknown and there is no positive evidence that they had a son, Joseph, but there seems to be no other possible place for the Joseph Hammond, born in 1738, who is known to be connected with this family in some way.

Children:

16* 1. Joseph,† b. 1738.

(V) Thomas Hammond, (Joseph^4) b. North Kingstown, R. I., 1719; d. Newport, R. I., July 29, 1782; m. Jan. 8, 1743-4, Rebecca Paine, d. Dec. 22, 1781, dau. of John and Mercy Paine, of Jamestown, R. I. He was Justice of the Peace in Newport in 1772-73. (Civil and Mil. Lists, R. I., p. 299.) Edward N. Hammond, of Jamestown, R. I., has the old family Bible of John Paine, bought by him in 1743 and on the inside of the cover together with the above date is "Thomas Hammond, his book, 1772;" "Nathaniel Hammond, his book, 1782." He also has an old receipt signed by Mercy Hammond for a legacy left by her grandfather, John Paine, and also one given by John Hammond, son of Thomas, for a legacy left him by his grandfather, John Paine. He was living in Newport in 1774. His family then consisting of just himself and wife. (R. I. Census, 1774.)

Children:

† There is no positive evidence that Joseph was their son. The birth records of their children cannot be found and this Joseph, who is known to have been of the same family, does not seem to belong anywhere else.

(V) JOHN HAMMOND, (Joseph^4) b. North Kingstown, R. I., Oct. 28, 1722; d. Exeter, R. I., May 30, 1792; m. Sarah ——. He was admitted freeman in North Kingstown, May 6, 1746. (R. I. Col. Records, Vol. 5, p. 164.) The following children are all mentioned in his will on record at Exeter, R. I., dated May 15, 1792; proved June 8, 1792. (Wills and Inventories, No. 5, pp. 138-39.) His family consisted in 1774 of one adult male, one male of sixteen years or under, two adult females and seven females of sixteen years or under. (R. I. Census, 1774.) This shows that Thomas, the only son, could not have been the eldest child, although mentioned first in the will. The census shows but eleven in the family while the will shows twelve. Either one child was born after 1774 or a daughter had married and left home before that date.

(V) WILLIAM HAMMOND, (Joseph^4) b. North Kingstown, R. I., Feb. 19, 1733; d. North Kingstown, R. I., Jan. 23, 1809;

m. May 8, 1755, Chloe Wilbur, b. Swansea, Mass., Feb. 7, 1733; d. Newport, R. I., Dec. 14, 1818, dau. of Thomas and Mary Wilbur, of Swansea, Mass. William Hammond was one of the most active and prominent men of his time in Washington County, R. I. He inherited his father's farm at "Hammond Hill" and lived there until his death, leaving it to his son, William, Jr. He was a Justice of the Peace from June, 1767 to May, 1783, or after. (Civil and Military Lists of R. I., pp. 270, 283, 299, 303.) He was captain of the 4th Newport Co., Troop of Horse, Oct., 1763. (Ibid, p. 243.) He was deputy from North Kingstown in 1782; sixth assistant in 1783; assistant in 1784; Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, of Washington County, from 1796 to 1799 or after. (Ibid, pp. 554, 568, 583.) He was also recruiting officer for North Kingstown in 1780.

He was living in North Kingstown, in 1774. His family then consisted of two adult males, two males aged sixteen years or under, one adult female and four females sixteen or under. (R. I. Census, 1774.) The recruiting officers elected in North Kingstown in July, 1780, were William Hammond, Joseph Coggeshall, Daniel Hall, Lawrence Pierce and James Albro. (R. I. Col. Rec. Vol. 9, p. 127.) He was director of a public lottery in North Kingstown, in September, 1769. (R. I. Col. Rec. Vol. 6, p. 598.)

(VI) Paine Hammond, (Joseph^5) b. Newport, R. I.; d. Newport, R. I.; m. Dec. 31, 1772, Phebe Almy, d. Newport, R. I., Dec. 28, 1814.

A transcript of the Newport Town Records, printed in the Newport Historical Magazine, vol. 2, p. 217, shows the above marriage. Paine Hammond was a justice of the peace in Jamestown, R. I., in 1775, and officiated at the marriage of his cousin, Nathaniel Hammond and Merebah Hull. (Arnold's Vit. Records, R. I.) He and wife, Phebe, gave a mortgage to John Eldred, in Jamestown, April 6, 1773, and sold land there to Aaron Sheffield, Jan. 19, 1781. They probably removed to Newport at this time. He was living in Jamestown in 1774. His family then consisted of two adult males and two adult females. (R. I. Census, 1774.) He was captured and held as a prisoner of war upon the Jamestown, and a resolve was passed by the general assembly, the 4th Monday in August, 1779, for his exchange. (R. I. Col. Records, vol. 8, p. 577.)

In an account of beef cattle taken by the Colony, Aug. 30, 1775, from Jamestown, were four oxen and two bulls at £45, from Paine Hammond. (R. I. Col. Records, vol. 7, p. 380.)

Children:

54* 1. Elizabeth, b. Dec. 6, 1775.
55. 2. Ann, b. April 24, 1777; d. June 25, 1804.
56. 3. John Paine, b. Oct. 20, 1779; d. March 16, 1780.
57* 4. William, b. Dec. 29, 1781.
58. 5. Benjamin, b. Dec. 22, 1783.
59. 6. Joseph, b. Sept. 22, 1786.

Stonington, Conn., April 21, 1837, dau. of Samuel and Ancillis (Jencks) Waite, of Exeter, R. I. William Hammond's will on record at Wickford, R. I., is much mutilated by fire and the date so far as day and month is concerned is illegible. In it he mentions his eldest daughter Anna, his niece Betsey Nichols, his brother Thomas, then living, and his brother Paine, deceased.

Children :

63* 1. Anna, (Nancy) b. Aug. 16, 1780.

(VI) William Hammond, Jr., (William⁵) b. Newport, R. I., March 3, 1766; d. Wickford, R. I., Sept. 24, 1827; m. Nov. 8, 1790, Alice Tillinghast, b. May 12, 1766; d. Feb. 27, 1811, dau. of Pardon and Ruth (Fry) Tillinghast, of Exeter, R. I. William, Jr., was a merchant, banker, ship-builder and farmer. He was also engaged in the West India trade. He kept a general store at Wickford many years. He was appointed Surveyor of Customs for the Port of North Kingstown by President Madison in 1816. He was the principal founder of the North Kingstown bank and also the Narraganset bank, which were combined at a later date to form the Wickford National Bank. He was eminently successful in business and acquired a large property for the times. He built the family mansion in Wickford where he lived nearly all his life. He gave his sons the best educational advantages obtainable, starting his son, William G., in the legal profession, and the others in the banking or mercantile business as they desired. He inherited the Hammond Hill estate from his father and spent considerable of his time there. He and his wife are buried there. His large estate was settled by his son, Pardon T. Hammond, with the utmost good faith and without any dispute or ill feeling on the part of the heirs. In his will he gave to each of his children a room in the old Wickford homestead with a right of way through the house so long as they remained un-married. This right has never been disputed and to this day the "latch string hangs on the outside of the door" for any Hammond — and the old time hospitality dwells within. The house is now owned and occupied by his grandchildren, the daughters of Pardon T. Hammond.

His wife, Alice Tillinghast, was a daughter of Pardon (4) Tillinghast, of Exeter, R. I., son of Philip (3), son of Pardon (2), son of Rev. Pardon (1) Tillinghast, of Providence, R. I. Her mother, Ruth Fry, was the daughter of Thomas(4) Fry, (Thomas[3], Thomas[2], John[1].) She was a lineal descendant of Dr. John Green and Rev. Samuel Gorton, founders of Warwick, R. I.

Children:

95* 1. Pardon Tillinghast, b. Jan. 31, 1792.
96. 2. Maria, b. Oct. 26, 1795; d. Jan. 29, 1879; m. Capt. Benjamin Champlain, of Wickford, who died within a year of his marriage leaving no issue.

(VII) Pardon Tillinghast Hammond, (William^6) b. Wickford, R. I., Jan. 31, 1792; d. Wickford, R. I., Sept. 17, 1872; m. Feb. 23, 1823, Roby H. Stanton, b. Oct. 18, 1802; d. Sept. 12, 1877, dau. of Daniel and Ruth (Hopkins) Stanton, of Wickford, R. I.

He was cashier of the North Kingstown National Bank, at Wickford, R. I., from 1819 to 1867. He inherited the Hammond Hill estate from his father and took much interest in farming. He was well educated, of fine intellect, a leader in the affairs of his native town and State. He was a follower of Jefferson and Lincoln in politics; very charitable and much beloved by his family and fellow citizens; active in industrial and financial enterprises, and deeply interested in educational advancement. He took great interest in the welfare of educational institutions and did much to aid them.

Children:

153* 1. Daniel Stanton, b. March 8, 1826.
154. 2. Alice, d. infant.
155* 3. William Pardon, b. Nov. 2, 1829.

(VII) William G. Hammond, (William^6) b. Wickford, R. I., Jan. 21, 1802; d. Jamaica, (L. I.) N. Y., June 19, 1858; m. Jan. 21, 1828, Sarah Tillinghast Bull, b. Dec. 24, 1808; d. Newport, R. I., Dec. 18, 1888, dau. of Henry and Mary F. H. (Tillinghast) Bull, of Newport, R. I.

He graduated from Brown University, Providence, R. I., in 1821, A. B. He then studied law and practiced successfully in Newport, R. I. He was a popular leader of the Democratic party, a follower and supporter of Andrew Jackson and was reputed the best public speaker of his day in Rhode Island. He was surveyor of customs of the port of Newport 1829-46. In 1846 he removed to New York and soon established an extensive law practice. He was a man of scholarly attainments and was especially devoted to the study of languages, being proficient in Latin, Greek, Hebrew, German, Spanish, French and Italian, and at the time of his death had taken up the study of Scandanavian and Russian. He was an enthusiastic student of the civil law, of the Justinian Code and the works of the Roman civilians. It was due to this fact that his son, William G. Hammond, Jr., became an eminent authority on the civil law. Hon. Nathan Crosby, in "Annual of Obituary Notes for 1858," p. 140, says of him: "William Gardiner Hammond, an accomplished scholar with the love of the classics which amounted to enthusiasm, and a clear and retentive memory, found his greatest pleasure in his books. He preferred that class of literature which treats of the science of government and the biography of great and commanding intellect."

His wife was Sarah Tillinghast Bull, daughter of Hon. Henry Bull, of Newport, (for whose ancestry see "Austin's 33 Rhode Islandere," p. 15,) and was a lineal descendant from Gov. Henry Bull, of Rhode Island, one of the nineteen original purchasers of Rhode Island; also from Gov. William and Anna Hutchinson, Gov. Walter Clarke and President John Coggeshall. Her mother was Mary Fones Holmes Tillinghast, daughter of Dr. William Tillinghast, a lineal descendant of Rev. Pardon Tillinghast, of Providence, R. I., and of Rev. John Norton, of Mass., and Rev. Obadiah Holmes, of Rhode Island, whose homestead farm at Middletown, R. I., she inherited. She was a woman of fine cultivated mind, had traveled much and spoke several languages fluently, wrote poetry and translated Moliere and Racine. She possessed ample means in her own right and was a leader in church charities, especially of the Episcopal Church, of which she and her husband and sons were devoted members. In her youth she was a noted belle of Newport. She was tall and dark, with finely cut features and rosy cheeks.

When but seventeen years of age he entered the sophomore class at Amherst College, where he graduated in 1849 as salutatorian of his class. He then studied law in Brooklyn, N. Y., and was admitted to the bar in New York City in 1851. He practiced law in New York City from 1851-56, after which he went abroad and remained until 1860, studying at Heidelburg, Berlin, in Holland and in England. On his return home he went west, locating in Iowa, where he opened an office at Anamosa in 1861. He practiced law at DesMoines from 1863-68. He was founder of the Iowa Law School of the State University, of which he became chancellor in 1868, at which date he removed to Iowa City. He remained there until 1881 when he became dean of the Washington University Law School, St. Louis, Mo.

He was for many years chairman of the committee on legal education of the American Bar association. He received the degree of A. M. from Amherst College in 1852; L. L. D. from Iowa State University in 1870, and in 1877 from Amherst College. His works included "A Digest of the Iowa Reports," (1866.) "The Institutes of Justinian—Am. Ed.," (1875.) "Am. Ed. Liburs Hermenentics," (1890.) "Am. Ed. Blackstone's Commentaries, with Extensive Notes," (1890.)

THOMAS HAMMOND OF SCITUATE, R. I.

(I) Thomas Hammond, birth and parentage unknown, but probably born in Swansea and closely related to Joseph Hammond, of North Kingstown; married Ella* Stone, birth and parentage unknown. She is said to have died at the home of her son, Daniel, at Dryden, Tompkins Co., N. Y. He removed to Rhode Island about 1760. Thomas Hammond was admitted freeman in Providence the first Wednesday in May, 1760. (R. I. Col. Records, Vol. 6, p. 246.) He probably soon removed to the town of Scituate where he was residing in 1774. His family then consisted of two males over sixteen years of age, two males of sixteen years or under, his wife, and four daughters all under sixteen years of age. (R. I. Census, 1774.) He was probably a nephew of Joseph Hammond as the family names belong to that family rather than to the Rehoboth family. The names of but six of his children have been learned.

---

* One branch of this family has the name Patience Stone.

Children:

2* 1. John, b. Nov. 30, 1756.
3* 2. Rhebe.
4* 3. Mary.
5* 4. Lydia.

(II) Rev. John Hammond, (Thomas^1) b. Rehoboth, Mass., Nov. 30, 1756; d. Coventry, R. I., aged nearly 100 years; m. 1st, Feb. 10, 1782, Martha Cole, dau. of Daniel and ——— Cole, of Foster, R. I. M. 2d, Oct. 16, 1815, Sarah Hoxie, of Coventry, R. I.

He was a minister of the Baptist Church and also a farmer and brick maker.

He was active in securing the erection of the meeting house at Foster Center, which was then called "Elder Hammond's Meeting House." The building, which was erected nearly 100 years ago, was large and commodious for the times and had a gallery supported by turned posts running around three sides of the interior. It is now used as the town hall. Elder Hammond was the first minister and continued to preach there to a large congregation for many years.

He was a very large man, weighing nearly 300 pounds, but quite active for a man of his size.

The first town meeting held by the inhabitants of the town of Foster was held at his house.

After his second marriage he removed to Coventry, R. I.

STEPHEN HAMMOND, OF JOHNSON, R. I.

(I) Stephen Hammond, whose birth and parentage cannot now be ascertained, was a resident of Johnson, R. I., where he died about 1780.

He is said to have married —— Carpenter, probably a sister of Simon Carpenter, who lived in the north part of the town of Killingly, Conn. He was living in Johnson, R. I., in 1774. His family then consisted of one adult male, one adult female and three males sixteen years of age or under. (R. I. Census, 1774.)

This is probably all of his children, as there is no record or tradition of others.

He died when his son, Eleazor W., was eight years of age, and Eleazor went to live with his uncle, Simon Carpenter, in Killingly, Conn. The late Henry Hammond, of Danielson, Conn., who was perhaps the best authority on this family, said that it was the tradition that Stephen's father was Benjamin Hammon and that he did the interior work on Rev. Stephen Ganoe's first church in Johnson.

The name was spelled without a d for many generations and it seems quite probable that he was a descendant of William and Mary (Whipple) Hammond, but there is no evidence in support of this theory. The family names are almost entirely different from those in either the Swansea or Rehoboth, Mass., families, but the Rehoboth family is known to have intermarried with the Carpenter family, and he may possibly have been a descendant of William Hammond, of Rehoboth.

The name Stephen was perhaps introduced into the family in honor of Rev. Stephen Ganoe, and the name Simon evidently came from the Carpenter family.

Children:

2* 1. Simon, b. July, 1758.
3* 2. Stephen, b. Feb., 1764.
4* 3. Eleazor Wescott, b. May 12, 1772.

(II) Simeon Hammond, (Stephen^1) b. Johnson, R. I., July, 1758; d. German Flats, Herkimer Co., N. Y., Jan. 28, 1848, aged 96 years and 6 months. The name of his wife cannot be learned. He removed at an early date to German Flats, near Little Falls, N. Y., where he resided to extreme old age.

Children:

5* 1. Simon, b. Jan. 10, 1779.
6. 2. Cynthia.
7. 3. Rufus.

(II) Stephen Hamnond, (Stephen^1) b. Johnson, R. I., Feb., 1764; d. Fairfield, Herkimer Co., N. Y.; m. Cranston, R. I., Jan. 17, 1782, Amy Hunt, of Warwick, R. I. He had a remarkable career in his younger days as is shown by his pension papers on file at Washington, D. C. He must have been a rather precocious youngster, even in that age of youthful bravery, for he first enlisted in the Rhode Island troops in 1777, at the early age of thirteen years, and served as a private in the ranks six months. In the spring of 1778 he enlisted as a marine on a guard ship under command of Capt. Jeremiah Clark, and served nine months. In 1779 he again enlisted under Capt. (or Col.) Talbot and served as a private five months. In 1780 he enlisted as a marine on the ship, "Washington," under command of Capt. James Monroe and served four months. In March, 1781, he again enlisted as a marine on the ship, "Conqueror," and served three months. He saw much active service; was in the battles of Newport and Warwick Cove, and assisted in the capture of the British vessel, "Spitfire," and four others. He was married when still under the age of eighteen years and is said to have had a large family, about whom nothing has been learned. He removed sometime after his marriage to the town of Fairfield, Herkimer Co., N. Y., where he was living in 1833, when he applied for a pension, which was garnted on the above record. He was on the pension roll as a resident of Little Falls in 1840, but his residence was probably in the town of Fairfield.

(II) Eleazer Wescott Hammond, (Stephen[1]) b. Johnson, R. I., May 12, 1772; d. Pomfret, Conn., March 23, 1855; m. March 24, 1805, Ann M. Brown, b. Nov. 6, 1783; d. June 21, 1847, dau. of David and Elizabeth H. Brown, of Pomfret, Conn.

His parents died when he was quite young and he was brought up by a relative, Simon Carpenter, in the north part of the town of Killingly, Conn. In early life he learned the printer's trade and worked in New York, Boston and New London, Conn. While here he worked in the same office with Samuel Woodworth and taught him the art of printing and put in type the "Old Oaken Bucket" at its first appearance. The family has a pencil sketch of Mr. Hammond, drawn by Woodworth one day while he was working at the case. He used to relate of Woodworth, that at the time the "Old Oaken Bucket" appeared every editor in the city made the author's acquaintance and made so much of him that the apprentices in the office, jealous of his sudden notoriety, composed a parody on it, "The Old Greasy Swill-pail that Stood by the Door," which they sang to the same tune.

Mr. Hammond was a man of fine charactor; respected by all who knew him, and one to whom many went for counsel and advice, particularly in matters of business.

(III) Mary Tillinghast Hammond, (Eleazer W.^{2}) b. Pomfret, Conn., April 18, 1808; d. Danielson, Conn., July 7, 1901.

"Mary Tillinghast Hammond, who celebrated her 83d birthday April 8, dropped dead at her home on Academy street Sunday night, about 8:30. Her death came unexpectedly. She spent the day in her usual manner and just before retiring went to an adjoining room for a drink, falling just before she reached the place, and was dead before she could be reached by her attendant. Dr. W. H. Judson was called, but all effort to revive her proved unavailing. She was born in Pomfret and was one of a family of eight, two of whom survive her, Amos, of Hartford, aged 85, and William P., of Pasadena, Cal., aged 74. At an early age she joined the Methodist Church in West Thompson and when the Methodist Church in Danielson was formed she brought her letter to it. While living in Providence she was a member of the Mathewson Street Church for eight years and of the Fleet Street Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., for five years, while in that city. When she returned to Pomfret she handed her letter to the Congregational church as there was no Methodist organization there at that time, and was a member of the Congregational society at the time of her death. She has lived a constant Christian life, having an abiding faith that whatever occurred was God's will and for the best; so she was enabled to bear a total blindness for the past eleven years without a murmur. She was a writer of some ability and was gifted with a most wonderful memory, which was undimmed to the moment of her death; consequently she was a most interesting and entertaining conversationalist. For the past six years she had lived with her niece, Miss Hattie Hammond, on Academy street, where the funeral was held on Tuesday, Rev. Mr. Matthews, of the Congregational and Rev. Mr. Davis, of the Methodist churches, officiating."—Windham County Observer, July 11, 1901.

(III) Hon. Henry Hammond, (Eleazer W.^{2}) b. Pomfret, Conn., Oct. 15, 1813; d. Danielson, Conn., April 2, 1895; m. April 8, 1840, Emma Dorrance, b. April 4, 1813; d. Nov. 14, 1890, dau. of Samuel and Amy Dorrance, of Brooklyn, Conn. The following account of his life written by J. Q. A. Stone, late editor of the Windham County Transcript, and published in that paper at the time of his death, is so full and accurate that it is quoted without any additiou biographical notes.

HON. HENRY HAMMOND.

"The long, varied and useful life of Hon. Henry Hammond—a distinguished citizen of this town and county—ended on Wednesday, March 3, 1894. It would, perhaps, have borne the strain of toil and fret of care that fall to the lot of the best favored in this world, if Mr. Hammond, in early manhood, had not too severely taxed, by hard manuel labor, an exceptionally strong, robust body.

"In early life Mr. Hammond appreciated the value of a broad education, and improved every possible advantage within his reach—limited as they were, indeed, to boys who had to earn their own livelihood—to secure the intellectual culture and information that made him in later years, a most interesting and instructive speaker and conversationalist. The writer esteemed it almost a liberal education to enjoy frequent interviews with Mr. Hammond, so full was his well-stored mind of general facts and reminiscences of a public and general character. In discussing the social, political and moral problems that confront the people of America, and all other nationalities, his careful, well-matured ideas were full of suggestion and inspiration, always arousing deep and earnest thinking in the minds of thoughtful listeners. This was especially the case when he entered upon the history of the crusade against slavery in this country, in which he was an aggressive co-laborer with Garrison, Phillips, Whittier, May and others.

"Had Mr. Hammond enjoyed the benefits afforded to young men of today in our schools and colleges, he would have been well equipped, by large and broad mental gifts, to have filled any elective office in this free country. Even with his limitations, all who knew him realized and conceded that he possessed special qualifications for much higher positions than he ever reached. Upon financial questions he had unquestionably clear and sound ideas, and was one of the few public men who seemed to be able, in all our bewildering difficulties, to grasp the situation and to suggest wise and practical measures that would probably solve a question still challenging the hardest kind of thinking among the politicians and financiers of this great country.

"For half a century there has not been a wiser political manager in New England, if in the country, than Mr. Hammond. We can call to mind only one who could equal his generalship in conducting a political campaign. Reference is made to ex-Governor Boutell, of Massachusetts. It was our pleasure to listen to these two men, some twenty years ago, compare views about the best plans to compass victory for one's party in a hard political battle, and both agreed that one word covered the ground—organization, in every district, town and city.

"Mr. Hammond was courageous and true as steel in advocating and sacrificing for all moral reform. He was always at the post of duty in the war against the saloon, which he always looked upon as the great danger to prosperity and even the existence of this free Republic. He gave more time, talent and money to compass the defeat of the merciless rum power in this state than even many of his nearest friends were aware of. In the darkest day he never displayed the white feather for retreat or surrender; but often deeply lamented the inexcusable failure of too many moral Christian citizens to present a bold, aggressive front to the well organized and unscrupulous enemies of humanity.

"There was one element in Mr. Hammond's strong character that is worthy of commendation and imitation. In all of his disagreements with his fellow citizens upon political, social, religious or local affairs, he never lost his temper, whatever the provocation might be, or however severe, and often unjust, were the criticisms made by persons who differed from his opinions and actions. To a political opponent after a hard-fought campaign, and to a fellow-townsman after a sharp disagreement on local or state interests, he was ever courteous, accommodating and helpful neighbor and friend. 'Life is too short,' was his decision, 'to permit differences of opinion upon even important matters to disturb the flow of kind fellowship between the troubled and weary children of the one loving Father.'

"Mr. Hammond was an able writer; and though not possessing the graces and magnatism of an orator, he was an effective speaker, as all knew —he never spoke without having well-digested and important suggestions to offer to his hearers. He was a devoted lover of poetry, especially the best, and had the highest admiration for the beautiful in art and nature—elements in his character not generally known to others besides his family and intimate friends.

"Mr. Hammond has not been in good health for a dozen years, and since the death of his devoted and beloved wife, some five years ago, his gradual decline has been apparent to his family and friends. The home life of the deceased is too delicate and tender a subject for public remark, but it may not be inappropriate to say that after frequent absences his heart ever longed for the refreshing rest and devotion he found alone in his own home. A sacrificing daughter had the coveted privilege of ministering the last and tenderest offices of love to a wise, thoughtful and helpful father.

"Though at times the writer has not been able to agree with our departed fellow citizen when propositions for local enterprises have been made, believing he had become too cautious and conservative with increasing age—as is natural with many good men—yet we now rejoice that our personal friendship has never been shaken or broken—and we say 'hail and farewell' with a sense of loss that is only brightened by the firm faith that in another land, and under pleasanter skies, there will be a reunion and acquaintance that will know no interruption."

The following biographical sketch of Mr. Hammond was printed a few months ago in Taylor's Home Journal:

"Henry Hammond was born in Pomfret, Aug. 10, 1814. He was engaged in mechanical business until 1851. Two years later he removed to Danielsonville where he has since resided. He enlisted in the anti-slavery cause, and, while in his minority, assisted in the organization of the first anti-slavery society in the state, in the town of Brooklyn. He, with Rev. Joseph D. Merrill, were elected as delegates to attend the memorable convention, held in Boston, when the subject of taking the question into the arena of politics was exhaustively discussed and decided. Here many of the great lights of the cause of anti-slavery were earnestly engaged in debate on the effect of the proposed new departure.

"Mr. Hammond, in 1850, returned to his native town of Pomfret and soon, with the help of others, organized the Windham County Liberty association. Political anti-slavery became so strongly intrenched in that county that it was common for politicians to call it the "Black Corner." In 1847 the first General National Anti-Slavery convention was called at Buffalo, N. Y. To this convention Mr. Hammond, with Sherman M. Booth, were selected as delegates from Connecticut.

"Mr. Hammond's residence in Pomfret was known as one of the hotels on the line of the "underground railroad" where the fleeing fugitives always found aid and shelter. He often addressed public audiences in various parts of the state and wrote many stirring articles on the subject which were published in the anti-slavery papers of that day.

"Mr. Hammond was a member of the House of Representatives in 1854, and was appointed by Speaker Foster chairman of the Committee on Federal Relations. He was again a member in 1865 and served on the Railroad Committee. He represented the 16th district in the Senate two sessions, 1881 and '82. In the former year he was chairman of the Finance Committee and in the latter year chairman of the Committee on Banks, and also chairman of the Committee on Temperance. He had held the office of County Commissioner, and was three times elected General Railroad Commissioner for the State. He was appointed United States Marshal for the District of Connecticut by President Lincoln, and afterwards Collector of Internal Revenue for the third Congressional District by President Johnson. He was for several years an active trustee in the Windham County Savings bank, and was for twenty-one years president of the First National bank of Killingly. He was a director of the Danielsonville Cotton company. During the war Mr. Hammond was very active in his efforts to sustain and strengthen the loyal party, and at the most critical periods was several times intrusted with the transaction of important business with the departments at Washington in the interests of the State. It has been often said that the various positions which he has held have been by him well filled and all duties pertaining thereto faithfully performed."

WILLIAM HAMMOND, OF REHOBOTH, MASS.

(I) William Hammond, whose birth and parentage cannot be learned, was in Rehoboth, Mass., as early as 1672. He died there Jan., 1729.

He married July 9, 1672, Elizabeth Battlecome, whose birth and parentage are unknown.

He may have been a cousin of William Hammond, of Swansea, Mass. Some members of this family appear to have lived in Swansea and in Seekonk, and some members of the Swansea race were at one time residents in Rehoboth. The family names, with but few exceptions, seem to have been entirely different. The names John and William are common in both families, while Gideon, Amos and Nathan, which are still very much in evidence among the Rehoboth descendants, do not appear in the Swansea lines.

A number of land transfers are recorded in Bristol Co. Registry of Deeds from 1710 to 1760, in which the name of William Hammond occurs as grantor, or grantee, but only one of these can be identified as a transaction of this William.

> "July 29, 1717, William Hammond, senior, purchased lands of John Bowen." (Bristol Deeds, 10: 757.)

The name of his son, William, can frequently be identified in these transactions by the names of his wives.

There may have been other children of whom no records can be found.

Children:

2. 1. Elizabeth, b. Sept. 24, 1673.
3* 2. William, b. about 1675.

(II) William Hammond, (William[1]) b. Rehoboth, Mass., about 1675; m. 1st, Elizabeth ——; d. Nov., 1705; m. 2d, (Pub.) April 25, 1706, Rebecca Ormsbee, d. Nov., 1707, dau.

of Thomas Ormsbee, Sr.; m. 3d, Aug. 16, 1711, Martha Redaway, dau. of John Redaway.

Jan. 18, 1714-15. John Hunt deeded lands to William Hammond. (Bristol Co. Deeds, 8 : 705.)

April 23, 1717. Thomas Perry, Jr., deeded him lands. (Ibid, 10: 419.)

April 24, 1717. John Redaway deeded him lands. (Ibid, 10 : 419.)

July 12, 1717. William Hammond received a deed of land in Rehoboth from Thomas Ormsbee, Sr. (Ibid, 10 : 709.)

William Hammond sold lands to Samuel Chase, Dec. 28, 1710 and Jan. 3, 1711. (Bristol Co. Deeds, 6 : 324-5.)

Feb. 9, 1720. He sold lands to Henry Healy and others. (Bristol Co. Deeds, 13 : 395.)

Feb. 9, 1721-2. He sold lands to same parties. (Ibid, 14 : 116.)

Children by 1st wife:

4* 1. Gideon, b. Nov. 28, 1696.
5* 2. William, b. April 12, 1699.

Children by 2d wife :

6* 3. Rebecca, b. Oct. 11, 1707.

Children by 3d wife :

7* 4. John, b. July 2, 1712.
8* 5. Amos, b. April 13, 1714.
9* 6. Nathan, b. April 26, 1716.
10* 7. Martha, b. 1718.

(III) Gideon Hammond, (William^2) b. Swansea, Mass., Nov. 28, 1696; d. Scituate, R. I., March 7, 1754; m. Dec. 13, 1722, Hannah Cole. He was admitted freeman in Scituate, R. I., May 2, 1738. (R. I. Col. Rec. Vol. 4, p. 342.) He was deputy from Scituate in May, 1750. (R. I. Col. Rec. Vol. 5, p. 297.)

Children :

11. 1. Gideon, killed by Indians at Seekonk, Mass.
12* 2. Amos.

13. 3. JAMES.
14* 4. HANNAH, b. about 1729.
15* 5. HEZEKIAH, b. May 22, 1731.
16* 6. ELIZABETH, b. Aug. 4, 1733.

(III) WILLIAM HAMMOND, (William[2]) b. Rehoboth, Mass., 1699; m. 1st, Dec. 5, 1731, Mary Potter; m. 2d, in Scituate, R. I., by Benjamin Fiske, Justice, Nov. 27, 1737, Deliverence Potter. He was admitted freeman in Scituate April 3, 1745. (R. I. Col. Rec. Vol. 5, p. 110.) He probably was deceased before 1774 as his name does not appear on the census of that year, and he would have been too old to have been the William who was in Johnson, R. I., with young children in that year.

Children:

17* 1. WILLIAM.
18* 2. POTTER.

(III) REBECCA HAMMOND, (William[2]) b. Rehoboth, Mass., Oct. 11, 1707; d. 1741; m. Jan. 16, 1727-28, Michael Carpenter, of Attleboro, Mass., b. Oct. 14, 1701; d. Aug. 28, 1729.

(III) JOHN HAMMOND, (William[2]) b. Rehoboth, Mass., July 2, 1712; d. Rehoboth, Mass., April 20, 1740; m. Jan. 31, 1736-37, Esther Smith, of Rehoboth. After his death she married 2d, Oct. 24, 1745, Samuel Maxwell, of Providence, R. I.

Children:

19. 1. WILLIAM, b. April 22, 1738; d. Sept. 14, 1739.
20* 2. WILLIAM, b. Sept. 10, 1739; bapt. Nov. 15, 1739.

(III) Capt. Amos Hammond, (William^2) b. Rehoboth, Mass., April 13, 1714; m. Nov. 17, 1837, Anna Salisbury, of Rehoboth, Mass.

Amos was a carpenter and builder by trade. He removed to Scituate, R. I., about 1743. The records of Scituate show that "Amos Hammon, of Rehoboth, Mass.; house carpenter," purchased land there Nov. 29, 1743. He sold land there Dec. 3, 1758. His wife, Anna, signed deed with her mark. Nov. 14, 1764, he deeded land to his son, Amos, Jr. Amos Hammond, Jr., sold land March 1, 1774; his wife, Rhoda, signed deed. Amos, Jr., of Scituate, but now of Jericho, in the county of Berkshire, (Mass.) deeded land in Scituate, March 11, 1775. His son, Amos Hammond, Jr., was admitted freeman in Scituate in 1760. His record in the French war as given in "Civil and Military Lists of Rhode Island," is as follows: "Providence County Reg't., Scituate, first company, May, 1750, Capt. Amos Hammond," (p. 140.) Also May, 1751, same regiment; also May, 1752, same regiment and company, (p. 153.) Also May, 1754, same regiment and company, (p. 166.) May, 1755, same regiment and company, (p. 173.) May, 1755, field officers of Kent county regiment; captain, Amos Hammond, sixth Warwick company, (p. 176.) Feb. 1755, Rhode Island regiment going against Crown Point, Capt. Amos Hammond, under the command of Col. Christopher Harris; First Lieut., Silas Cooke, (p. 177.) June, 1758, Capt. Amos Hammond, dismissed, (p. 203.) Aug., 1763, Capt. Amos Hammond, first Scituate company, Newport county, troop of horse, (p. 244.) Reference to his service in the French and Indian war is found in "Arnold's History of Rhode Island," vol. 2, pp. 193-198. (See also foot notes.) The fact that he took his company into the service at the time of the Revolution is also vouched for by Mr. Sidney Rider, and his authority was probably the State records. He was far advanced in years at that time, but the long military experience which he had seen and his decidedly military character would readily account for his having been active at that time. He was a deputy in 1754 and 1755. (R. I. Col. Records, vol. 5, p. 382.)

Children:

21* 1. Amos, b. Aug. 19, 1738.
22. 2. Anna, b. Jan. 16, 1740.
23* 3. Matthew. (?)
24* 4. Elizabeth, b. May 6, 1750.

(III) Nathan Hammond, (William^2) b. Rehoboth, Mass., April 26, 1716; d. Albany, N. Y.; m. Swansea, Mass., June 12, 1740, Deborah Luther. A family tradition gives her name as Elizabeth Luther, but Swansea town records show that he married Deborah Luther, as given above. The family tradition says further that she was a daughter of Martin Luther, who was a son of Paul Luther, a brother of Martin Luther, the reformer. Nathan removed from Swansea soon after the birth of his second child and purchased lands at the head of the Cove at Providence, R. I., which still remain in the hands of his descendents in the Angell line.

He may have had a second wife, as a widow, Bethiah Hammond, married Nov. 25, 1756, Nedebiah Angell. She was his second wife. He had a son, Jesse Angel, a child of his first wife, who married Amy Hammond, daughter of Nathan, and through whom the above mentioned lands came into possession of the Angells.

Nedebiah Hammond, perhaps a younger son, or a grandson of Nathan, was Ensign of a Company of Rangers in Johnson, R. I., of which Joseph Matthewson was Captain, Elijah Day, First Lieutenant, and Elisha Waterman, Second Lieutenant, in May, 1799. (Civil and Military Lists, R. I., p. 608.)

The family records show that he died in Albany, N. Y., whither he had gone with a cargo of tobacco but no date has been found. He died at the home of his friend, Gen.

Leonard Gansevoort, and was buried by that gentleman in the old burial ground on State street near the present capitol. His body was afterward removed to the burial ground of the Dutch Reformed Church on the hill.

Children :

25* 1. John, b. June 20, 1741.
26* 2. Calvin, b. Nov. 2, 1743.
27* 3. Amy, b. Jan. 6, 1745.
28* 4. Nathan, b. about 1746.

(III) Martha Hammond, (William^2) b. Rehoboth, Mass., about 1718; m. (Pub. Dec. 18, 1742,) Jan. 20, 1743, by Rev. David Turner, Jonathan Ormsbee, of Rehoboth.

12

(IV) Amos Hammond, (Gideon^3) b. probably in Rehoboth, Mass., about 1725; d. in Berkshire County, Mass.; m. April 6, 1756, Mehitable Horton, (Pub. March 13, 1756,) of Rehoboth, Mass. He probably removed to Jericho or Hancock, Mass., before his brother, Hezekiah, settled there.

The following Revolutionary war records are believed to refer to his sons.

He lived in Scituate, R. I., before his removal to Jericho, Mass., and the Scituate town records show that Amos and Mehitable Hammond, then of Jericho, in the county of Berkshire, Mass., sold lands in Scituate in 1775, some years after their removal from that town. There were three Amos Hammonds living in Scituate at the same time, Capt. Amos and his son, Amos, Jr., and Amos "3^d," who was the son of Gideon.

Amos Hammond enlisted in a company of six months men in the town of Hancock, Mass., in 1780. This company marched Oct. 19, 1780, and Amos was reported to have deserted. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in Rev.)

Gideon Hammond (probably a son of Amos and Mehitable) was a Revolutionary soldier in Capt. Stephen Smith's company, Col. Benjamin Simon's Berkshire County regiment, from Aug. 14, 1777, to Aug. 20, 1777. Roll dated at Hancock, Mass. He re-enlisted in Capt. Andrew Lusk's company, Col. John Brown's Berkshire County regiment, Sept. 21, 1777, and served until Oct. 13, 1777.

He again enlisted in Capt. Stephen Smith's company, Col. Benjamin Simon's regiment, July 1, 1780, and served until July 31, 1780. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Rev.)

It is barely possible that this was the Gideon Hammond who settled at Delhi, N. Y., and who married 1st, Rachel Horton, but he married his second wife in Foster, R. I., in 1793, and the births of his children by his first wife are all given by descendants as in Rhode Island, which makes this seem improbable.

John Hammond, who was probably a son of Amos and Mehitable, enlisted in Capt. David Wheeler's company, Col. Benjamin Simon's regiment, and marched from Lanesboro, Mass., Oct. 12, 1780. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Rev.)

It is possible that he was a son of Hezekiah or Calvin Hammond.

William Hammond, who may have been a son of Amos and Mehitable, was in a company of six months men raised in the town of Hancock, Mass., in 1780. This company marched July 3, 1780, and William is reported as a deserter. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Rev.)

41. 4. Benjamin, (Fisk) b. July, 1770; m. 1st, Freelove Colvin; 2d, Polly Taylor.

(IV) Hezekiah Hammond, (Gideon^3) b. Swansea, Mass., May 22, 1731; d. Scituate, R. I.; m. 1753, Abigail ——. He removed with others of his family to Jericho, Berkshire Co., Mass. He was Ensign in the North Regt. of militia in the County of Berkshire, in July, 1771. The colonel commanding was William Williams. Capt. Asahel Douglass. (Mass. Arch. Muster Rolls, Vol. 99, p. 409.) He probably had other children born in Berkshire Co., Mass., some of whom were Revolutionary soldiers.

Children:

42. 1. Abigail, b. Feb. 10, 1753.
43. 2. Hannah, } twins, b. Oct. 10, 1754.
44. 3. Mary, }

(IV) William Hammond, (William^3) b. Providence, R. I.

In 1774 he was living in Cranston, R. I. His family consisted of himself and wife, five sons, none of whom were over sixteen years of age, and three daughters of sixteen or under. (Census of Rhode Island, 1774.)

The name is given as William Hammond, Jr.

(IV) Potter Hammond, (William^3) b. Scituate, R. I.; drowned in Rhode Island about 1781; m. Ruth Albro. Her maiden name was Albro and she had a first husband named

Albro, who died previous to her marriage to Potter Hammond. She had a son by this first marriage who lived and died in Rhode Island. After the death of Potter Hammond she married 3d, William Albro, a brother or cousin of her first husband, and removed to the State of New York. She died at the home of her daughter in Michigan, in the autumn of 1839.

Child:

45* 1. Potter, b. Feb. 15, 1782.

(IV) William Hammond, (John^3) b. Seekonk, Mass., Sept. 10, 1739; d. Rehoboth, Mass.; m. (Pub.) Feb. 20, 1769, Lucy Bucklin.

William Hammond enlisted Aug. 16, 1757, in Capt. Obadiah Read's company, which marched from Rehoboth, Aug. 18, 1757, for the relief of Fort William Henry. (Mass. Arch. Ruster Rolls, vol. 96, p. 6.)

He again enlisted April 10, 1758, in Capt. Philip Walker's company, Col. Thomas Doty's regiment, raised by the Province of Massachusetts Bay for the reduction of Canada. He served as a private until Nov. 25, 1758. The name of his "Father or Master Sam'l Maxwell" is given on the Muster Roll, as he was still under age. (Mass. Arch. Muster Rolls, vol. 96, p. 406.)

His name appears on a "billeting roll" May 31, 1758, when he drew the sum of £1-14s. for 51 days' service. (Mass. Arch. Muster Rolls, vol. 96, p. 120.) He was also a Revolutionary soldier in Capt. Carpenter's company, Col. Simon Cary's regiment, and Gen. John Fellows' brigade, and saw considerable service. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in Rev.) He saw service later in Capt. Stephen Bullock's company, Col. Thomas Carpenter's regiment, July 30 to Sept. 10, 1778. Service in Rhode Island. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Rev.)

Children, all born in Rehoboth, Mass.:

46* 1. John, b. Sept. 11, 1769.
47* 2. Sarah Maxwell, b. March 25, 1772.
48* 3. William, b. June 14, 1775.

(IV) Amos Hammond, Jr., (Amos^3) b. Rehoboth, Mass., Aug. 19, 1738; d. Foster, R. I.; m. Rhoda (Cooke?), of Foster, R. I. He was admitted freeman in Scituate in May, 1760. (R. I. Colonial Records, Vol 6, p. 247.) He lived in that part of the town which later became the town of Foster.

Children:

49* 1. Gideon, b. Nov. 20, 1758.
50. 2. Amos.
51. 3. Nathan, m. Eliza ——.

23

(IV) Matthew Hammond, (Amos^3.) He was a member of the Committee of Correspondence of Rhode Island, Oct. 15, 1773. (R. I. Col. Rec. Vol. 7, pp. 235, 380-6.) (See also American Archives, 5th series, Vol. 1, p. 113.) He was living in Scituate, R. I., in 1774, with wife and three sons, one of whom was over 16 years of age. (Census of Rhode Island, 1774.)

24

(IV) Elizabeth Hammond, (Amos^3) b. Scituate, R. I., May 6, 1750; d. Aug. 24, 1845; m. Cranston, R. I., Nov. 12, 1769, Robert Knight, b. June 12, 1750; d. July 12, 1823, son of (Nehimiah ?). Robert Knight served as a private through the Revolution and his widow drew a pension for his service. The above dates were obtained from her pension papers on file at Washington, D. C. They had twenty-one children of whom eleven lived to grow up.

(IV) Rev. John Hammond, (Nathan^{3}) b. Swansea, Mass., June 20, 1741; d. Utica, N. Y., Aug. 20, 1820; m. Scituate, R. I., Nov. 27, 1765, Annie Fisk, dau. of Benjamin and Susanna (Briggs) Fisk, of Scituate, R. I. He was a Revolutionary soldier while still in Rhode Island. Was Ensign 6th Co., Artillery in May, 1781. (Civil and Military Lists, R. I., p. 401.) Captain of the 3d Foster Co., in the 3d Regt. under the command of Lieutenant Colonel Joseph Knight, Major Nehemiah Angell, in June, 1788. (Civil and Military Lists, R. I. p. 460.) Captain of the same company, second regiment, May 1789. (Civil and Military Lists, R. I. p. 472.)

He was one of the first settlers in the present city of Utica, N. Y., having removed there in 1793. He did missionary work among the Indians. In 1795 he was pastor of the Baptist Church at Schuyler and in September of that year he was sent out as a delegate to the Otsego Baptist Association which met at Springfield. In 1797 he was living in Utica, his home being on the public square a little below Bagg's tavern, while he was preaching at Deerfield and elsewhere in the vicinity. At this time he had a class on Sunday for instruction in the Scriptures and may, therefore, be regarded as a pioneer in the Sunday School movement. Elder Hammond was not exclusively a preacher, for he also followed surveying with the assistance of his sons. He surveyed the tract of land in the North Woods, purchased by John Brown, of Providence, R. I., and since known as "John Brown's Tract." His wife, who was an educated lady, kept a select school at the lower end of Hotel Street in Utica about 1804.

Just before his death he preached a sermon at Albany which elicited expressions of commendations from the public press as an able effort for an aged minister. In 1819 he was one of the seventeen persons who united in forming the Second Baptist Church or Tabernacle Church in Utica. He died in his 80th year. Rev. Elijah Willey preached the funeral sermon and he was buried at West Schuyler.

His wife was the daughter of a Quaker family. Her father was the son of Benjamin Fisk and Eliza Manchester, his wife. Her mother, Susanna Briggs, was the daughter of John Briggs and Susan Wicks, his wife. Her father was for many years a Justice of the Peace in Scituate, R. I. She had a brother, Benjamin Fisk, Jr., who married April 19, 1759, Hannah Hammond, daughter of Gideon and Hannah (Cole) Hammond, of Scituate, R. I.

John D. Hammond and his brother, Werden, were both noted land surveyors and with their father surveyed much of the land in northern New York.

In 1810 or 1811 he removed with his wife and child to Painesville, O., where he remained until the breaking out of the war of 1812, when he took his family to Johnstown, N. Y. and joined Gen. Hull's army. He served until the close of the war and was quartermaster at Cleveland, O., and Sacketts Harbor, N. Y. After the close of the war he settled at Schuyler, N. Y., where he remained until 1816, when he moved to Utica and lived in a house on Broad street, which stood where the government building now stands. In 1819 he removed to Lafargeville, Jefferson Co., N. Y., and in 1822 from there to Carthage, where he remained until his death. He was a member of the Baptist Church and a F. & A. M.

He was nearly six feet in height, erect and a man of fine figure. He was a genial, courteous gentleman and a good conversationalist.

He was with the regiment in all battles up to May, 1863, when he was sent with a detail to guard a sugar plantation while making suger for the government; was taken prisoner about May 15th and taken to Tibbedeaux, La., where he remained about six weeks when he escaped with a comrade and by traveling all night arrived in the Union lines about noon the next day and rejoined his regiment, which was then ordered to Port Hudson, where they were under fire for about forty days when the rebel forces surrendered. He was taken sick soon after this and sent to the hospital at New Orleans, where he remained until March 5, 1864, when he was discharged. In the following August he re-enlisted in the 111th regiment, New York volunteers, and went to the front before Petersburgh under Gen. Hancock. He was in all of the battles fought until the surrender of Gen. Lee.

(I) Benjamin Hammond, said to have been born in London, England, in 1621; d. in Rochester, Mass., in 1703, aged 82 years. He m. in Yarmouth, Mass., in 1650, Mary Vincent, b. in 1633; d. 1705, aged 72 years.

Benjamin Hammond, with his mother, Elizabeth Hammond, a widow, and sisters, Elizabeth, Martha and Rachel, came to America in company with Rev. John Lothrop, in the ship "Griffin," landing in Boston Sept. 18, 1634. (See Drake's "Boston.") A family record exists which was kept by Capt. Elnathan Hammond, of Newport, R. I., born March 7, 1703; died May 24, 1793, a part of which is copied from a family record kept by his father, John Hammond, who was born at Sandwich, Mass., Nov. 30, 1663; died Rochester, Mass., April 19, 1749, son of Benjamin and Mary (Vincent) Hammond. (See N. E. History, Gen. Register, Jan., 1876.) This record shows that Benjamin was the son of William and Elizabeth (Penn) Hammond, of London, England. Elizabeth Penn, wife of William Hammond, is said to have been a daughter of Sir William Penn, and aunt to William Penn, the founder of Pennsylvania, but this does not seem possible in the light of the latest discoveries in the Penn genealogy. (See N. E. History, Gen. Register, July, 1900.)

It is probable that her name was Elizabeth Penn, however, as there exists no satisfactory reason for doubting the general accuracy of the record kept by Capt. Elnathan Hammond and his father. *

Rev. John Lothrop established his church at Scituate, Mass., but soon after removed to Barnstable, Mass. It is probable that Benjamin Hammond went with him as he is found in the adjoining town of Yarmouth in 1643.

Benjamin Hammond was able to bear arms in Yarmouth in 1643. (Plymouth Col. Records, vol. 6, p. 194.)

Oct. 2, 1650, Benjamin Hammond was the complainant in a case for slander, in Yarmouth. (Plymouth Col. Records, vol. 6, p. 50.)

June 3, 1652, Benjamin Hammond was elected constable in Yarmouth and took the oath of office at his own house. (Plymouth Col. Records, vol. 3, p. 8.)

1654-5, Findings of the Grand Jury in Yarmouth :

"It^{m}. Wee p^{sent} Allice ye wife of Richard Berry, of Yarmouth, for goeing into ye house of Benjamin Hammond when noebody was at home, and felloniously tooke a woman's shift, that was new made, without sleeves, and a piece of porke." (Plymouth Col. Records. vol. 3, p. 75.)

June 1, 1669, Benjamin Hammond was sworn as a grand juror. (Plymouth Col. Records, vol. 5, p. 18.)

* For a very full account of this record see "Genealogy of the family of Horatio Hammond," published 1876, pp. 6-12.

March 5, 1671-2, Benjamin Hammond was on a coroner's jury to view the body of John Barnes. (Plymouth Col. Records, vol. 5, p. 88.)

Jan. 3, 1673, a road was ordered laid out through his land. (Plymouth Col. Records, vol. 5, p. 116.)

June 1, 1675, Benjamin Hammond was elected constable of the town of Sandwich. (Plymouth Col. Records, vol. 5, p. 165.)

Benjamin probably removed to Rochester, Mass., about 1684. In a genealogy * of his family published some years ago by a gentleman, since deceased, there are some errors in the very early records and many families that have since been found could not be discovered prior to its publication.

Children :

12. 5. Thomas, b. Sept. 16, 1687; m. April 6, 1721, Sarah Spooner. He had lands in Wales, Mass., and Dutchess County, New York. In 1730 he petitioned for a grant of 2,000 acres of land in Orange and Ulster Counties in New York, formerly granted to Capt. John Evans. (Index to New York Land Papers, p. 196.) A large part of his descendents were early settlers in the eastern part of New York.

13. 6. Jedediah, b. Sept. 19, 1690; m. Nov. 5, 1712, Elizabeth Parker, of Scituate, Mass.

14. 7. Josiah, b. Sept. 15, 1692; m. Mary Barlow. Some of his descendents have lived in Dutchess County, N. Y.

17. 10. John, b. Oct. 4, 1701; m. Jan. 23, 1728, Maria Green. He lived in Falmouth, Mass., and had a large family. He has many descendents in Maine, New Hampshire and some in eastern New York.

18. 11. Jedidah, b. Sept. 30, 1703; m. Dec. 17, 1719, Joseph Turner, of Rochester, Mass.

(III) Seth Hammond, (Samuel^2) b. Rochester, Mass., Feb. 13, 1683; d. Rochester, Mass., Feb., 1737; m. March 4, 1706, Mary Randall, of Rochester, Mass.

He was a farmer in Rochester, Mass. His will, proved

Feb. 28, 1737, names wife, Mary and his children. Many of his descendants followed the sea.

Children :

20. 1. Jerusha, b. May 2, 1708; m. Nov. 25, 1733, Barzillai Randall, of Rochester, Mass.

21. 2. Archelus, b. Sept. 15, 1709; m. Dec. 10, 1729, Elizabeth Weeks.

22. 3. Jedediah, b. Sept. 16, 1711; m. 1st, Elizabeth Jenney, of Rochester, Mass., who d. Dec. 14, 1747. She had a brother, Simpson Jenney, who was executor of her father's estate, and deeded lands to Jedediah Hammond. (Bristol Co. Deeds, 55: 246.)

He m. 2d, Aug. 11, 1748, Mary Bolles. Their son, Simpson Hammond, settled in Richmond, N. H., but removed to Vermont, where he has many descendants. The youngest son was Jedediah, who settled at Mt. Holly, Vt.

23. 4. Seth, b. about 1713; m. Aug. 23, 1738, Elizabeth Lombard, by whom he had a large family, among whom were sons, David and Nathaniel. This family remained in Dartmouth, Mass.

24* 5. Jonathan, b. about 1716.

25* 6. Sylvanus, b. about 1718.

(IV) Jonathan Hammond, (Seth^{3}) d. Easton, Washington Co., N. Y.; m. March 3, 1743, Sarah Jones, of Plymouth, Mass.

It is believed that he removed from Massachusetts to Dutchess Co., N. Y., with some of his cousins and from there followed the Hudson up to Washington County prior to or about the time of the Revolution. There is a tradition in the families descended from his grandson, Ebenezer Hammond, that the family was from Dutchess Co., N. Y. Some of these descendants give Ebenezer's birth place as Dutchess Co., but as the date of the removal to what is now Washington Co. is unknown and the date of Ebenezer's birth can not be learned, there is no certainty about his place of birth.

(V) Nathaniel Hammond, (Jonathan[4]) probably b. in Dutchess Co., N. Y., about 1762; d. Easton, Washington Co., N. Y., about 1813; m. 1st, Sarah ———; m. 2d, Mercy Ann Babcock; d. about 1841.

He was a farmer living in the north part of the town of Easton, Washington Co., N. Y. In 1795 he was a taxpayer there and was taxed for road work in Road Dist. No. 2.

Mrs. Eliza (Smith) Hammond, widow of his son, John P., who was living in 1898 at the age of 86 years and who had a remarkably good memory, is authority for the statement that he saw Revolutionary war service. She said that her husband's father, Nathaniel Hammond, went as a volunteer in the Revolutionary army at the time of Burgoyne's surrender and that he was then but fourteen years of age. She well remembered hearing them tell how his mother sat up all night the night before he went to make him a knapsack and prepare his clothes.

No official record of his service has been found but living as he did, near Fort Ticonderoga and Saratoga, there is no reason to doubt that he served for a time at least, as the family was very patriotic.

Oct. 12, 1830, Eliza Smith, b. in Easton, July 3, 1814; d. New Haven, N. Y., April 29, 1899, dau. of John Smith, of Washington Co., N. Y. Her father is said to have been a Revolutionary soldier.

John Porter Hammond was for some years a ferryman at DeRider's Ferry, near Schuylerville, N. Y., previous to his emigration to Oswego Co., N. Y.

He purchased a tract of wild land of his elder brother, Nathaniel, in the wilderness of Oswego County, and removed there with his wife and three small children in May, 1836. His farm was in the present town of New Haven, on the boundary line of Scriba. Here he remained until his death, carrying on the business of farming and coopering. He did a large business for many years as a manufacturer of flour barrels for the flouring mills in Oswego and brought up nearly all of his sons to work at the cooper's trade.

He was a man of exemplary habits, large hearted and generous to a fault, and "Uncle Porter," as he was called by almost everyone, enjoyed the respect and good will of all who knew him.

He was for many years a member of the Methodist Protestant Church at North Scriba, N. Y. The old homestead is now owned and occupied by his son, Lucien.

Mrs. Hammond, who was an industrious woman and a worthy wife, died at the home of her youngest daughter, Mrs. George P. Jones, in South New Haven, N. Y., where she had made her home for several years prior to her death.

Hammond, Pa., Dec. 23, 1884. dau. of William and Lydia (Stone) Crayton, of West Franklin, Pa. The following obituary notice is taken from a local paper:

> Captain John J. Hammond died last week Tuesday, the 27th ultimo, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thomas H. Root, on Hill's Creek, after a sickness of about three weeks. He had been in failing health for a long time, and had frequently remarked that he believed his time for this world was short.
> Mr. Hammond was born at Luzerne, Warren County, N. Y., August 1, 1823. He was married at Franklin, Bradford County, May 22, 1848, to Betsey Crayton, and four children blessed their union, all of whom are surviving. He was a consistent member of the Baptist Church for over half a century, and for twenty years he was a Deacon in the Church and performed the duties of the office faithfully. He was a man of sound judgment, of the strictest integrity, generous, even tempered, just to all, of firm convictions and tenacious in maintaining them. He made the Bible his daily guide, and was the leader whose wise counsel carried the Baptist Church at Holiday through many difficulties.

His patriotism was made manifest in July, 1862, when he enlisted from Mainesburg as Captain of Company A of the 136th Pa. Vols. In December of the same year he was in hospitals in Virginia and Washington, D. C., suffering with liver complaint and bowel complaint, the last mentioned disease becoming chronic and causing his death. In September, 1862, Captain Hammond's company was assigned to guard a bridge on the east branch of the Potomac, and his command took an active part in the battle of Fredericksburg six weeks later. He was honorably discharged February 27, 1863. He was an ardent patroit always, and during the recent war he was enthusiastic in his interest for the success of our arms, and he took a special interest in Company K from this county. Even during his last hours he was soothed by the music of "Marching through Georgia" and while listening to the air was able to fall into refreshing sleep.

Captain Hammond held numerous public offices in Middlebury, where he resided for many years. He filled them all with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the people. His record is most honorable in all its parts and one to which his children may turn with pride.

The funeral was held in the Baptist Church at Holiday, and it was attended by a large number of persons who deeply mourned the loss of this good man. Rev. Fisher Wilson, of Chemung, N. Y., a former pastor of the church, conducted the service.

He removed with his parents to the wilderness of Oswego County, N. Y., when he was in his fifth year and his early years were spent amid the hardships of pioneer life with but very limited educational advantages, but he improved the few that could be obtained and acquired the rudiments of an education. He is a man of more than ordinary natural ability and under more favorable circumstances would have acquired a good education. He is a thorough farmer and dairyman and has a herd of fine Jersey cows in which he takes considerable pride.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammond have lived together as man and wife 52 years, and have great-grandchildren but do not appear to be very eldery people. Mr. Hammond at 71 years of age, would pass readily for a man of 55 or sixty years.
